(ii) Harvesting; 65 cents per hour in all districts.

Provided, however, That for inexperienced workers during a reasonable training period the applicable hourly rate may be reduced by one fourth: And provided further, That for workers between 14 and 16 years the applicable hourly rate may be reduced by one third. [1] The basic rates applicable to a farm are those for the wage district in which is located the factory to which the beets are contracted for delivery, except that the rates prescribed for district XII shall apply to all farms located in the Imperial Valley.

[2] In district II the specified hoeing rate may be reduced not to exceed $1 for first hoeing and 50 cents for each subsequent hoeing or weeding if preceded by cross cultivation.

[3] Round to the nearest ton to determine the applicable rate.

(ii) Thinning or hoeing on a row basis. Thinning or hoeing may be performed on the "unit of row" basis, provided the rate per unit shall be such as to provide no less than the equivalent of the applicable acre rate.

(iii) Reduction for wide row planting. A reduction in the thinning and hoeing acre rates prescribed herein, or in the equivalent "unit of row" rates, may be made because of planting in wide rows, but no such reduction shall be made unless the stand of plants desired by the producer is reduced by 30% or more below the stand commonly desired by producers from plantings in the customary row width for the area; and any such reduction shall not be in excess of the estimated saving in labor.

(iv) Reduction for other labor saving methods. In instances in which the use of mechanical equipment for planting, cultivating or harvesting (other than cases for which rates are specified or reductions otherwise provided) reduces the amount of labor required as compared with the amount required without the use of such mechanical equipment, the piece rate for the operation involved may be reduced below the rate prescribed herein, provided such reduced rate is determined by the State Committee for each such case to be not less than the equivalent of the specified rate for the amount of work involved.

(b) General provisions—(1) Work not covered by specific rates. For any work in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugar beets for which a rate is not specified herein, such as fertilizing, plowing, preparing seed bed, or irrigating, the rate shall be as agreed upon between the producer and the laborer.

(2) Perquisites. In addition to the foregoing wage rates, the producer shall furnish to the laborer, without charge, the perquisites customarily furnished by him, such as a house, garden plot, and similar incidentals.

(3) The producer shall not reduce the wage rates below those determined herein through any subterfuge or device whatsoever.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Bureau of Internal Revenue

[T. D. 5500]

PART 19—INCOME TAX UNDER THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE

PART 29—INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1941

TENTATIVE ADJUSTMENTS WITH RESPECT TO AMORTIZATION DEDUCTIONS

In order to conform Regulations 103 (26 CFR, 1940 Supp., Part 19) and Regulations 111 (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 29) to section 7 of the Tax Adjustment Act of 1945 (Public Law 172, 79th Congress), approved July 31, 1945, such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately preceding § 19.124–0 of Regulations 103 and § 29.124–0 of Regulations 111 the following:

SEC. 7. TENTATIVE ADJUSTMENTS WITH RESPECT TO AMORTIZATION DEDUCTIONS. (Tax Adjustment Act of 1945.)

Section 124 of the Internal Revenue Code is amended by inserting at the end thereof the following new subsections:

(j) Application for tentative adjustment. Any taxpayer who has filed a statement of election as prescribed in paragraph (4) of subsection (d) may, within ninety days from the date such statement is filed, or within ninety days from the date of enactment of this Act, whichever is the later, file an application for tentative adjustment with respect to the taxes for taxable years prior to the taxable year in which such application is filed which are to be computed as required by paragraph (4) of subsection (d) as the result of such election. Such application shall be verified in the manner prescribed by section 51 or section 52 in the case of a return of such taxpayer and shall be made in such manner and form as shall be required by regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, and shall set forth, in such detail and with such supporting data and explanation as such regulations shall require, the recomputation of such taxes required by paragraph (4) of subsection (d) except that the tax for each taxable year to be recomputed shall be the tax for such year previously determined, ascertained in accordance with the method prescribed in section 3801 (d). If an application under section 3780 (a) for tentative carry-back adjustment has been previously filed, but such adjustment has not been previously determined, then for the purpose of subsection (j) and (k), the assessments, applications, credits, and refunds provided in section 3780 (b) shall be considered as having been previously made upon the basis of such application under section 3780 (a). Such recomputation of tax shall be made on the basis of the items on the basis of which the tax to be recomputed was determined. Such application shall also set forth the unpaid amount of each tax recomputed and such other information for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of subsections (j) and (k) as may be required by such regulations. An application under this subsection shall not constitute a claim for credit or refund.

(k) Allowance of adjustment. Within a period of ninety days from the filing of an application under subsection (j), the Commissioner shall make, to the extent he deems practical in such period, a limited examination of the application for omissions and errors of computation, and shall determine the amount of the increase or decrease in each tax to which such application relates, on the basis of the application and the examination, except that the Commissioner may disallow, without further action, any application which he finds contains material omissions, or errors of computation which he deems cannot be corrected by him within such ninety-day period. Each increase shall be deemed determined as a deficiency and assessed, without regard to the restrictions on assessment in section 272. Each decrease shall be applied against any unpaid amount of the tax decreased, and any remainder shall be credited against the deficiencies (and interest or additions to the tax) assessed under this subsection, and any remainder shall, within such ninety-day period, be either credited against any other income, war profits, or excess profits tax, or instalment thereof, due from the taxpayer, or refunded to the taxpayer. The application, credit, or refund of a decrease determined under this subsection shall be deemed a credit or refund of an overpayment within the meaning of section 781 (b).

PAR. 2. There is inserted in Regulations 103 immediately following § 19.124–9 a new section designated "§ 19.124–10 Application for tentative adjustments.", and in Regulations 111 immediately following § 29.124–9 a new section designated "§ 29.124–10 Application for tentative adjustments.", to read in each case as follows:

(a) In general. Any taxpayer who has filed with the Commissioner a statement of election to terminate the amortization period, as prescribed in section 124 (d) (4), may file an application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the taxes for all taxable years prior to the taxable year in which the application is filed, but not including any taxable year prior to the taxable year in which the amortization period began, which are affected by the revision of the amortization deduction or any related adjustments. A taxpayer who is a member of a partnership which has filed a statement of election to terminate the amortization period may file an application for a tentative adjustment with respect to his own taxes which results from the increase or decrease in his distributive share of the partnership net income attributable to the revision of the amortization deduction or any related adjustments. The adjustment with respect to such taxes is to be computed as required by section 124 (d) (4). The tax for each taxable year which is to be recomputed, however, shall be the tax previously determined as ascertained in accordance with the method prescribed in section 3801 (d). The amount of the adjustment with respect to each tax is limited to the increase or decrease in such tax as previously determined which results from the revision of the amortization deduction and the effect of such revised deduction upon any items taken into account in computing the tax previously determined.

The application for a tentative adjustment must be filed within 90 days from the date the statement of election provided in section 124 (d) (4) is filed. If, however, such 90-day period expired before October 29, 1945, the application is timely if it was filed on or before October 29, 1945. The application is to be filed with the collector where the tax was paid or the assessment was made.

(b) Contents of application. The application for a tentative adjustment with respect to amortization deductions in the case of a corporation is to be filed on Form 1140, and in the case of taxpayers other than corporations on Form 1046. The applications are to be filled out in accordance with the instructions accompanying such forms, and all information required by the forms and the accompanying instructions must be furnished by the taxpayer. The application in the case of a corporation is to be sworn to in the manner provided in section 52 in the case of a corporation income tax return. The application in the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation is to be verified in the manner provided in sections 51 and 142 in the case of an income tax return of such taxpayer.

An application for a tentative adjustment with respect to amortization deductions does not constitute a claim for credit or refund. If such application is disallowed by the Commissioner in whole or in part, no suit may be maintained in any court for the recovery of any tax based on such application. The taxpayer, however, may file a regular claim for credit or refund under section 124 (d) (5) or under section 322 at any time prior to the expiration of the applicable period of limitation, and may maintain suit based on such claim if it is disallowed or if the Commissioner does not act on the claim within six months from the date it is filed. Such regular claim may be filed before, simultaneously with, or after the filing of the application for a tentative adjustment with respect to amortization deductions. The filing of an application for a tentative adjustment will not constitute the filing of a claim for credit or refund within the meaning of section 124 (d) (5) or 322 (b) for purposes of determining whether a claim for credit or refund was filed prior to the expiration of the applicable period of limitation. The filing of such an application, however, will constitute the filing of a claim for credit or refund within the meaning of section 124 (d) (5) for purposes of determining whether an adjustment may be made in any case in which such adjustment is prevented by the operation of any provision of law other than section 124 (d) (5) itself or section 3761, relating to compromises. A regular claim for credit or refund filed under section 124 (d) (5) or section 322 after the filing of an application for a tentative adjustment with respect to amortization deductions is not to be considered an amendment of such application, but is to be considered a new claim. Such regular claim, however, in proper cases may constitute an amendment to a prior regular claim.

(c) Computation of increase or decrease in taxes affected by the revised amortization deduction. The taxpayer is to determine the amount of increase or decrease, attributable to the revised amortization deduction or any related adjustments, in each tax previously determined, which is affected by such revised amortization deduction or related adjustments, for each taxable year prior to the taxable year in which the application for a tentative adjustment is filed. The tax previously determined is to be ascertained in accordance with the method prescribed in section 3801 (d). In general, therefore, the tax previously determined will be the tax shown on the return as filed, increased by any amounts assessed (or collected without assessment) as deficiencies prior to the date of filing the application for a tentative adjustment with respect to amortization deductions, and decreased by any amounts abated, credited, refunded, or otherwise repaid prior to such date. Any items as to which the Commissioner and the taxpayer are in disagreement at the time of the filing of the application shall be taken into account in ascertaining the tax previously determined only, and to the extent that, they were reported in the return, or were reflected in any amount assessed (or collected without assessment) as deficiencies, or in any amounts abated, credited, refunded, or otherwise repaid, prior to the date of filing the application. The tax previously determined will reflect the foreign tax credit, the credit for tax withheld at source provided in section 32, the credit for debt retirement provided in section 783, and the 10-percent credit against excess profits tax provided in section 784, but will not reflect the postwar credit provided in section 780. In the case of any taxable year beginning in 1944 for which the credit provided in section 784 is not claimed on the return, the tax shown on the return, for purposes of this subsection, shall be the tax shown on the return as filed reduced by the excess of (1) the credit under section 784 to the extent that an amount has not been abated, credited, refunded, or otherwise repaid in respect of such credit prior to the date of filing the application, over (2) any amount claimed on the return as a credit for debt retirement under section 783. In the case of any taxable year beginning prior to January 1, 1944, any amount abated, credited, refunded, or otherwise repaid prior to the date of filing the application, in connection with the postwar credit provided in section 780, and the amount of any bonds issued as provided in sections 780 and 781 in connection with the excess profits tax for such taxable year, whether or not such bonds have been redeemed, shall be considered an amount abated, credited, refunded, or otherwise repaid, in respect of the excess profits tax for such taxable year, prior to the date of filing the application.

The increase or decrease in each tax previously determined which is affected by the revision of the amortization deduction or any related adjustments is to be determined, except for such revised amortization deduction and related adjustments, on the basis of the items which entered into the computation of such tax as previously determined; the tax previously determined being ascertained in the manner described in this subsection. In determining any such increase or decrease, accordingly, items shall be taken into account only to the extent that they were reported in the return, or were reflected in amounts assessed (or collected without assessment) as deficiencies, or in amounts abated, credited, refunded, or otherwise repaid, prior to the date of filing the application for a tentative adjustment with respect to amortization deductions. If the Commissioner and the taxpayer are in disagreement as to the proper treatment of any item, it shall be considered for purposes of determining the increase or decrease in the tax previously determined that such item was correctly reported by the taxpayer unless, and to the extent that, the disagreement has resulted in the assessment of a deficiency (or the collection of an amount without assessment), or the allowing or making of an abatement, credit, refund, or other repayment, prior to the date of filing the application. Thus, if the taxpayer claimed a deduction on its return of $50,000 for salaries paid its officers but the Commissioner asserts that such deduction should not exceed $20,000, and the Commissioner and the taxpayer have not agreed on the amount properly deductible prior to the date the application for a tentative adjustment with respect to amortization deductions is filed, $50,000 shall be considered as the amount properly deductible for purposes of determining the increase or decrease in each tax previously determined in respect of the application for a tentative adjustment. In determining the increase or decrease in any tax previously determined, any items which are affected by the revision of the amortization deduction must be adjusted to reflect such revised deduction. Thus, any deduction limited, for example, by net income or adjusted gross income, such as the deduction for charitable contributions, is to be recomputed on the basis of the net income or adjusted gross income as affected by the revision of the amortization deduction. Similarly, any deduction for depreciation which is affected by the revision of the amortization deduction must be adjusted to reflect such revised amortization deduction. No increase or decrease in tax, attributable to a net operating loss carry-back or to an unused excess profits credit carry-back, for a taxable year prior to the taxable year in which the amortization period began, may be assessed or allowed pursuant to an application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the amortization deduction even though the net operating loss or the unused excess profits credit resulting in such carry-back is affected by the revised amortization deduction. In determining the decrease in excess profits tax for any taxable year beginning prior to January 1, 1944, the tax as recomputed by taking into account the revised amortization deduction and any related adjustments is to be decreased by any amount which has been abated, credited, refunded, or otherwise repaid, prior to the date of filing the application, in connection with the postwar credit under section 780, and by the amount of any bonds, whether or not such bonds have been redeemed, issued as provided in sections 780 and 781 in connection with the excess profits tax for such taxable year, to the extent that such amounts are properly allocable to such tax as recomputed.

In determining the increase or decrease in any tax previously determined which is affected by the revision of the amortization deduction or any related adjustments, the tax previously determined is to be increased or decreased by the amount of any increase or decrease in such tax shown on an application filed under section 3780, relating to tentative carry-back adjustments, to the extent that such increase or decrease shown in the application filed under section 3780 has not been assessed or allowed prior to the date of filing the application for a tentative adjustment with respect to amortization deductions. The items which enter into the computation of the tax previously determined are to be adjusted in conformity with such increase or decrease shown in the application filed under section 3780 for a tentative carry-back adjustment. The provisions of this paragraph are not to apply in any case in which the Commissioner has disallowed the application for a tentative carry-back adjustment prior to the date the application for a tentative adjustment with respect to amortization deductions is filed.

(d) Allowance of adjustments. Any application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the amortization deduction is to be acted upon within a period of 90 days from the date such application is filed. The Commissioner is to make, to the extent he deems practicable in such 90-day period, an examination of the application to discover omissions and errors of computation and is to determine within such 90-day period the increase or decrease in any tax previously determined, which is affected by the revision of the amortization deduction or any related adjustments, upon the basis of the application and such examination. Such increases and decreases are to be determined in the same manner as that provided in section 124 (j) for the determination by the taxpayer of the increases and decreases in taxes previously determined which must be set forth in the application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the amortization deduction. The Commissioner, however, may correct any errors of computation or omissions he discovers upon whatever examination of the application he makes. In determining the increase or decrease in each tax previously determined which is affected by the revision of the amortization deduction or any related adjustments, the Commissioner accordingly may correct any mathematical error appearing on the application and he likewise may make any other adjustments to, or corrections in, the computations of the taxpayer which he deems are proper and which fall within the scope of the prescribed basis of the computation. If a required adjustment has not been made by the taxpayer and the Commissioner has available the necessary information to make such adjustment within the above 90-day period, he may, in his discretion, make such adjustment. In determining the increases and decreases, however, the Commissioner will not, for example, change the amount claimed in the return as a deduction for ordinary and necessary business expenses because he believes that the taxpayer has claimed an excessive amount; likewise, the Commissioner will not include in gross income any amount not so included by the taxpayer even though he believes that such amount is subject to tax and properly should be included in gross income.

If the Commissioner finds that an application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the amortization deduction contains material omissions or errors of computation, he may disallow such application in whole or in part without further action. If, however, he deems that any error of computation can be corrected by him within the above 90-day period, he may do so and allow the application in whole or in part. The Commissioner's determination as to whether he can correct any error of computation within the above 90-day period shall be conclusive. Similarly, his action in disallowing, in whole or in part, any application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the amortization deduction will be final and may not be challenged in any proceeding. The taxpayer in such case, however, may file a regular claim for credit or refund under section 124 (d) (5) or section 322, and may maintain a suit based on such claim if it is disallowed or if the Commissioner does not act upon the claim within six months from the date it is filed.

In the case of any application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the amortization deduction which is allowed in whole or in part, any increase determined in any tax previously determined which is affected by the revision of the amortization deduction or any related adjustments shall be deemed to have been determined as a deficiency and shall be assessed without regard to the restrictions on assessment provided in section 272. Such increase, for example, may be assessed without regard to whether a notice of deficiency in respect of such increase is sent to the taxpayer and without regard to whether a prior notice of deficiency has been mailed to the taxpayer. The taxpayer will not have a right to contest the assessment before The Tax Court of the United States whether or not he is sent a notice in respect of such increase. A notice in respect of an increase determined in respect of an application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the amortization deduction, however, will constitute a notice of deficiency within the meaning of section 124 (d) (5).

Each decrease determined in any tax previously determined which is affected by the revision of the amortization deduction or any related adjustment shall first be applied against any unpaid amount of the tax with respect to which such decrease was determined. Such unpaid amount of tax may include one or more of the following:

(1) An amount with respect to which the taxpayer is delinquent;

(2) An amount (including an amount the time for payment of which has been extended under section 56 (c), but not including an amount the time for payment of which has been extended under section 3779) which is due and payable on or after the date on which the decrease is allowed; and

(3) An amount the time for payment of which has been extended under section 3779 which is due and payable on or after the date on which the decrease is allowed.

In case the unpaid amount of tax includes more than one of such amounts, the Commissioner, in his discretion, shall determine against which amount or amounts, and in what proportion, the decrease is to be applied. In general, however, the decrease will be applied against any amounts described in clauses (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph in the order named. If there are several amounts of the type described in clause (2), any amount of the decrease which is to be applied against such amounts will be applied by assuming that the tax previously determined minus the amount of the decrease to be so applied is "the tax" and the taxpayer had elected to pay such tax in four equal installments. The unpaid amount of tax against which a decrease may be applied may not include any amount of tax for any taxable year other than the year of the decrease. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. Corporation X, which keeps its books and makes its income tax returns on the calendar year basis, filed its income tax return for 1944, showing a tax of $100,000, on March 15, 1945, and paid two installments of $25,000 each on March 15, 1945 and June 15, 1945, respectively. The corporation filed an application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the amortization deduction on September 1, 1945. The application, which showed that the corporation's income tax for 1944 as previously determined was $100,000 and that the decrease in such tax due to the revision of the amortization deduction and all related adjustments was $30,000, was allowed in full on November 30, 1945. The corporation secured an extension of time under section 56 (c) for the payment of the September 15th installment, in the amount of $25,000, of its 1944 income tax. The $30,000 decrease in the corporation's income tax for 1944 will be applied against the unpaid installments of such tax as if $70,000 (i. e., the tax previously determined minus the decrease in such tax; $100,000 minus $30,000) were the tax for 1944 and the corporation had elected to pay such tax in four equal installments. Each of the installments accordingly would be $17,500. Since the corporation paid $25,000 on March 15, 1945 and $25,000 on June 15, 1945, it in effect prepaid its September 15th installment in the amount of $15,000. The corporation therefore must pay $2,500 ($17,500 minus $15,000) upon the termination of the extension which it secured under section 56 (c) with respect to such installment, and it must pay $17,500 on December 15, 1945. The corporation will be liable for interest on the $25,000 the time for payment of which was extended under section 56 (c) as follows: Interest will be payable on $2,500 from September 15, 1945 until the date such amount is paid, and interest will be payable on $22,500 from September 15, 1945 until the date the decrease in its income tax for 1944 is allowed by the Commissioner in connection with the application for a tentative adjustment with respect to the amortization deduction.

After applying the decrease against any unpaid amount of the tax decreased, the Commissioner will credit any remainder of the decrease against any increase (including interest and additions to the tax) determined in any tax as previously determined which is attributable to the revision of the amortization deduction or any related adjustments and which has been assessed under section 124 (k). Any remainder of the decrease after such application and credits may, within the above 90-day period, be credited against any income, war profits, or excess profits tax, or installment thereof, then due from the taxpayer, and, if not so credited, is to be refunded to the taxpayer within such 90-day period.

The application, credit, or refund of a decrease in tax determined under section 124 (k) shall constitute a credit or refund of an overpayment within the meaning of section 781 (b), relating to postwar credits or postwar bonds in the case of credits or refunds.

SHIPBUILDING INDUSTRY

§ 805.3 General wage approval for the shipbuilding industry. (a) Pursuant to section 3 (a) of Executive Order 9697 and paragraph 4 of General Order No. 1 issued by the Stabilization Administrator on February 21, 1946, the National Wage Stabilization Board hereby finds that the resolution adopted by the National Shipbuilding Conference on February 18, 1946, covering wage and salary adjustments and approved by the Board, resulted in a standard of wage and salary adjustments in the shipbuilding industry, to the extent of a general increase of all employees of 18 cents per hour in excess of the straight time hourly wage rates such employees were receiving in that industry on August 17, 1945.

(b) For purposes of this section the shipbuilding industry is defined as including the following, whether or not carried on subject to Shipbuilding Stabilization Zone standards:

The construction, conversion, outfitting and repair of floating marine structures, including floating drydocks, provided the activity is carried on in the water, in drydocks, in basins, on ways for launching, or on the premises of a shipyard or boatyard within the continental limits of the United States and Alaska.

(c) Any wage or salary increase granted to employees engaged in the shipbuilding industry, or granted to employees by an employer the major portion of whose operations are in the shipbuilding industry, shall be deemed approved, within the meaning of section 3 (a) of Executive Order 9697 to the extent that such increase does not exceed 18 cents per hour over and above the straight time hourly wage rates such employees were receiving on August 17, 1945; Provided, That wages or salaries of the employees in question normally have been adjusted in relation to wage or salary adjustments effectuated under the Shipbuilding Zone Standard Agreements and the amendments thereto.

(d) In the case of a wage increase affecting products or services being furnished under contract with a Federal procurement agency, which will be used as a basis for increasing costs to the United States, an employer shall indicate to the appropriate procurement agency the nature of and the basis for the adjustments made pursuant to this section.

(e) On request of any employer or collective bargaining representative involved, the National Wage Stabilization Board will issue rulings as to whether any specified plant or plants come within the terms of this section.

(f) This pre-approval is limited to wage or salary adjustments to employees whose wages or salaries are subject to the jurisdiction of the National Wage Stabilization Board.

PART 3290—TEXTILES, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

[Limitation Order L-99, as Amended Mar. 8, 1946]

OPERATION OF LOOMS FOR COTTON BROAD WOVEN FABRIC PRODUCTION

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the production of cotton broad woven fabrics and materials for making cotton broad woven fabrics for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3290.46 Limitation Order L-99—(a) Operation of looms for cotton broad woven fabric production—(1) Purpose. This order controls the operation of looms for the production of cotton woven fabrics of more than 12" in width.

(2) No person shall, regardless of the presentation of rated orders, operate looms contrary to the provisions in the schedules of this order.

(3) No person shall operate looms formerly operated in the production of cotton broad woven fabrics and which were acquired by him after June 30, 1944, except as specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration. The term "acquired" refers not only to the direct purchase of looms but also to obtaining operating control over looms by obtaining control of the corporation which owns them. Application for authorization may be made by letter to the Civilian Production Administration, Textile Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: L-99, stating all facts, including the type of fabric he wishes to produce, the name of the person who formerly owned or controlled the looms, and the fabric formerly produced on them.

(b) Minimum quantities to be produced. Each person in the business of producing in any calendar quarter after March 31, 1946 any broad woven cotton fabric item marked with an asterisk on Schedule A, or any item in the "May Produce Only" column of Schedule B, must produce in that quarter at least as much yardage of the items within the same group as the greater of the following:

(1) Ninety percent of the linear yardage of such items which he produced in the second quarter of 1944, increased or decreased in inverse proportion to any change in pick he has made since then, or

(2) The linear yardage which can be produced by operating each loom producing such items for at least as many hours as any other loom in his mill is operated.

(c) Exemptions. (1) Special looms. Jacquard and box looms, and looms which were Dobby head looms on March 8, 1946, are exempt from the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this order and from Schedules A and B.

(2) Temporary exemption in certain cases pending appeal action. Any person who files an appeal for exemption from changing over any looms to produce any item required by Schedule B, may postpone production of the required Schedule B item on these looms until he receives notice by telegram or letter from the Civilian Production Administration of the action taken on his appeal. This limited exemption applies only to appeals filed by registered mail with return receipt requested or by telegraph.

(d) Reports and records. All persons operating looms for the production of cotton textiles of any kind shall file with the Civilian Production Administration at the times specified in the reporting forms, reports on Forms CPA-658-A, B, C, and D, giving the information therein required. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for a period of not less than two years, accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production and sales. The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget under the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(e) Appeals. (1) Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate addressed to the Civilian Production Administration, Textile Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: L-99, referring to the particular provisions appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal. However, in order to qualify under paragraph (c) (2) above for exemption pending appeal from Schedule B requirements, the appeal must be filed on or before March 25, 1946 by registered mail with return receipt requested or by telegraph. Any person who wishes to produce Schedule B items but is not permitted to do so under the terms of Schedules A or B, need specify only the number of looms, the constructions currently produced on them, and the number of looms proposed to be transferred to each different Schedule B construction.

(2) All appeals granted under this order before March 8, 1946 are revoked effective March 25, 1946.

(3) In cases of appeal for suspension of the requirements of paragraphs (a) or (b) on the ground that compliance will result in production at a loss, an application for price relief on that ground must first be filed with the Secretary of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and a copy filed with the CPA appeal. If the CPA appeal is granted, the requirement of these paragraphs for increases above current production will be suspended until the decision by the Office of Price Administration upon the application for price relief. This paragraph does not indicate or limit the extent or kind of price relief, if any, which may be granted by the Office of Price Administration.

(f) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the Civilian Production Administration, as amended from time to time.

(g) Violations. Any person who wilfully violated any provision of this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(h) Communications to the Civilian Production Administration. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: Civilian Production Administration, Textile Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: L-99.

Issued this 8th day of March 1946.

CIVILIAN PRODUCTION ADMINISTRATION,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

[Rate in mills per net ton per mile]

Distance in miles	Minimum cargoes in tow

150 miles and over	6.00	5.70	5.50	4.25

Rules and Regulations Applicable to the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway

(1) Distances. Distances shall be determined in accordance with the official distance tables of the U. S. Engineers, except that three miles may be added in the case of movements having one terminus east of Canal Street, New Orleans, Louisiana, and the other west of Harvey Canal Lock.

[6] Rates and charges for distances less than 75 miles and for harbor towage and towage within harbor district areas are exempt from maximum price regulation under § 1499.46 (b) (125) and (126) of Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 11 to the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(2) Application of rates to cargoes in tow. The rates set forth in the above table are for the furnishing of tugs and barges by the carrier. Maximum rates for furnishing towing services only shall not exceed 75% of the maximum rates herein provided for furnishing tugs and barges.

The rates set forth in the above table are based on the specified minimum cargoes in tow. The maximum charge for a cargo in tow of less than 500 tons for distances over 75 miles shall be either (i) the charge determined by agreement between the parties, or (ii) the maximum charge for a cargo of 500 tons computed at the 500-ton rate for the applicable distance. Charges determined under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph which exceed the maximum charges computed in accordance with the terms of subdivision (ii) shall be reported by the carrier within 10 days of the date of the agreement to the District Office of the Office of Price Administration, Canal Building, New Orleans, Louisiana.

The maximum charge for a particular cargo shall not, in any case, exceed the maximum charge for a cargo of the next higher minimum tonnage computed at the rate applicable thereto. For example, the maximum charge for a cargo in tow of more than 500 tons but less than 1,000 tons shall be computed at the rate established in the above table for minimum cargoes of 500 tons, unless the charge thus computed exceeds the charge for a cargo of 1,000 tons computed at the 1,000-ton rate, in which event the latter charge shall prevail.

The maximum charge for a voyage shall not in any case exceed the maximum charge for the transportation of the same cargo a greater distance.

(3) Wharfage and dockage. Wharfage and dockage charges are not included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(4) Tolls and port charges. Canal tollage, lock charges, and port charges are included in the rates set forth in the above table for tugs and barges but are not included in the rates for towing only.

(5) Insurance. Cargo insurance is not included in the rates set forth in the above table. Insurance on barges is included in the rates for tugs and barges but is not included in the rates for towing only.

(6) Pumping out by carrier. When cargo is discharged by use of carrier's pumps, a charge of three-quarters (¾) of one cent per barrel may be made for use of carrier's pumps. In addition, if the carrier performs discharging service, at the request of the shipper, an additional charge therefor may be made, which shall not exceed the actual cost to the carrier of furnishing such service.

(7) Cleaning of equipment. Where cleaning is required to render barges suitable for the transportation of the products of a particular shipper, the cost of cleaning shall be paid by the carrier or shipper, as determined by agreement between the parties: Provided, That the amount which may be added to the maximum prices herein specified shall not exceed the actual cost of such cleaning. In the event the shipper does not clean barges which have become dirtied in his service, the carrier may make an additional charge not to exceed the actual cost incurred for the cleaning necessary to render such barges suitable for the transportation of the commodities for which they were suitable when placed in the shipper's service. In addition, the carrier may charge for all time necessarily consumed for such cleaning, whether performed by carrier or shipper, at the rates specified below for demurrage.

(8) Demurrage. The rates specified above include free time of three hours at loading point and three hours at unloading point plus one hour in each case for each barge in excess of three in the tow. Loading and discharge rates shall be determined by agreement between the parties, or, in the absence of such agreement, the loading rate shall be 2,500 barrels per running hour and the discharge rate shall be 1,500 barrels per running hour day and night, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays not excepted. Demurrage for all time in addition to the free time and the loading and discharge time may be charged at the rate of three cents per hour per indicated or rated horsepower, as the case may be, with a minimum charge of $10.00 per tug per hour or fraction thereof and $2.50 per barge per hour or fraction thereof.

(9) Additional charge for operating on the Gulf of Mexico. When operating conditions on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway (i) between Pensacola and Panama City, Florida, or (ii) between Panama City and Port St. Joe, Florida, necessitate operation on the Gulf of Mexico, an additional charge may be made of not more than 33¢ per ton when the maximum rate is based on a minimum cargo of 2,000 tons or less, and 24¢ per ton when the maximum rate is based on a minimum cargo of 3,000 tons.

[Subparagraph (9) amended by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 8937, effective as of 9-11-44]

(10) Split deliveries. When a tow consists of more than one delivery, the total maximum charge for the services shall be the lower of the charges resulting from the following methods of computation: (1) the total of the charges for each delivery computed separately as if it were unaccompanied in the same tow by other deliveries; or, (2) the charge for the total tonnage of the tow at the rate appropriate for the distance to the farthest port of discharge, as if such total tonnage were transported to such farthest port of discharge.

(c) Maximum rates for transportation on the Gulf of Mexico. Maximum rates for the transportation, by carriers other than common carriers, of petroleum and petroleum products in bulk by barge between points on the Gulf of Mexico shall continue to be determined under the provisions of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that, for distances of 75 miles and over, maximum prices shall be as follows:

[Rate in mills per net ton per mile]

Distance in miles	Minimum cargoes in tow
	1,000 tons	2,000 tons	3,000 tons
Under 150 miles	6.50	6.00	5.50
150 to, but not including, 300 miles	6.25	5.60	4.50
300 to, but not including, 700 miles	6.00	5.30	4.25
700 miles and over	5.70	5.00	4.00

Rules and Regulations Applicable to the Gulf of Mexico

(1) Distances. Distances shall be determined in accordance with United States Coast and Geodetic Survey Charts, from the bar of the port of loading to the bar of the port of discharge, to which may be added actual mileage from the bar to the dock at each port.

(2) Application of rates to cargoes in tow. The rates set forth in the above table are for the furnishing of tugs and barges by the carrier. Maximum prices for furnishing towing service only shall not exceed 75% of the maximum prices herein provided for furnishing tugs and barges.

The rates set forth in the above table are based on the specified minimum cargoes in tow. The maximum charge for a cargo in tow of less than 1,000 tons shall be the maximum charge for a cargo of 1,000 tons computed at the 1,000-ton rate. The maximum charge for a particular cargo shall not, in any case, exceed the maximum charge for a cargo of the next higher minimum tonnage computed at the rate applicable thereto. For example, the maximum charge for a cargo in tow of more than 1,000 tons but less than 2,000 tons shall be computed at the rate established in the above table for minimum cargoes of 1,000 tons, unless the charge thus computed exceeds the charge for a cargo of 2,000 tons computed at the 2,000-ton rate, in which event, the latter charge shall prevail.

The maximum charge for a voyage shall not in any case exceed the maximum charge for the transportation of the same cargo a greater distance.

(3) Wharfage and dockage. Wharfage and dockage charges are not included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(4) Port charges. Port charges on vessels are included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(6) Pumping out by carrier. Use of the carrier's pumps for discharging and the service of pumping out cargo are included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(7) Cleaning of equipment. Where cleaning is required to render barges suitable for transportation of the products of a particular shipper, the cost of cleaning shall be paid by the carrier or shipper, as determined by agreement between the parties: Provided, That the amount which may be added to the maximum prices herein specified shall not exceed the actual cost of such cleaning. In the event the shipper does not clean barges which have become dirtied in his service, the carrier may make an additional charge not to exceed the actual cost incurred for the cleaning necessary to render such barges suitable for the transportation of the commodities for which they were suitable when placed in the shipper's service. In addition, the carrier may charge for all time necessarily consumed for such cleaning, whether performed by carrier or shipper, at the rates specified below for demurrage.

(8) Demurrage. The rates set forth in the above table include free time of three hours at loading point and three hours at unloading point for minimum cargoes in tow of less than 2,000 tons and six hours at loading point and six hours at unloading point for minimum cargoes in tow of 2,000 tons and over. Loading and discharge rates shall be determined by agreement between the parties or, in the absence of such agreement, they shall be the maximum loading and discharge rates of the available pumping equipment. Demurrage for all time in addition to the free time and the loading and discharge time may be charged at the rate of $35.00 per running hour or fraction thereof for tugs having minimum cargoes of 2,000 tons and over and $25.00 per running hour or fraction thereof for tugs having minimum cargoes in tow of less than 2,000 tons. The following demurrage rates for barges may be charged:

	Per running hour or fraction thereof
Under 3,000 tons capacity [1]	$7.50
3,000 to, but not including, 4,000 tons capacity	10.00
4,000 to, but not including, 5,000 tons capacity	12.50
5,000 tons capacity and over	15.00

[1] Capacity shall be the full cubical capacity of the barge as allowed in its certificate without regard to the density of the cargo.

(9) Split deliveries. When a tow consists of more than one delivery, the total maximum charge for the services shall be the lower of the charges resulting from the following methods of computation: (1) the total of the charges for each delivery computed separately as if it were unaccompanied in the same tow by other deliveries; or, (2) the charge at the rate appropriate for the distance to the farthest port of discharge, as if such total tonnage were transported to such farthest port of discharge.

(d) Maximum rates for transportation on the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway. Maximum rates for the transportation, by carriers other than common carriers, of petroleum and petroleum products in bulk by barge between points on the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway south of Norfolk, Virginia, and its tributaries, shall continue to be determined under the provisions of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that the maximum rates for distances of 25 miles or more shall be as follows:

[Rate in mills per net ton per mile]

Distance in miles	Minimum cargoes in tow
	750 tons	1,000 tons	2,000 tons	3,000 tons
25 to, but not including, 150 miles	9.60	9.00	7.60	6.50
150 to, but not including, 300 miles	9.40	8.60	6.60	5.50
300 miles and over	9.20	8.30	6.30	5.25

Rules and Regulations Applicable to the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway

(1) Distances. Distances shall be determined in accordance with the official distance tables of the U. S. Engineers, and, to the extent that distances are not thus ascertainable, in accordance with actual mileage.

(2) Application of rates to cargoes in tow. The rates set forth in the above table are for the furnishing of tugs and barges by the carrier. Maximum prices for furnishing towing services only shall not exceed 75% of the maximum prices herein provided for furnishing tugs and barges.

The rates set forth in the above table are based on the specified minimum cargoes in tow. The maximum charge for cargoes in tow of less than 750 tons shall be the charge for a cargo of 750 tons computed at the 750-ton rate. If the carrier performs discharging service, at the request of the shipper, an additional charge therefor may be made, which shall not exceed the actual cost to the carrier of furnishing such service.

(6) Cleaning of equipment. Where cleaning is required to render barges suitable for transportation of the products of a particular shipper, the cost of cleaning shall be paid by the carrier or shipper, as determined by agreement between the parties: Provided, That the amount which may be added to the maximum prices herein specified shall not exceed the actual cost of such cleaning. In the event the shipper does not clean barges which have become dirtied in his service, the carrier may make an additional charge not to exceed the actual cost incurred for the cleaning necessary to render such barges suitable for the transportation of the commodities for which they were suitable when placed in the shipper's service. In addition, the carrier may charge for all time necessarily consumed for such cleaning, whether performed by carrier or shipper, at the rates specified below for demurrage.

(7) Demurrage. The rates specified above include free time of three hours at loading point and three hours at unloading point plus one hour in each case for each barge in excess of three in the tow. Loading and discharge rates shall be determined by agreement between the parties or, in the absence of such agreement, the loading rate shall be 2,500 barrels per running hour and the discharge rate shall be 1,500 barrels per running hour, day or night, Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays not excepted. Demurrage for all time in addition to the free time and the loading and discharge time may be charged at rates for barges which shall not exceed three-tenths (3/10) of one mill per barrel of 42 gallons per hour, based on barge capacity, size of barge to be determined by Barge Calibration Table, and at rates for tugboats which shall not exceed three (3) cents per indicated or rated horsepower, as the case may be, per hour.

(8) Split deliveries. When a tow consists of more than one delivery, the total maximum charge for the services shall be the lower of the charges resulting from the following methods of computation: (1) the total of the charges for each delivery computed separately as if it were unaccompanied in the same tow by other deliveries; or, (2) the charge for the total tonnage of the tow at the rate appropriate for the distance to the farthest port of discharge, as if such total tonnage were transported to such farthest port of discharge.

(f) Maximum rates for the charter of tank barges. Maximum rates for the charter of tank barges for use in the transportation of petroleum and petroleum products between points on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway, the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway south of Norfolk, Virginia, and the Mississippi River, and their tributary waterways, shall be as follows:

Capacity of barge	Rate per barge per month
Under 750 barrels	$187.50.
750–1,499 barrels	25 cents per barrel.
1,500–2,999 barrels	22 cents per barrel.
3,000–5,999 barrels	$570, plus 11 cents per barrel over 3,000.
6,000 barrels and over	$900, plus 9 cents per barrel over 6,000.

Rules and Regulations Applicable to the Charter of Tank Barges

(1) Capacity shall be the full cubical capacity of the barge as allowed in its certificate without regard to the density of the cargo.

(2) The maximum charge for a particular barge shall not, in any case, exceed the maximum charge for a barge of the next greater capacity group computed at the rate applicable thereto. For example, the maximum charge for a barge of more than 750 barrels capacity but less than 1,500 barrels shall be computed at the rate established in the above table for barges of 750 to, but not including, 1,500 barrels, unless the charge thus computed exceeds the charge for a barge of 1,500 barrels capacity computed at the 1,500 barrel rate, in which event the latter charge shall prevail.

(3) The rates set forth in the above table may be increased by twenty percent (20%) for barges equipped with pumps.

(4) The rates set forth in the above table are for a period of one month extending from the date on which the charter commences to, but not including, the same date in the next calendar month, but, if there be no corresponding date in the next succeeding calendar month, it shall extend to and include the last day of that month. Fractions of a month shall be computed on the basis of one-thirtieth (1/30) of the monthly rate for each twenty-four hour period or fraction thereof.

(5) The rates set forth in the above table include hull insurance to be carried at the owner's expense for the benefit of the owner and the charterer as their interests may appear. The cost of P and I insurance shall be borne by the owner or the charterer as they may agree. All other insurance carried for the benefit of the charterer shall be at his expense.

(6) The rates set forth herein contemplate that the barge shall be returned to the owner in the same condition as when received, ordinary wear and tear excepted.

SEC. 9. Establishment and adjustment of maximum rates of carriers, other than common carriers; performing pick-up and delivery or local transfer services for line-haul carriers. The maximum charges of carriers of property, other than common carriers, engaged in "pick-up and delivery" and "local transfer" operations are established basically under § 1499.2 and other applicable provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation. They are also subject to certain provisions for adjustment contained in the latter regulation and in Supplementary Regulation No. 15. The purpose of this section 9 is to establish a further, and supplemental, provision for individual establishment and adjustment of rates for "pick-up and delivery" and "local transier" services.

(a) Definitions. As used in this section:

(1) "Pick-up and delivery services" means the local transportation of property between a terminal of a line-haul carrier on the one hand and the premises of the consignee or consignor on the other.

(2) "Local transfer service" means the local transportation of property which is moving through under line-haul carriers' published rates from one terminal of a line-haul carrier to another terminal of the same carrier or to that of another connecting line-haul carrier.

(3) "Line-haul" includes freight forwarders, express companies, and air carriers, as well as railroads, motor carriers, and water carriers.

(4) "Base period" means April 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942. If the service was not performed during that period or the maximum rate has previously been adjusted by OPA, the base period shall be a twelve-month period commencing on or after the date of establishment or adjustment unless too recent to permit a period of that length in which case a shorter period may be designated by the Director of the Transportation and Public Utilities Division.

[Subparagraph (4) amended by Am. 9, effective 3-17-46]

(5) "Pick-up and delivery carrier" or "local operator" means a carrier who performs "pick-up and delivery" or "local transfer" services for a "line-haul carrier".

(6) [Deleted]

[Subparagraph (6) deleted by Am. 9, effective 3-17-46]

(b) Adjustment—(1) When adjustment may be made. An increase in the maximum rate for performance of "pick-up and delivery" and "local transfer service" may be approved by the Office of Price Administration in any case where, upon application filed in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (c), it is shown that:

(i) The actual cost of materials and labor used in supplying the service exceeds those costs in the "base period" by an amount so large as to threaten the continued performance of the service; and

(ii) The "line-haul carrier" cannot procure satisfactory performance of the service from applicant or from any other "local operator" at rates lower than the requested rate; and

(iii) Discontinuance of the service will result in higher transportation cost to shippers and consignees; and

(iv) The "line-haul carrier" expressly agrees to pay and absorb the requested higher rate for "pick-up and delivery" or "local transfer service", and states that it will not increase its own charges on that account. (This statement is made without prejudice to the "line-haul carriers' " right to present for consideration by any regulatory authority, the increased cost resulting from the new "pick-up and delivery" or "local transfer" rates, together with any cost increases, in any future application for a general rate increase based on revenue needs.)

(v) The requested increased rate does not exceed the limit prescribed in subparagraph (2), immediately following.

(2) Adjustment to be allowed. The Office of Price Administration may approve an increase in rate under this section up to a rate which will not result in a higher ratio of net income to revenue than in the "base period" or which will remove substantial hardship resulting from existing maximum rates.

(c) Applications—(1) Form. Applications for adjustment under this section shall be filed on Form OPA 383-8, or as subsequently revised, and shall contain all the information and statements called for therein.

(2) Where to file. Applications shall be filed directly with the Transportation and Public Utilities Division, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(3) Who may file. Applications under this section may be filed by either the "local operator" or the "line-haul carrier".

(4) National War Labor Board cases. Regardless of the foregoing, if the application is based on a voluntary wage increase requiring approval of the National War Labor Board, such application must be filed within 15 days after the wage-adjustment application is filed with the N. W. L. B.; if it is based on a disputed wage increase case, it must be filed within 15 days after the "local operator" shall have received notice of the N. W. L. B.'s proposed decision.

(d) Approval, modifications, and effectiveness of adjustments—(1) Action by OPA. Upon consideration of the application, the Administrator will issue an order denying, in whole or in part, the requested adjustment in rate, or the Director of the Transportation and Public Utilities Division will issue a notice of approval or require that additional information be submitted. If none of these actions is taken within 30 days after the filing of the application, or after additional information has been supplied, the application shall be deemed to be approved. Note, however, that all approvals—whether made by affirmative action or by operation of the 30-day provision—are subject to revocation or modification by the Administrator at any time.

(2) Charging the adjusted rate. An increased rate requested under this section may be charged on open billing pending consideration of the application. Collection may not be made until an order has been issued (and then only to the extent permitted thereby) or until written notice of approval by the Transportation and Public Utilities Division of the Office of Price Administration has been received, or until the 30-day period has run, as provided in paragraph (d) (1) above. Increased rates based on wage increases requiring approval by the National War Labor Board may be charged on open billing pending consideration of the application but may not be collected until receipt of written notice of approval by the Office of Price Administration after the wage increase is made finally effective.

If any charge not permitted by this section is collected by the "local operator" pending consideration of the application by OPA, such collection constitutes a price violation of this regulation.

(3) Effective date of adjusted rate. Notices of approval shall provide a definite effective date for application of the adjusted rate. The effective date will be a date within the 30-day period after filing, or, in an appropriate case, a date expressly agreed upon by the "line-haul carrier" and the "local operator" as set forth in the application as the date for effectiveness of the adjusted rate.

In cases where the requested rate is deemed approved through operation of the 30-day rule (paragraph (d) (1)), the effective date shall be the date on which the 30-day period expires.

The adjusted rate may not in any case be applied to services performed prior to the effective date as thus determined.

(e) Successors may use predecessor's rate. The maximum rates of a "local operator" for a given "pick-up and delivery" or "local transfer" service having been established pursuant to OPA regulations (or adjusted pursuant to this section), those rates may continue to apply as the lawful maximum rates for those services performed by any transferee, subcontractor, or other carrier who may succeed to and operate that service. This rule applies regardless of whether there is a formal purchase of business and assets, etc., as between the "local operators", or whether the successor is merely a "replacement" supplying the service which has been abandoned or discontinued, for any reason, by the preceding "local operator."

(f) Establishment of new rates. In any instances where there is no existing maximum price for a particular service, application may be made on OPA Form 383:8 in accordance with the procedure described above, using estimated expenses and revenues in lieu of actual expenses and revenues, or previously established maximum rates for similar services.

(g) Establishment of area maximum rates. The Administrator may consolidate individual applications or undertake an investigation on his own motion and by general order issued under this section, prescribe maximum rates to apply to all pick-up and delivery carriers in a given city or other area.

[Sec. 9 amended by Am. 1, 10 F.R. 2835, effective 3-19-45 and Am. 5, 10 F.R. 13718, effective 11-10-45].

(b) Rules and regulations applicable to the charter of tugboats. (1) In determining the horsepower of Diesel tugboats, for purposes of this section, the rated horsepower at maximum revolutions per minute shall be used and the indicated horsepower shall be used in determining the horsepower of steam powered tugboats.

(2) The maximum price for the charter of a tugboat for less than 5 hours shall be the maximum price for a charter period of 5 hours computed on the basis of the rates set forth in the above table.

(3) In determining maximum prices for charter periods of less than seventy-two (72) hours but more than five (5) hours, ten percent (10%) may be added to the maximum prices computed on the basis of the rates set forth in the above table and, for charter periods of more than 30 consecutive days, ten percent (10%) shall be deducted.

The reported agreed price, may not exceed the lowest level of rates for the "same or similar services" lawfully charged by available common or contract carriers in the same area. Rates in excess of those levels may not be established except upon a showing of substantial hardship under Supplementary Regulation 15.*

Increases under this paragraph (a) may be made only where the shipper furnishes a statement to the effect that the resulting increases in transportation costs will not be used as the basis for increasing the ceiling price for the commodity or service which the shipper sells whether by reason of transportation allowances permitted in the applicable OPA maximum price regulation, petitions for amendment, or applications for adjustments or exceptions, or in any other manner, which will result in higher ceiling prices to the purchaser or consignee of the commodities.

If such rates do not exist, the rates may be approved if they do not exceed the lowest applicable common carrier rates for the same or similar movements, consideration first being given to rates for the same service, and lastly, to rates for a similar movement.

§ 8301.4a Designation of disposal agency for, and disposal of military property. The Department of State is hereby designated as the disposal agency for surplus military property located in the continental United States, its territories and possessions, for disposal to other American Governments. With the consent of the State Department, owning agencies are authorized to file declarations of such surplus property with the Department of State, Office of the Foreign Liquidation Commissioner, Washington 25, D. The term "military property" includes all arms, ammunition, spare parts, accessories, maintenance and service tools and equipment, cleaning and preserving materials, military automotive equipment, aircraft and aircraft maintenance and servicing equipment, naval combat type and auxiliary vessels (excluding vessels referred to in section 3 (d) of the act), special military clothing and equipage, and all other items required to train, equip, and maintain military, aviation, and naval units as listed in approved tables of organization and equipment and technical publications pertaining thereto for United States armed forces, and production equipment specially designed to produce munitions. CHICAGO CHENILLE RUG MILLS, INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and filed with the Division of the Federal Register; and pursuant to Supplementary Order No. 133, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturers' maximum prices. Chicago Chenille Rug Mills, Inc., of 2309–11 South Keeler Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, may increase, by 21 percent, its maximum prices, in effect immediately prior to the issuance of this order, for sales of the cotton reversible chenille bathroom rugs which it manufactures. This permitted increase shall not be stated separately on the manufacturer's invoice.

(b) Maximum prices of purchasers for resale. (1) If the purchaser for resale must determine his maximum resale prices under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580, he shall compute his maximum price following the rules set forth in that regulation.

(2) In all other cases, the purchaser for resale shall determine his maximum resale prices, as follows:

(i) A purchaser for resale who delivered or offered for delivery during March 1942 an article which meets the definition of "most comparable article" contained in § 1499.3 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that it need not be currently offered for sale, shall calculate his maximum resale price by adding to his invoice cost the same markup which he had on that comparable article, according to the method and procedure set forth in that section.

The determination of a maximum resale price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his maximum resale price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

(ii) If a purchaser for resale cannot determine his maximum resale price under the method specified in (i), he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of his maximum resale price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Maximum resale prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, allowances, and other price differentials, in effect during March, 1942, or which have been properly established under the applicable OPA regulation.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale showing a maximum price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify such purchaser in writing of the methods established in paragraph (b) for determining adjusted maximum prices for sales of the articles covered by this order. [MPR 594, Order 14]

FORD MOTOR CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

The Ford Motor Company has applied to the Office of Price Administration for increases in its maximum reconversion prices for new passenger automobiles to reflect recent wage increases. The Office of Price Administration now has that application under consideration, and expects to make a determination thereon very shortly.

The company has requested that it be granted an adjustable pricing order under section 18, Maximum Price Regulation 594, to permit it to charge the maximum prices now in effect with the understanding they may be adjusted upwards in accordance with any action taken by the Office of Price Administration subsequent to the deliveries of the new passenger automobiles.

It appears to the Administrator that until the effective date of the action he takes on Ford Motor Company's request for increases in maximum prices to compensate for recent increases in wages adjustable pricing should be authorized under section 18, Maximum Price Regulation 594, to promote the production and distribution of new passenger automobiles manufactured by the Ford Motor Company. Furthermore, the Administrator is of the opinion that this adjustable pricing authority should extend to sales by resellers of all automobiles produced and distributed by the Ford Motor Company from March 11, 1946 until the effective date of the action taken by the Administrator on the Ford Motor Company's request for increases in maximum prices to compensate for increases in wages.

In these circumstances, and pursuant to section 18 of Maximum Price Regulation 594; It is ordered:

Regional and District Office Orders.

FLUID CREAM IN GREATER BOSTON AREA, MASS.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region I of the Office of Price Administration by § 1351.806c of Maximum Price Regulation 280 and by § 1499.75 (a) (9b) of Supplementary Regulation 15 and pursuant to written authorization of the Price Administrator, it is hereby ordered:

(a) General; scope of applicability; type of sale covered; distributor defined; tables established; when effective. (1) This order establishes adjusted maximum prices for certain wholesale sales of fluid cream by distributors in the Greater Boston Area and for retail delivered sales by distributors in that area. The wholesale sales are (1) those made in bulk (other than in glass or paper containers) to stores, hotels, restaurants, and institutions in the Greater Boston Area by distributors, defined in § 1351.806b (a) (4) of Maximum Price Regulation 280 with reference to such sales as meaning "a person who sells fluid cream at wholesale in bulk (other than in glass or paper containers) to stores, hotels, restaurants and institutions", and (2) those wholesale sales made in that area in glass or paper containers by distributors defined in § 1499.75 (a) (9a) (i) (d) (3) of Supplementary Regulation 15 with reference to this type of sale as meaning "a person who sells fluid cream at wholesale or retail (other than sales by stores) in containers other than those in which the cream was bought." This latter definition applies to distributors for whom adjusted maximum prices are established for retail delivered sales in the area. It is provided by § 1499.75 (a) (9b) (i) (f) of Supplementary Regulation 15 that in the event a seller purchases a cream item from a distributor who has a new maximum price under the adjustment provisions of the said section, such seller may add to his established maximum price for such cream item only the amount of the increase actually added by the distributor. This applies to sellers at retail and also to sellers at wholesale who buy cream items in glass or paper containers and resell the same. It is also provided that any subsequent seller, other than a distributor, may add to his established price only that amount actually added by his supplier.

(2) Greater Boston Area defined. As used in this order the term "Greater Boston Area" means Massachusetts Milk Marketing Areas 10D (the towns of Bedford, Burlington, Lincoln, North Reading, Weston and Wilmington), 15C (the town of Hull), and 17 (the cities of Beverly, Boston, Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Newton, Peabody, Quincy, Revere, Salem, Somerville, Waltham, and Woburn and the towns of Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Brookline, Dedham, Lexington, Marblehead, Milton, Nahant, Needham, Reading, Saugas, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Watertown, Wellesley, Weymouth, Winchester, and Winthrop).

(3) Numbered tables of adjusted prices established; "Published Quotation" defined; when tables are effective. The adjusted prices established by this order for cream items of various butterfat content and in various container types and sizes at given levels of distribution are set forth in four numbered Effective Tables. Table I is effective as of the date of this order. Other tables set the adjusted prices for items and supersede Table I, or any other table succeeding as the governing scale of adjusted prices, according to variations, as specified in connection with each table, in the published Weighted Average Cost, for a semi-monthly period (either 1–15 of month, or 16–end of month), for 40% Bottling Quality Cream, f. o. b. Boston, as published by the United States Department of Agriculture in the publication designated as the Daily Market Report (Butter, Cheese, Eggs, and Poultry). As thereafter used in this order "Published Quotation" means such semi-monthly weighted cost as so defined and so published.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF TABLES

Table I.—Effective:

(1) As of date of this order; or

(2) As superseding any other table on the day following a "published quotation" of $26.76 or higher.

Table II.—Effective:

(1) As superseding Table I on the day following a "published quotation" of $26.75 or lower; or

(2) As superseding Table III or IV on the day following a "published quotation" of $25.26 or higher.

Table III.—Effective:

(1) As superseding Table II or I on the day following a "published quotation" of $25.25 or lower; or

(2) As superseding Table IV on the day following a "published quotation" of $23.76 or higher.

Table IV.—Effective:

(1) As superseding Table III, II or I on the day following "published quotation" of $23.75 or lower.

Any table is superseded whenever any other table becomes effective according to conditions specified in connection therewith.

Any table may become effective any number of times during the life of this order.

The official publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, The Daily Market Report (Butter, Cheese, Eggs, and Poultry) is in general circulation in the Greater Boston Area and throughout Region I. Whenever subsequent to the date of this order a different table becomes effective because of a particular level of the "published quotation," the Regional Administrator, Region I, shall give public notice of the "published quotation," and of the number of the table effective until further notice, by posting the same in a suitable location in the Food Price Section of the Regional Office—Region I, by notification of the same to press and broadcasting facilities for announcement to the public, and by forthwith notifying all District Offices concerned, which in turn shall take appropriate steps to cause local public announcement of the "published quotation" and of the number of the table effective. Failure of the Regional Administrator to give notice, as above required, at the time specified or at a later time, shall not prevent any table becoming effective under the terms specified in connection therewith, Provided, That with respect only to any action or claim founded on a price established by the superseding table and arising from a transaction occurring on the day of giving notice or a day prior thereto, no person shall be held to answer any of the penalties or remedies provided by any law or municipal ordinance.

(b) Delivered prices: Effective tables of minimum-maximum prices. (1) The maximum price for sales and deliveries of fluid cream having a butterfat content of 40%, 36%, or 20% in glass or paper containers by distributors at retail or wholesale, and for sales and deliveries of fluid cream having a butterfat content of 40%, 36%, 20%, or 16% by distributors at wholesale in bulk (other than in glass or paper containers) to stores, hotels, restaurants, and institutions, in all cases in the Greater Boston Area, shall be the higher of the following:

(ii) The adjusted maximum price for the particular size and type of container set forth in paragraph (b) (2) below in the particular Effective Table in force at the time of sale according to the provisions of paragraph (a) (3) of this order;

(b) In the case of deliveries by distributors at wholesale in bulk (other than in glass or paper containers) to stores, hotels, restaurants, and institutions;

(i) The distributor's maximum price as determined under Maximum Price Regulation 280, as adjusted under Amendment 22 thereon; or

(ii) The adjusted maximum price for the particular size and type of container set forth in paragraph (b) (2) below in the particular Effective Table in force at time of sale according to the provisions of paragraph (a) (3) of this order.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region I of the Office of Price Administration by § 1351.806c of Maximum Price Regulation 280 and by § 1499.75 (a) (9b) of Supplementary Regulation 15 and pursuant to written authorization of the Price Administrator, it is hereby ordered:

(a) General; scope of applicability; type of sale covered; distributor defined; tables established; when effective. (1) This order establishes adjusted maximum prices for certain wholesale sales of fluid cream by distributors in Region I except the Greater Boston Area and for retail delivered sales by distributors in the area covered by this order. The area covered by this order is hereafter referred to as the G–26 area. The wholesale sales are (1) those made in bulk (other than in glass or paper containers) to stores, hotels, restaurants, and institutions in the G–26 area by distributors, defined in § 1351.806b (a) (4) of Maximum Price Regulation 280 with reference to such sales as meaning "a person who sells fluid cream at wholesale in bulk (other than in glass or paper containers) to stores, hotels, restaurants and institutions", and (2) those wholesale sales made in the G–26 area in glass or paper containers by distributors defined in § 1499.75 (a) (9a) (i) (d) (3) of Supplementary Regulation 15 with reference to this type of sale as meaning "a person who sells fluid cream at wholesale or retail (other than sales by stores) in containers other than those in which the cream was bought". This latter definition applies to distributors for whom adjusted maximum prices are established for retail delivered sales in the G–26 area. It is provided by § 1499.75 (a) (9b) (i) (f) of Supplementary Regulation 15 that in the event a seller purchases a cream item from a distributor who has a new maximum price under the adjustment provisions of the said section, such seller may add to his established maximum price for such cream item only the amount of the increase actually added by the distributor. This applies to sellers at retail and also to sellers at wholesale who buy cream items in glass or paper containers and resell the same. It is also provided that any subsequent seller, other than a distributor, may add to his established price only that amount actually added by his supplier.

(2) G–26 area defined. As used in this order the term "G–26 area" means all of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and all of Massachusetts except the Greater Boston Area as defined in Revised Order G–25.

(3) Numbered tables of adjusted prices established; "Published Quotation" defined; when tables are effective. The adjusted prices established by this order for cream items of various butterfat content and in various container types and sizes at given levels of distribution are set forth in four numbered Effective Tables. Table I is effective as of the date of this order. Other tables set the adjusted prices for items and supersede Table I, or any other table succeeding as the governing scale of adjusted prices, according to variations, as specified in connection with each table, in the published Weighted Average Cost, for a semi-monthly period (either 1–15 of month, or 16-end of month), for 40% Bottling Quality Cream, f. o. b. Boston, as published by the United States Department of Agriculture in the publication designated as the Daily Market Report (Butter, Cheese, Eggs, and Poultry). As hereafter used in this order "Published Quotation" means such semi-monthly weighted cost as so defined and so published.

Table I—Effective:

(1) As of date of this order; or

(2) As superseding any other Table on the day following a "published quotation" of $26.76 or higher.

Table II—Effective:

(1) As superseding Table I on the day following a "published quotation" of $26.75 or lower; or

(2) As superseding Table III or IV on the day following a "published quotation" of $25.26 or higher.

Table III—Effective:

(1) As superseding Table II or I on the day following a "published quotation" of $25.25 or lower; or

(2) As superseding Table IV on the day following a "published quotation" of $23.76 or higher.

Table IV—Effective:

(1) As superseding Table III, II or I on the day following "published quotation" of $23.75 or lower.

Any Table is superseded whenever any other Table becomes effective according to conditions specified in connection therewith.

Any Table may become effective any number of times during the life of this order.

The official publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, The Daily Market Report (Butter, Cheese, Eggs, and Poultry) is in general circulation throughout Region I. Whenever subsequent to the date of this order a different table becomes effective because of a particular level of the "published quotation," the Regional Administrator, Region I, shall give public notice of the "published quotation," and of the number of the table effective until further notice, by posting the same in a suitable location in the Food Price Section of the Regional Office—Region I, by notification of the same to press and broadcasting facilities for announcement to the public, and by forthwith notifying all District Offices concerned, which in turn shall take appropriate steps to cause local public announcement of the "published quotation" and of the table effective. Failure of the Regional Administrator to give notice, as above required, at the time specified or at a later time, shall not prevent any table becoming effective under the terms specified in connection therewith: Provided, That with respect only to any action or claim founded on a price established by the superseding table and arising from a transaction occurring on the day of giving notice or a day prior thereto, no person shall be held to answer any of the penalties or remedies provided by any law or municipal ordinance.

(b) Delivered prices; effective tables of minimum-maximum prices. (1) The maximum price for sales and deliveries of fluid cream having a butterfat content of 40%, 36%, or 20% in glass or paper containers by distributors at retail or wholesale, and for sales and deliveries of fluid cream having a butterfat content of 40%, 36%, 20%, or 16% by distributors at wholesale in bulk (other than in glass or paper containers) to stores, hotels, restaurants, and institutions, in all cases in the G–26 area, shall be the higher of the following:

(a) In the case of deliveries in glass or paper containers:

(i) The seller's maximum price as determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation as adjusted by Amendment No. 77 to Supplementary Regulation 14 (now 14A) to the General Maximum Price Regulation; or

(ii) The adjusted maximum price for the particular size and type of container set forth in paragraph (b) (2) below in the particular Effective Table in force at the time of sale according to the provisions of paragraph (a) (3) of this order;

PROCLAMATION 2680

"I AM AN AMERICAN DAY," 1946

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS Public Resolution 67 approved May 3, 1940 (54 Stat. 178), provides in part:

That the third Sunday in May each year be, and hereby is, set aside as Citizenship Day and that the President of the United States is hereby authorized and requested to issue annually a proclamation setting aside that day as a public occasion for the recognition of all who, by coming of age or naturalization, have attained the status of citizenship, and the day shall be designated as "I Am An American Day."

That the civil and educational authorities of States, counties, cities, and towns be, and they are hereby, urged to make plans for the proper observance of this day and for the full instruction of future citizens in their responsibilities and opportunities as citizens of the United States and of the States and localities in which they reside.

WHEREAS the part played by this nation in bringing full victory to the Allied Powers during the past year has been possible only because of the strength, the devotion, and the sacrifices of millions of our young men and women on the battlefronts of the world, performing bravely their highest duties as citizens;

WHEREAS our numerous citizens of foreign birth have shown loyalty and fidelity to their new citizenship in the performance of all the tasks which helped to bring the final and complete victory over the enemies of the country which these citizens have made their own by naturalization;

WHEREAS the nations of the world now look to the United States for leadership and for assistance, as they repair the devastation wrought by the war:

WHEREAS our nation derives its chief strength to give leadership and assistance from the fact that its citizens, young and old, native-born and foreign-born, work together as one people; and

WHEREAS this year new thousands have entered upon the full responsibilities of citizenship either by reaching their majority or by naturalization:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, pursuant to the aforesaid public resolution do hereby designate Sunday, May 19, 1946, as "I Am An American Day," and do set that day aside as a public occasion for the honoring of American citizenship by giving special recognition to all our citizens who have recently become full members of the body politic.

And I urge Federal, State, and local officials and patriotic, civic, and educational organizations to plan and hold, on or about May 19, exercises designed to help our new citizens, both native-born and naturalized, to understand more fully the significance and responsibilities of citizenship in our self-governing Republic, so that they may be better prepared to add strength to the common purpose of all our citizens that this Republic shall continue to maintain its place of leadership and service among the nations of the world.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 12th day of March in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and [SEAL] forty-six, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and seventieth.

(f) "Second-class station" means a medical relief facility, other than a hospital of the Service, under the charge of a commissioned officer.

(g) "Third-class station" means a medical relief facility, other than a hospital of the Service, under the charge of a medical officer or employee of the Service other than a commissioned officer.

(h) "Fourth-class station" means a medical relief facility designated by the Surgeon General, other than a first-, second-, or third-class station.

(i) "Designated physician" means a physician holding an appointment to act regularly for the Service for a class or classes of specified beneficiaries at a place where there is no medical relief station.

(j) "Designated dentist" means a dentist holding an appointment to perform dental service for the Service for a class or classes of specified beneficiaries.

PART II—PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO COAST GUARD, COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY AND PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

SEC. 2. Persons entitled to treatment. To the extent and under the circumstances prescribed in these regulations, the following persons shall be entitled to medical, surgical, and dental treatment and hospitalization by the Service:

(1) Coast Guard. (a) Commissioned officers, chief warrant officers, warrant officers, cadets, and enlisted personnel of the Regular Coast Guard, including those on shore duty and those on detached duty, whether on active duty or retired;

(b) Regular members of the Coast Guard Reserve when on active duty or when retired for disability;

(c) Temporary members of the Coast Guard Reserve when on active duty or in case of physical injury incurred or sickness or disease contracted while performing active Coast Guard duty;

(d) Members of the Women's Reserve of the Coast Guard when on active duty or when retired for disability;

(e) Members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary in case of physical injury incurred or sickness or disease contracted while performing active Coast Guard duty.

(2) Coast and Geodetic Survey. Commissioned officers, ship's officers, and members of the crews of vessels of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, including those on shore duty and those on detached duty, whether on active duty or retired.

(3) Public Health Service. (a) Commissioned officers of the Regular Corps of the Service, whether on active duty or retired;

(b) Commissioned officers of the Reserve Corps of the Service when on active duty or when retired for disability.

SEC. 3. Use of Service facilities. Except as otherwise provided herein, the persons specified in section 2 shall be entitled to medical, surgical, and dental treatment and hospitalization only at medical relief stations and by designated physicians and designated dentists, and the cost of services procured elsewhere shall not be borne by the Service.

SEC. 4. Use of other than Service facilities. (a) When a person specified in section 2 who is on active duty requires immediate medical, surgical, or dental treatment or hospitalization and the urgency of the situation does not permit treatment at a medical relief station or by a designated physician or designated dentist, an officer of the same service as the patient may arrange for treatment or hospitalization at the expense of the Service.

(b) When the circumstances are such that an officer of the same service as the patient is not available to make the necessary arrangements, the treatment or hospitalization may be obtained by or on behalf of the patient at the expense of the Service.

(c) In every case of treatment or hospitalization as defined in subsection (b) above, the responsible superior officer of the patient shall be notified as promptly as possible and a full report shall be submitted by such officer to the Surgeon General through appropriate official channels. As soon as practicable, unless the interests of the patient or the Government require otherwise, treatment or hospitalization shall be continued at a medical relief station or by a designated physician or designated dentist or at another appropriate Federal medical facility.

(d) When the necessary medical relief cannot be obtained from a medical relief station or a designated physician or designated dentist, preference shall be given to other Federal medical facilities when reasonably available and when conditions permit.

(e) Vouchers on proper forms covering expenses for treatment or hospitalization under the circumstances specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall be forwarded to the Surgeon General through appropriate official channels. Each such voucher shall be accompanied by or contain a statement of the facts necessitating the treatment or hospitalization. Unreasonable charges for emergency treatment or hospitalization will not be allowed.

(f) Expenses for consultants or special services, or for dental treatment other than emergency measures to relieve pain, shall not be allowed except when authorized in advance by the headquarters of the Service or, in extraordinary cases, when subsequently approved by such headquarters upon receipt of report and satisfactory explanation as to the necessity and urgency therefor.

SEC. 5. Application for treatment; active duty personnel. (a) An applicant for medical relief who is on active duty shall furnish a certificate identifying him. Such certificate, in the case of Coast Guard personnel, shall be signed by an officer of the Coast Guard, and in the case of Coast and Geodetic Survey personnel, shall be signed by an officer of the Coast and Geodetic Survey. Commissioned officers of any of the services mentioned in section 2 and officers in charge of units may sign their own certificates. In an emergency, the officer in charge of a medical relief station, or a designated physician or designated dentist, may accept other evidence of status satisfactory to him.

(b) A temporary member of the Coast Guard Reserve except when on active duty or a member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary shall, when applying for medical relief, furnish a statement signed by a responsible superior officer setting forth the facts and circumstances giving rise to the need for medical relief. In emergencies, such statement shall be furnished promptly after the member has received the immediately required care and treatment. Such statement shall be presumptive evidence of the facts stated, but if investigation indicates that the injury, sickness, or disease was not incurred or contracted in the manner stated, further treatment may be denied.

SEC. 6. Personnel absent without leave. No member of any of the services enumerated in section 2 shall be entitled when absent without leave to medical relief except at a medical relief station or by a designated physician or designated dentist.

SEC. 7. Continuance of medical relief after loss of status. If a member is separated from any of the services enumerated in section 2, except persons specified in subsections (c) and (e) thereof who shall be entitled to treatment after separation under the conditions set forth in such subsections, while undergoing treatment by the Service, his treatment shall be discontinued immediately unless the physician in charge determines that the condition of the patient does not permit interruption of treatment, in which case the treatment shall be discontinued as soon as practicable and the condition of the patient permits. At that time he shall be discharged from treatment and shall not thereafter be afforded medical relief by the Service by reason of his previous service.

SEC. 8. Retired personnel; extent of treatment. (a) A retired member of the Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey, or Public Health Service specified in section 2 shall be entitled to medical, surgical, and dental treatment and hospitalization at medical relief stations of the first-, second-, and third-class, upon presentation of satisfactory evidence of his status.

(b) Elective medical or surgical treatment requiring hospitalization shall be furnished only at hospitals operated by the Service.

(c) Dental treatment shall be furnished to the extent of available facilities only at medical relief stations where full-time dental officers are on duty; at other medical relief stations the dental treatment shall be limited to emergency measures necessary to relieve pain.

SEC. 9. Dependent members of families; treatment. To the extent and under the circumstances prescribed in these regulations, the Service shall provide medical advice and out-patient treatment at first-, second-, and third-class medical relief stations and hospitalization at first-class stations to the dependent members of families of the following persons:

(1) Coast Guard. Commissioned officers, chief warrant officers, warrant officers, cadets, and enlisted personnel of the Regular Coast Guard, including those on shore duty and those on detached duty, whether on active duty or retired; and regular members of the United States Coast Guard Reserve and members of the Women's Reserve of the Coast Guard, when on active duty or when retired for disability.

SEC. 10. Dependent members of families; use of Service facilities. A dependent member of the family of any person specified in section 9 shall, upon presentation of satisfactory evidence of such status, be entitled to medical advice and out-patient treatment at first-, second-, and third-class medical relief stations and hospitalization at first-class stations if suitable accommodations are available therein and if the condition of the dependent is such as to require hospitalization, both as determined by the medical officer in charge.

(b) Hospitalization at first-class stations shall be at a per diem cost to the officer, enlisted person, member of a crew or other person concerned. Such cost shall be at such uniform rate as may be prescribed from time to time by the President for the hospitalization of dependents of naval and Marine Corps personnel at any naval hospital.

(c) Hospitalization at first-class stations and out-patient treatment at first-, second-, and third-class stations may include such services and supplies as, in the judgment of the medical officer in charge, are necessary for reasonable and adequate treatment.

(d) Dental treatment shall be furnished to the extent of available facilities only at medical relief stations where full-time officers are on duty.

PART III—PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO PERSONNEL OF FORMER LIGHTHOUSE SERVICE

SEC. 11. Persons entitled to treatment. To the extent and under the circumstances prescribed in these regulations, the following persons shall be entitled to medical, surgical, and dental treatment and hospitalization by the Service: Lightkeepers, assistant lightkeepers, and officers and crews of vessels of the former Lighthouse Service, including any such persons who subsequent to June 30, 1939, have involuntarily been assigned to other civilian duty in the Coast Guard, who were entitled to medical relief at hospitals and other stations of the Service prior to July 1, 1944, and who are now or hereafter on active duty or who have been or may hereafter be retired under the provisions of section 6 of the Act of June 20, 1918, as amended (33 U.S.C. 763).

SEC. 12. Use of Service facilities. Except as otherwise provided herein, the persons specified in section 11 shall be entitled to medical, surgical, and dental treatment and hospitalization only at medical relief stations and by designated physicians and designated dentists, and the cost of services procured elsewhere shall not be borne by the Service.

SEC. 13. Use of other than Service facilities. (a) When a person specified in section 11 who is on active duty requires immediate medical, surgical, or dental treatment or hospitalization and the urgency of the situation does not permit treatment at a medical relief station or by a designated physician or designated dentist, an officer or other appropriate supervisory official of the Coast Guard may arrange for treatment or hospitalization.

(b) In every such case of treatment or hospitalization, a full report thereof shall be submitted to the Surgeon General through Coast Guard headquarters. As soon as practicable, unless the interests of the patient or the Government require otherwise, treatment or hospitalization shall be continued at a medical relief station or by a designated physician or designated dentist or at another appropriate Federal medical facility.

(c) When the necessary medical relief cannot be obtained from a medical relief station or a designated physician or designated dentist, preference shall be given to other Federal medical facilities when reasonably available and when conditions permit.

(d) Vouchers on proper forms covering expenses for treatment or hospitalization under the circumstances specified in paragraph (a) of this section shall be forwarded to the Surgeon General through Coast Guard headquarters. Each such voucher shall be accompanied by or contain a statement of the facts necessitating the treatment or hospitalization. Unreasonable charges for emergency treatment or hospitalization will not be allowed.

(e) Expenses for consultants or special services, or for dental treatment other than emergency measures to relieve pain, shall not be allowed except when authorized in advance by the headquarters of the Service or, in extraordinary cases, when subsequently approved by such headquarters upon receipt of report and satisfactory explanation as to the necessity and urgency therefor.

SEC. 14. Application for treatment; active duty personnel. An applicant for medical relief who is on active duty shall furnish a certificate identifying him. Such certificate shall be signed by an officer or other appropriate supervisory official of the Coast Guard. In an emergency, the officer in charge of a medical relief station, or a designated physician or designated dentist, may accept other evidence of status satisfactory to him.

SEC. 15. Continuance of medical relief after loss of status. If a person is separated while undergoing treatment by the Service, his treatment shall be discontinued immediately unless the physician or dentist in charge determines that the condition of the patient does not permit interruption of treatment, in which case the treatment shall be discontinued as soon as practicable and the condition of the patient permits. At that time he shall be discharged from treatment and shall not thereafter be afforded medical relief by the Service by reason of his previous service.

SEC. 16. Retired personnel; extent of treatment. (a) Any retired person specified in section 11 shall be entitled to medical, surgical, and dental treatment and hospitalization at medical relief stations of the first, second, and third class, upon presentation of satisfactory evidence of his status.

(b) Elective medical or surgical treatment requiring hospitalization shall be furnished only at hospitals operated by the Service.

(c) Dental treatment shall be furnished to the extent of available facilities only at medical relief stations where full-time dental officers are on duty; at other medical relief stations the dental treatment shall be limited to emergency measures necessary to relieve pain.

PART 726—FIRE-CURED AND DARK AIR-CURED TOBACCO

MARKETING QUOTA REGULATIONS, 1946-47

The Marketing Quota Regulations, Fire-cured and Dark Air-cured Tobacco, 1946-47 Marketing Year, Part I, is amended by striking out § 726.618 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

§ 726.618 State Committee adjustment of preliminary allotments for "old" farms. The total of the allotments established for all "old" farms in each state by county committees (as corrected by or pursuant to direction of the State Committee), shall be adjusted by the State Committee so that the total of such allotments for all farms in the state does not exceed 105 percent of the total acreage allotted to all farms in the state in 1943. In making such adjustment the State Committee shall apply a uniform factor, not to exceed 118 per cent, to that part of the county established acreage allotment for each farm which is in excess of the 1943 acreage allotment for the farm. If, after applying the state factor, the total of all such allotments is less than 105 per cent of the 1943 acreage allotments for all farms in the state in 1943, such additional acreage as is necessary to bring the total of all such allotments to an amount equal to 105 percent of the total acreage allotted to all farms in 1943 shall be available to the State Committee for allocation to the counties for making further adjustments in the farm acreage allotments. Such additional acreage shall be allocated to the counties on the basis of the percentage the county 1946 preliminary acreage allotment is of the State 1946 preliminary acreage allotment. The county committee, with the assistance of the community committees, will review the 1946 farm acreage allotments as adjusted by the State Committee, and will make upward adjustments where it is determined that such adjustments will bring the allotments more nearly in line with the allotments for other farms in the county which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for production of tobacco, notwithstanding the limiting factors in § 726.617. The total of all such adjustments in the county shall not exceed the acreage available for adjustment.

ENLISTMENTS AND REENLISTMENTS IN THE REGULAR ARMY

Pending the revision of Part 701, pertaining to enlistments and reenlistments in the Regular Army, paragraph 4a (11 F.R. 1668) is amended to read as follows:

4. Physical qualifications.—a. Men serving in enlisted status. (1) In the case of men serving in enlisted status, who apply for immediate enlistment or reenlistment in the Regular Army, performance of full military duty (defined as "serving at present in the Army performing effective service in his present military occupation specialty from day to day, and currently recorded qualified for oversea duty as expressed in WD Cir. 198, 1945, as amended by sec. II, WD Cir. 17, 1946") may be accepted as evidence of physical qualifications for the purpose of immediate enlistment or reenlistment and, except as provided in (b) below, no physical examination of enlisted men performing such duty is required for the purpose of immediate enlistment or reenlistment, subject to the following:

(a) A physical examination is required on discharge for every member of the Regular Army, every member of any Reserve component (including National Guard of the United States) serving on active duty in the Army of the United States, and every man inducted through Selective Service. PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN COTTON FABRICS FOR USE IN THE MANUFACTURE OF WASHABLE SERVICE APPAREL

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to PR 13:

(a) Effect of this direction. There is urgent need for cotton fabric suitable for use as body fabric in the manufacture of washable service apparel. As used in this direction "washable service apparel" means gowns, suits or coats for doctors, dentists, internes, orderlies, druggists and hospital use; or coats and apron sets for barbers, beauticians and food processors or handlers (including bakers, butchers, fishhandlers, dairyworkers, cooks and slaughterhouse workers).

The purpose of this direction is to make available, for the above uses, a supply of cotton fabric (Grade A 5-oz. white 140 sheeting) now held by the War Assets Corporation as surplus property under Declaration Nos. 6-14851 and 4-12602, amounting to about 4,641,521 yards, a supply of cotton fabric (7.5 oz. cotton drill) now held by the War Assets Corporation as surplus property under Declaration Nos. 3-20911 and 6-20036, amounting to about 2,393,503 yards, and a supply of cotton fabric (8.5 oz. herringbone twill, unshrunken) now held by the War Assets Corporation as surplus property under Declaration No. 3-20911 amounting to about 192,365 yards. It permits sales of such cotton fabrics to be made by the War Assets Corporation in the following manner only: The fabrics may be sold to persons permitted to purchase under paragraph (b) below.

Although this direction restricts sales to persons who will use the fabric for the purposes specified, it does not prohibit the War Assets Corporation from making sales, to the persons and for the purposes specified, upon such other terms and in such quantities as the War Assets Corporation may determine; and preference ratings have no effect upon any sales which may be made by the War Assets Corporation either by way of obliging it to sell or by way of determining as among the several buyers permitted by this direction, who shall get the cotton fabric from the War Assets Corporation.

(b) Persons who may purchase. No person may buy from the War Assets Corporation any of the surplus cotton fabrics referred to in paragraph (a) above, and the War Assets Corporation may not sell any of such fabric except where the purchaser is a manufacturer of washable service apparel or a governmental agency which will use the fabric in the manufacture of washable service apparel. In either case the purchaser must give a certificate with his purchase order in substantially the following form:

> The undersigned certifies to the seller and CPA and subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, that (i) he is a manufacturer of washable service apparel, (gowns, suits or coats for doctors, dentists, internes, orderlies, druggists and hospital use; or coats and apron sets for barbers, beauticians and food processors or handlers), or it is a governmental agency which manufactures washable service apparel; and (ii) the fabric obtained under this purchase order will be used only to produce washable service apparel.

The standard certification in Priorities Regulation 7 may not be used instead of this certificate.

(c) Obligations of persons giving certificates. Any person giving the certificate described above may obtain and use the fabric he gets with the certificate only in accordance with its terms.

(d) Expiration date. Unless sooner revoked, this direction shall expire on April 30, 1946; but its expiration at that time shall not relieve any person who has obtained cotton fabric by use of the certificate referred to above, from the obligation of using the fabric in accordance with the certificate which he has given.

DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN COTTON FABRIC FOR USE IN THE MANUFACTURE OF RUBBER AND CANVAS FOOTWEAR

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to PR 13:

(a) Effect of this direction. There is an urgent need for cotton fabric suitable for use in the manufacture of rubber and canvas footwear of vulcanized construction, since cotton fabric is not readily obtainable in sufficient quantities from new production.

The purpose of this direction is to make available immediately for the above uses approximately 350,004 yards of 7.5 oz., unbleached cotton drill, now held by the War Assets Corporation as surplus property under declaration No. 6-21662; and approximately 276,000 yards of Grade A, 5 oz., white 140 sheeting, now held by the War Assets Corporation as surplus property under declaration No. 6-14851. It permits sales of these lots of cotton fabrics to be made by the War Assets Corporation only to persons permitted to purchase under paragraph (b) below.

Although this direction restricts sales to persons who will use the fabric for the purposes specified, it does not prohibit the War Assets Corporation from making sales, to the persons and for the purposes specified, upon such other terms and in such quantities as the War Assets Corporation may determine; and preference ratings have no effect upon any sales which may be made by the War Assets Corporation either by way of obliging it to sell or by way of determining as among the several buyers permitted by this direction, who shall get the cottom fabric from the War Assets Corporation.

(b) Persons who may purchase. No person may buy from the War Assets Corporation any of the surplus cotton fabrics referred to in paragraph (a) above, and the War Assets Corporation may not sell any of such fabric except where the purchaser is a manufacturer of rubber and canvas footwear of vulcanized construction and gives a certificate with his purchase order in substantially the following form:

> The undersigned certifies to the seller and CPA and subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, that (i) he is a manufacturer of rubber and canvas footwear; and (ii) the fabric obtained under this purchase order will be used only for the manufacture of rubber and canvas footwear of vulcanized construction.

The standard certification in Priorities Regulation 7 may not be used instead of this certificate.

(c) Obligations of persons giving certificates. Any person giving the certificate described above may obtain and use the fabric he gets with the certificate only in accordance with its terms.

(d) Expiration date. Unless sooner revoked, this direction shall expire on March 31, 1946; but its expiration at that time shall not relieve any person who has obtained cotton fabric by use of the certificate referred to above, from the obligation of using the fabric in accordance with the certificate which he has given.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

ADJUSTMENT OF ORDERS, RECEIPTS AND DELIVERIES IN CASE OF WORK STOPPAGES

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to PR 32:

(a) What this direction does. As a result of work stoppages, strict application of CPA inventory restrictions might have an adverse effect on the production and distribution of critical materials. This direction permits continued receipts during the first fifteen days and certain further receipts to the extent described in paragraph (b), but requires adjustment of outstanding orders as explained in paragraph (c). It is designed to prevent the unnecessary accumulation of critical materials on the one hand, and on the other to encourage maximum production. To the extent that the provisions of this direction are inconsistent with the inventory limits of Priorities Regulation 32 or any other applicable order or regulation of CPA, this direction controls, unless the other order or regulation specifically states to the contrary.

(b) Permitted receipts after suspension of operations. (1) A person whose operations are suspended due to a work stoppage in his own plant or in a supplier's plant may continue to receive materials (except iron or steel in the forms and shapes listed in Schedule I to Order M-21) for a period not exceeding 15 days immediately following the suspension, to the extent that such receipts could legally have been accepted under Priorities Regulation 32, or other applicable orders and regulations if the plant had remained in operation. No new orders may be placed during this time to take advantage of this provision.

During this period, he may continue to receive any item of iron or steel, if his resulting inventory of that particular item will not exceed the smaller of the following amounts: (i) The minimum amount he would need during the first 30 days after resumption of operations; or (ii) The minimum amount which would have been required to meet his production schedule during the 45 days following the date when the work stoppage occurred, if his plant had remained in operation.

(2) At the end of the period described in paragraph (b) (1), any person may continue to receive any material, if his resulting inventory of that particular material will not exceed the smaller of the following amounts: (i) The minimum amount he would need during the first 30 days after resumption of operations; or (ii) The minimum amount which would have been required to meet his production schedule during the 45 days following the date when the work stoppage occurred, if his plant had remained in operation.

(3) After he has adjusted his orders as required by paragraph (c), he may also accept further deliveries to the extent permitted by paragraph (h) of Priorities Regulation 32.

(c) Adjustment of outstanding orders after suspension of operations. Outstanding orders calling for delivery of any material in excess of the amounts permitted by paragraphs (b) (1) and (2) must be adjusted by the customer whose operations are suspended as follows:

(1) He must postpone or cancel immediately all such orders calling for delivery of iron or steel in the current month. Also by the 15th day of the current month or immediately after the suspension of operations if it occurs after the 15th of the month, and by the 15th day of each month thereafter as long as the work stoppage continues, he must postpone or cancel all such orders calling for delivery of iron or steel in the following month.

(2) In the case of materials other than iron or steel, he must, by the 15th day of the work stoppage, postpone or cancel all such orders for delivery in the current month. Also, by the 15th day of the work stoppage or the 15th day of the current month, whichever is later, and by the 15th day of each month thereafter as long as the work stoppage continues, he must postpone or cancel all such orders for delivery in the following calendar month.

(d) Applicability of this direction—(1) In general. Paragraphs (b) and (c) do not apply with respect to any part of the customer's operations which is not suspended or which resumes operations, and materials may be produced and delivered by the supplier and received by the customer under these circumstances as permitted by Priorities Regulation 32. These paragraphs also do not apply to tires and tubes for original equipment which remain subject to Order R-1.

(2) Suppliers. Suppliers may continue to produce for a customer whose operations have been suspended, and to ship or hold as arranged with the customer, only in accordance with this direction and the applicable provisions of Priorities Regulation 32.

(e) Resumption of operations. As soon as operations are resumed, the customer must promptly adjust, and if necessary postpone or cancel, all his outstanding orders to the extent required by paragraph (e) of Priorities Regulation 32, and all deliveries and receipts are again subject to all provisions of that regulation.

Issued this 12th day of March 1946.

PART 1046—SUPPLIERS

[Limitation Order L-63, as Amended Mar. 12, 1946]

SUPPLIERS' INVENTORIES

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of certain supplies for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1046.1 Suppliers' Inventory Limitation Order L-63—(a) Definitions. (1) "Supplies" means all the supplies listed below:

(i) Automotive supplies.
(ii) Automotive replacement batteries.
(iii) Aviation supplies.
(iv) Builders' supplies.
(v) Construction supplies.
(vi) Dairy supplies.
(vii) Electrical supplies.
(x) Grain elevator supplies.
(xi) Hardware supplies.
(xii) Industrial supplies.
(xiii) Plumbing and heating supplies.
(xiv) Refrigeration supplies.
(xv) Restaurant supplies.
(xvi) Textile mill supplies.
(xviii) Welding and cutting supplies.

NOTE: Items (iii) to (xviii), inclusive, formerly (ii) to (xvii), redesignated Mar. 12, 1946.

even though such items or materials may be "consumers' goods" within the meaning of that term as used in Limitation Order L-219; but supplies shall not be deemed to include any of the items or materials set forth in List A.

(2) "Supplier" means any person (other than a producer) located in the 48 states or the District of Columbia, whose business consists, in whole or in part, of the sale from stock or inventory of supplies. "Supplier" includes wholesalers, distributors, jobbers, dealers, retailers, branch warehouses of producers and other persons performing a similar function.

(3) "Producer" means any person including any branch, division or section of any enterprise, which manufactures, processes, fabricates, assembles or otherwise physically changes any material.

(4) "Sales" means sales from stock, including consigned stocks and excluding direct shipments (i. e., excluding sales made by a supplier of supplies which such supplier has never received delivery of but has ordered from the producer thereof with instructions that they be shipped directly to the supplier's customer).

(5) "Seasonal lines" means any line of supplies in which a minimum of 40% of the supplier's total annual sales are made during a period of 90 days, or less.

(6) "Maximum permissible inventory" means:

(i) In the case of a supplier located in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, an inventory (owned or consigned to him) of supplies of a total dollar value at cost (by physical or book inventory, at the option of the supplier) equal to the sales of such supplies at net sales figures, shipped from his inventory, during the four preceding calendar months.

(ii) In the case of a supplier located in the District of Columbia or any of the forty-eight states not enumerated in paragraph (a) (6) (i) above, an inventory (owned or consigned to him) of supplies of a total dollar value at cost (by physical or book inventory, at the option of the supplier) equal to sales of such supplies at net sales figures shipped from his inventory during the three preceding calendar months.

(b) Limitation of supplier's inventories. (1) Except as provided in paragraph (b) (3), (4), (5), and (6), no supplier shall accept any delivery of supplies from any person which will effect an increase in the inventories of the supplier above his maximum permissible inventory; and

(2) Except as provided in paragraphs (b) (3), (4), (5) and (6), no person shall make to any supplier any delivery of supplies which such person knows or has reason to believe will effect an increase in such supplier's inventory of supplies above the supplier's maximum permissible inventory.

(3) Any supplier, regardless of where located, shall be permitted to purchase and store an amount of seasonal lines equal to those which he purchased in the peak period of a comparable period of the previous year, but this peak period shall not exceed 120 days.

(4) A supplier may accept delivery of supplies which will increase his stock above the maximum permissible inventory, if such supplier's inventory of supplies is at the time of delivery less than his maximum permissible inventory and the delivery of the minimum quantity of such supplies that can be commercially procured.

(5) A supplier may accept delivery of specific items of supplies when his stock of all items in the aggregate exceeds, or will by virtue of such acceptance exceed, his maximum permissible inventory, but only to the extent necessary to bring such supplier's inventory of those specific items (owned or consigned to him) up to a total dollar value equal to the sales of such items shipped from such supplier's inventories during the preceding month.

(6) The Civilian Production Administration may, from time to time, exempt specified suppliers or classes of suppliers from the provisions of this order, subject to such restrictions as the Civilian Production Administration may impose. Application for exemption should be made by letter.

(7) The provisions of this order shall not apply to any supplier whose total inventory at cost, including consigned stocks, of all supplies is less than $35,000.

(8) Any person who wishes to establish an initial inventory of supplies with a value at cost of more than $35,000, including consigned stocks, may apply for authorization to do so by filing a letter in triplicate stating the value of the inventory for which he requests authorization, the class of supplies he desires to purchase, the type of business he is entering and any other facts he considers pertinent to his case. All such applications will be processed on an equitable basis. Any amount authorized shall become his maximum permissible inventory for the next four complete calendar months in the case of a supplier located in the area covered by paragraph (a) (6) (i), above, or for the next three complete calendar months in the case of a supplier located in the area covered by paragraph (a) (6) (ii), above. After this period, his maximum permissible inventory is determined by the provisions of paragraph (a) (6) (i) or paragraph (a) (6) (ii), as the case may be.

(c) Provisions of other orders. (1) No provision of this order shall be construed to permit the accumulation of inventories of any item of material in contravention of the provisions of any other applicable order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration. Specifically, a supplier may not accept delivery of any material if his inventory of that material is, or will be, more than a practicable minimum working inventory reasonably necessary to meet his own deliveries on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation.

(2) All restrictions of this order, including the above restriction to paragraph (c) (1), apply to materials listed in Table 3 of Priorities Regulation 32, as well as to all other items normally accepted into a supplier's inventory. Consequently, such materials are not exempt from any of the restrictions of this order.

(d) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(e) Records and reports. Each supplier (other than those who are exempt under paragraph (b) (6) or (b) (7)) must keep an up-to-date record of his total net monthly sales of supplies from stock, and his total inventory of supplies at the end of each month. He need not keep a separate record of his sales and inventory of each type of supplies. A record of his sales and inventory of all kinds of supplies in the aggregate will be satisfactory. In preparing his sales record he should use net selling prices, including sales from consigned stock and excluding direct shipments. His inventory record may be based either on book inventory or physical count. Inventory valuations must be at cost and must include consigned stock. The sales and inventory data required by this paragraph must be preserved for a period of at least two years, available for inspection by authorized representatives of the Civilian Production Administration. This record keeping plan has the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942. Subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget, the Civilian Production Administration may at any time ask for the submission of this data.

(f) Applicability of priorities regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the Civilian Production Administration, as amended from time to time.

(g) Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to Civilian Production Administration, Wholesale and Retail Branch, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: L-63.

Issued this 12th day of March 1946.

The following direction is issued pursuant to M–328B:

(a) Purpose. The purpose of this direction is to provide for the use of advance M–328B CC ratings for the second quarter 1946 and for the carry over of unused CC ratings into that quarter.

(b) Advance authorizations. A manufacturer who received an allocation under this order in the first quarter of 1946 which authorized him to use a CC rating to get body fabric in that quarter for making an item listed in the Preference Rating Schedules C, F, J or K, may immediately apply a CC rating for the same fabric for delivery in the second quarter of 1946 to make the same item, in accordance with the rules stated below:

(i) He must file his application for priorities assistance for the second quarter of 1946 at the time specified when the details of the second quarter program are issued by amendments to M–328B and the applicable schedules.

(ii) He may not use this advance CC rating for more than 70% of the yardage of the fabric he was authorized under Directions 9 or 10 to receive on M–328B CC rated orders in the first quarter of 1946 for an item on Schedule C, J or K. For an item on Schedule F he may not use this advance CC rating for more than 70% of the yardage for which he was assigned CC ratings on Form CPA–3732.

(iii) In placing orders under this advance authorization, a manufacturer must use Form CPA–4412 instead of Form CPA–4382. He must show the case number which he was assigned for the first quarter of 1946.

(iv) Advance CC ratings for component materials for wool items on Schedule K may be used under the rules explained in paragraph (c) (5) of that Schedule.

(c) Carry over of unused ratings into second quarter. A manufacturer may use valid CC ratings to get in the second quarter of 1946 any undelivered cotton, rayon or wool fabrics for which he was assigned CC ratings under this order and for which he was unable to get delivery before April 1, 1946. In using ratings under this paragraph (c) his purchase order must be accompanied by Form CPA–4382.

Issued this 12th day of March 1946.

Chapter XI—Office of Price Administration

PART 1337—RAYON, SYNTHETIC OR SILK GREY GOODS

[RPS 23, as Amended,[1] Amdt. 5]

RAYON, SYNTHETIC AND SILK GREY GOODS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Price Schedule No. 23, as amended, is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1337.1 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) The maximum price for any construction of rayon grey goods not enumerated in Appendix A, § 1337.13, shall be a price in-line with the maximum price for the nearest related construction so enumerated: Provided, That when a maximum price for a construction is priced in-line with construction 6–20 or 6–25 of subparagraph (6) of § 1337.13 (a) maximum prices per yard of 27¢ and 28¢ per yard shall be used for constructions 6–20 or 6–25, respectively, in determining the price for the construction being in-line. The term "in-line with" means having a justifiable relation to such maximum price with commensurate increases or decreases to give effect to the differences in costs of the yarn used and in the weaving costs taking into account differences in (1) the number of picks, (2) the number of ends, (3) the width and (4) the weave.

2. Section 1337.3 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1337.3 Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a petition for amendment is pending, or upon the Administrator's own motion, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production, and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

3. In § 1337.13 (a) fabric numbers 6–20 and 6–25 are amended to read as follows:

Cuprammonium
Sheer

6–25, 48" 100 x 72; 75 Cuprammonium, 57½ turns, 75 Cuprammonium—31¢.
Cuprammonium
Sheer

This amendment shall become effective March 15, 1946.

Issued this 13th day of March 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

Adjustment of maximum prices in accordance with this section shall be considered when you make application for such adjustment. You shall indicate in your application the extent of the hardship being caused by existing maximum prices and the reasons for such hardship.

The Administrator may grant an adjustment on his own motion when he finds such action necessary to remove hardship.

This amendment shall become effective March 11, 1946.

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

[SO 131,[1] Amdt. 14]

REVISED MAXIMUM PRICES FOR CERTAIN COTTON TEXTILES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Sections 1, 2, and 3 are amended and sections 3a and 5 are added to read as follows:

SECTION 1. How this supplementary order works. (a) This order supplements and modifies the price schedules, regulations, and orders referred to in sections 3 and 4 with respect to the goods there designated. Except as they are supplemented and modified by this supplementary order, the provisions of those price schedules, regulations, and orders remain in force.

(b) As originally issued, this order established a "higher" and a "lower" band of maximum prices. These two bands, although retained in the text of section 4 of the order, are now supplanted in most cases by two new bands, called band A and band B. Bands A and B, appearing in section 3, are in most instances established in terms of increases over the original "higher" band ceilings. In addition, a special incentive premium is provided in section 3a for a limited list of fabrics.

(c) The applicability of the various bands is as follows:

(1) The original "lower" band of ceilings ceases to be effective on March 8, 1946.

(2) The original "higher" band of ceilings remains applicable only to those items for which band A and B maximum prices are not established. For items with band A and B maximum prices, the original "higher" band ceilings cease on March 8, 1946, to be effective as maximum prices but in most cases they constitute the basis for computation of the band A and B maximum prices.

(3) Band B ceilings may be charged by any seller.

(4) Band A ceilings may be charged only by producers who meet the requirements of section 2. In brief, band A prices may be charged only by a producer who receives OPA's acknowledgment of the required certification that he is paying a wage increase of a specified minimum amount, except that a producer upon becoming eligible to make the certification may charge band A ceilings for 30 days thereafter, even if he has not filed the certification.

SEC. 2. To whom band A ceilings apply. certification. (a) Except during the limited period of time referred to in paragraph (c) below, band A maximum prices apply only to a producer who (1) has certified to the Office of Price Administration (on a form to be provided) that he is eligible to use them and (2) has received from the Office of Price Administration an acknowledgment that his certification meets the requirements of this section 2. Certifications shall be filed with the Textile Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. Those which meet the requirements of this section shall be acknowledged within 10 days of their filing and the acknowledgments shall bear a number and the following words: Band A OPA No. ——.

(b) A producer may certify that he is eligible to charge band A ceilings only if (1) his average hourly straight time wage[2] during any full representative period in 1946 is at least 12½% higher than his average hourly straight time wage during any full representative payroll period after he first qualified to charge the original "higher" band of ceilings established by section 4 and (2) the wage increases involved have been approved pursuant to Executive Order 9697. If a producer prior to March 8, 1946 had not qualified for the original "higher" band ceilings, he may certify that he is eligible to charge band A ceilings only if (i) his average hourly straight time wage during any full representative payroll period after that date is at least 12½% greater than the minimum average hourly straight time wage[2] which would qualify[3] him for the original "higher" band and (ii) the wage increases involved have been approved pursuant to Executive Order 9697.

(c) Notwithstanding paragraph (a) above, any producer upon becoming eligible to make the certification there mentioned may charge band A ceilings for deliveries made during the next thirty days thereafter or until April 8, 1946, whichever is later.

SEC. 3. Band A and Band B maximum prices. (a) Maximum prices for the goods named below shall be the prices established by section 4 for the "higher" band, increased by the following percentages:

[2] A producer should compute his average hourly straight time wage by dividing his straight time payroll for a full representative payroll period by the number of straight time man hours worked in that period. The straight time payroll for the period should be appropriately increased to reflect accrued vacation pay, or employee benefits such as insurance or hospitalization.

[3] The qualifications for the original "higher" band appear in Appendix A.

SEC. 5. Appendix A: To whom the higher band prices apply. (a) The higher band of maximum prices applies to those producers, and to those producers only, who since March 1, 1945, have increased the wage rates of all their workers at least 5¢ per hour and, in addition, are paying any one of the following:

(1) A minimum wage of 55¢ per hour for all workers except learners and handicapped.

(2) A premium of 5¢ per hour for all hours worked on the third shift which shall be operated no less than 10% of the man hours worked on the first and second shifts combined during the second quarter of 1945, or

(3) A minimum of one week's paid vacation per year.

(b) Any producer who is qualified to charge the maximum prices in the higher band is authorized to collect, in connection with existing contracts or deliveries already made (but only if he lawfully reserved that right), the difference between the maximum price prevailing on June 1, 1945, and the maximum price in the higher band. The amount which he may so collect is limited, however, as follows:

(1) In the case of sales and deliveries made pursuant to Supplementary Order 114, to 4%;

(2) In the case of sales and deliveries made pursuant to Revised Supplementary Order 114 to the applicable percentage set forth in Column II of section 5 of that revised supplementary order.

(c) A producer who is not qualified to charge the maximum prices in the higher band shall not charge or collect any more than the maximum prices in the lower band, notwithstanding any reservation or certification made by him under Supplementary Order 114 or Revised Supplementary Order 114.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this supplementary order has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

SECTION 1. Who may apply. Any manufacturer whose total dollar volume of current sales consists 85% or more of commodities which are designated in section 2 and are processed in whole or major part by him from cotton fiber, wool fiber, or flax fiber (or any combination thereof), may apply for adjustment of his maximum prices if he is currently earning less on his net worth than the minimum return set forth in this order.

SEC. 2. Designated commodities. The commodities included in this order are those covered by Revised Price Schedule or Maximum Price Regulation Nos.[1] 7, 11, 33, 35, 39, 58, 89, 118, 127, 163, 221, 595, and spun, twisted, braided, woven or knitted articles when made in whole or major part of cotton, wool or flax (or any combination thereof), covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation.[2]

SEC. 3. Amount of the adjustment. An adjustment will be granted when, and to the extent, necessary to permit the applicant to realize currently on his net worth the same percentage return as he realized on the average in the years 1936 through 1939, subject to the following qualifications:

(a) If his return in those years was greater than 6%, the adjustment will limit the return to 6%.

(b) If his return in those years was less than 3%, the adjustment will yield a return of 3%.

(c) If he was not in business during these four years, the adjustment will yield a return of 3%.

(d) Profit figures prior to deduction of all income and excess profit taxes will be calculated in relation to net worth.

(e) The earnings of other companies which in whole or major part, own or are owned by, or are under common majority ownership with the applicant, will be taken into consideration in determining whether, and to what extent, an adjustment should be granted.

(f) In determining the relationship of profit to net worth, the following items will be excluded from costs and expenses:

(1) Expenses which are seasonal, non-recurring, temporary or due to a reduction in volume of production below the normal economical capacity of the applicant's plant.

(2) Any wage or salary payments which, under the stabilization laws, may not be taken into account by the Administrator.

(3) Any amount paid, or obligation incurred, as a fine or civil penalty, or in settlement of any liability, on account of violation of any regulation of the Office of Price Administration.

(4) Any amount paid by the applicant for commodities or services in excess of the applicable maximum prices established by the Office of Price Administration.

(5) Items, including provisions for reserves, which are not properly chargeable as operating costs or expenses during the operating period under generally accepted accounting methods.

SEC. 4. Form of adjustment. Adjustments will ordinarily take the form of a uniform percentage increase over prevailing ceiling prices for all the products manufactured by the applicant which are covered by this order. The Administrator may, however, provide for increases of greater amounts on certain commodities to be offset by lesser increases or no increases on other commodities if, in his judgment, such action will result in a price structure which is better balanced or in better accord with the purposes of the stabilization program.

SEC. 5. Where and how to apply. Applications must be filed with the Adjustment Section, Consumer Goods Price Division, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the filing requirements set forth in Article III of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[3] In addition to the information there called for, an applicant must file the following:

(a) Data for the years 1936–1939 as called for by the Office of Price Administration form No. 403–50 (Base Period Financial Report).

(b) Balance sheets, surplus analysis, and profit and loss statements for the calendar year 1945 or the fiscal year ending in 1945 and for the most recent interim accounting period.[4]

(c) Detailed data showing that 85% or more of applicant's current dollar volume of sales are commodities which are designated in Section 2 and are processed in whole or major part by him from flax, wool or cotton fiber, or any combination thereof.

(d) If raw cotton is a cost factor in the applicant's operations, he shall state, for the period covered by his most recent interim accounting statement, the typical grade and staple and the number of pounds of raw cotton consumed by him in the manufacture of the commodities covered by this order.

(e) If any approved wage increases are not fully reflected in the most recent interim accounting statement, the applicant shall also file an adjusted interim profit and loss statement giving full effect to such wage increases, explaining in detail the basis for the adjustment.

SEC. 6. Denial of adjustments. Ceiling price adjustments may be denied, notwithstanding the other provisions of this order, in any case where the Price Administrator has determined that the granting of an adjustment would result in increased prices for commodities not subject to price control, improperly divert raw material supplies from other uses, or otherwise imperil effective compliance with or endanger the purposes of the stabilization laws.

SEC. 7. Reports of operations after adjustment. Within four months after the effective date of an adjustment granted under this order, the manufacturer receiving the adjustment shall file with the Adjustment Section, Consumer Goods Price Division, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., a balance sheet, surplus analysis and a profit and loss statement covering the first three calendar months of his operations under the order. The adjusted ceiling prices may be modified or revoked, if, in the judgment of the Administrator, the report discloses that the adjustment as originally authorized was not warranted. Nothing in this section, however, shall be construed to restrict the usual power of the Administrator to modify or revoke an order of adjustment at any time.

SEC. 8. Adjustable pricing. Any manufacturer may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no manufacturer may, unless specifically authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to § 8305.9 Easements having no commercial value. Any Government agency may, with or without consideration, dispose of an easement to the owner of the land subject to the easement when such agency shall determine that the easement has no commercial value and is no longer needed: Provided, That, when any such easement shall have been acquired for a substantial consideration such disposal shall be made only for a reasonable value, taking into consideration any portion of the purchase price paid for severance damages.

§ 8305.10 Duties of owning and disposal agencies—(a) General. Upon receipt by a disposal agency of a declaration, it shall undertake immediately to dispose of the property covered by the declaration in accordance with the requirements of the act and of this part.

(b) Care and handling. When any surplus real property is assigned to a disposal agency, the disposal agency shall have responsibility for the care and handling of such property pending its disposition, except to the extent that such responsibility has been or may be postponed by the Administrator pursuant to the authority vested in him by section 11 (d) of the act. In discharge of this responsibility the disposal agency shall, upon receipt of a declaration of surplus real property, immediately contact the owning agency to work out mutually satisfactory arrangements for the disposal agency's assumption of the custody and control of, and accountability for, the property covered by such declaration. Such assumption shall be completed within sixty (60) days after the disposal agency receives the declaration, unless additional time is allowed by the Administrator. Pending the assumption of custody and control of the property by the disposal agency, the owning agency may lease it or grant a permit to place it in productive use, Provided, That such lease or permit shall be revocable at the will of the Government agency having jurisdiction. If arrangements are not made by lease or use permit for the care and maintenance of the property pending assumption of custody by the disposal agency, the owning agency shall take necessary steps to insure its reasonable preservation and safety.

(c) Improvements. Disposal agencies shall make repairs necessary for the preservation and maintenance of the property, but no funds shall be expended by disposal agencies for improvement of real property declared to them as surplus or for the erection of structures thereon unless such expenditures are authorized by the Administrator.

(d) Transfer of title papers, documents, etc. Upon request of the disposal agency, the owning agency shall immediately supply the disposal agency with the originals or true copies of all information and documents pertaining to the surplus real property in the possession of the owning agency and copies of which have not been filed with the declaration. These shall include appraisal reports, abstracts of titles, tax receipts, deeds, affidavits of title, copies of judgment in condemnation proceedings and all other title papers relating to the property. All such papers and documents which may still be needed by the owning agency shall be returned to it as soon as the needs of the disposal agency have been satisfied. The disposal agency may transfer to the purchaser of surplus real property, as a part of the disposal transaction, any abstract of title which relates to the property being transferred and which is no longer needed either by the owning or the disposal agency. The terms upon which such transfer shall be made may be fixed by the disposal agency.

§ 8305.11 Priorities[3]—(a) Order of priority. In disposing of surplus real property, disposal agencies shall recognize the following priorities:

(1) Government agencies shall be accorded first priority to acquire all classes of surplus real property for their use: Provided, That Reconstruction Finance Corporation, successor to Smaller War Plants Corporation, shall have such priority to acquire any such surplus property ocable at the will of the Government for its use and for resale as provided in section 18 (e) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944.

[2] SPA Reg. 1 (10 F.R. 14064).

[3] For an aid in ascertaining priorities and their order see priority chart in Exhibit C.

(2) State or local governments shall be accorded second priority as to all classes of surplus real property. Any State or local government which has lost a highway or street over surplus section 23 real property because of Government acquisition or action shall be accorded a special priority, prior to all other State or local governments, to permit it to re-establish such highway or street. This right shall extend to the original right-of-way and any new or additional rights-of-way needed to re-establish the street or highway on a new or more adequate location.

(3) A former owner shall be accorded third priority as to any surplus section 23 real property acquired from him by any Government agency after December 31, 1939. This priority shall relate to property which is substantially the identical tract acquired by the Government from the owner. If this tract is not available to the former owner or is not desired by him because it is no longer suitable for the purpose for which it was used when acquired by the Government, he may be offered substitute property. Such substitute property shall be in the same area, be classified as suitable for the use for which the original tract was used when acquired and otherwise be similar to the original tract. With respect to any substitute property thus made available to him the former owner shall be accorded a priority subordinate only to the priorities of Government agencies, State or local governments, a former owner or a tenant of a former owner of the substitute property. Acquisition of a substitute tract shall extinguish the priority of the former owner with respect to the original tract. Where only a portion of an original tract acquired from a former owner is declared surplus and the circumstances indicate that the remainder of such former owner's original tract will be declared surplus within a reasonable time, the disposal agency, without affecting the priorities of Government agencies or State and local governments, may grant the former owner a priority to the portion first declared surplus and extend the same to a date ninety (90) days from the date notice is forwarded to the former owner of the availability of the entire original or substantially identical tract acquired from him.

(4) A tenant of a former owner, who was in possession of agricultural section 23 real property at the time the same was acquired by any Government agency after December 31, 1939, shall be accorded fourth priority with respect to substantially the same property occupied by him as tenant at the time of such acquisition.

(5) A veteran, and the spouse and children (in that order) of a person who died while in the active military or naval service of the United States on or after September 16, 1940, shall be accorded a priority as to all surplus section 23 real property classified by the Administrator as suitable for agricultural, residential or small business purposes. This priority shall be subordinated to all the priorities described in subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph.

(6) Owner-operators shall be accorded a priority with respect to all surplus section 23 real property classified by the Administrator as suitable for agricultural use. This priority shall be subordinate to the priorities described in subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph.

(7) Nonprofit institutions shall be accorded a priority with respect to all surplus real property. This priority shall be subordinate to the priorities described in subparagraphs (1) through (6) of this paragraph.

(b) Extent of priorities. The priorities of Government agencies, State or local governments and nonprofit institutions are continuing priorities which are not exhausted because of their effective exercise with respect to a given piece of property. The priority of a veteran, the spouse and children of a deceased serviceman, or an owner-operator ceases to exist after it has once been effectively exercised with respect to one appropriate unit. The priority of a former owner or tenant is limited to the particular property as described in paragraph (a) (3) and (4) of this section.

(c) Transfer of priorities and transmission on death. No assignment or transfer of a priority shall be recognized, but the priority of a former owner may be exercised through an agent duly authorized in writing where the priority holder is so situated that he cannot exercise it in person. Upon the death of a veteran or former owner his spouse or children (in that order) shall succeed to his priority rights. The priority right of a tenant shall be extinguished by his death.

(d) Time and method of exercise. The time for exercise of priorities shall be a period of ninety (90) days after the date notice of availability is first published, as required by § 8305.12 (c) (2), or such additional period as the Administrator may allow when necessary or appropriate to facilitate a sale of the property to a former owner entitled to priority: Provided, however, That property may be disposed of prior to the expiration of such period pursuant to the provisions of § 8305.12 (e) or § 8305.12 (n) hereof. Within such period the priority holder shall indicate an intention to exercise the priority by submitting to the disposal agency a written offer to purchase, accompanied by such deposit as the disposal agency may require. When, however, an offer cannot be made because the disposal agency lacks necessary information on price, units or other matters, it shall be sufficient if the priority holder files a written statement of his desire to acquire the property or one or more appropriate units thereof. As soon as the necessary information becomes available (whether during or after the priority period or any extension thereof), those who have filed such statements shall be so advised and given an opportunity to make an offer. Veterans, the spouse and children of deceased servicemen, and owner-operators may offer to purchase any or all units offered for sale. The offer of a Government agency or of a State or local government shall be in the form of a written application in duplicate requesting that the property be held for disposal to it. Such application shall state the price that applicant is willing to pay for the property or that a transfer without reimbursement or transfer of funds is authorized by law, and give all pertinent facts pertaining to the applicant's need for the property. If the applicant shall require time to acquire funds or authority to take the property without reimbursement or transfer of funds, it shall so state and indicate the length of time needed for that purpose. Upon receipt of an application with such a statement the disposal agency shall forward a copy of the same to the Administrator. The Administrator will review the application and determine what time (if any) shall be allowed applicant to conclude the acquisition of the property and will advise the disposal agency and the applicant of such determination. During the time thus allowed the property may not be disposed of unless the priority period has expired and applicant's price (where it is seeking to acquire the property on a reimbursable basis) is less than the maximum price it may be charged and a higher price has been offered by another person.

(e) Failure to offer full amount or to exercise in time. Priorities of Government agencies and State or local governments shall not expire because they are not exercised within the priority period, but an offer by such a priority holder made after the expiration of the priority period shall be disregarded if a contract to sell the property to another has previously been entered into. Priorities of all others not exercised during the priority period shall expire upon the termination of such period and the disposal agency shall certify that it has complied with the requirements of § 8305.12 (c) (2) and (3) and, if such is the case, that no person has attempted during the priority period to exercise the priority of a former owner, a tenant, a veteran or the spouse and children of a deceased serviceman. A certified copy of such certification shall be given to any purchaser of the property at the time of transfer. The disposal agency may in its discretion permit veterans, or the spouse and children of deceased servicemen, or owner-operators to make offers after the priority period and be considered on the same basis as if they had exercised their priority during the priority period, but such action on the part of a disposal agency shall not be regarded as extending the priority period. In order to exercise his priority, a priority offeror shall bid the maximum price which he may be charged. If his bid is less than his maximum price, such bid shall be treated as a nonpriority offer.

§ 8305.12 Disposal methods and principles—(a) Descriptions, surveys and subdivisions. The disposal agency shall obtain the full and correct legal description of the property to be disposed of and take the steps necessary to determine its exact location and area. Surveys shall be made, when necessary, and markers or monuments placed upon the ground. For disposal to others than Government agencies, State or local governments, former owners or tenants, surplus section 23 real property shall be subdivided by the disposal agency into appropriate units for disposal. Section 23 real property classified as suitable for agricultural use shall be subdivided by the disposal agency into economic family-size units wherever practicable. The size of such units may vary according to the conditions and farming practices in the locality where the land is situated. Section 23 real property not classified as suitable for agricultural use shall be subdivided into such units as seem suitable in view of the character of the property, the use or uses to which it may be put and the possibilities of giving veterans and those who will use the property personally a fair opportunity to acquire and advantageously utilize the property. Plans for such subdividing shall be developed immediately after the disposal agency receives the declaration of surplus. The actual work of subdividing shall be carried forward as rapidly as practicable in view of all the circumstances, with effort made to complete the task at the earliest possible date after the expiration of the priority period. Subdivision may be delayed if it appears that the property will be absorbed by the priorities of Government agencies, State or local governments, former owners or tenants.

(b) Evaluation and appraisal. All surplus real property shall be valued at its current market value. This value is the highest price the property will bring in terms of money if offered for sale in the open market with reasonable time to find a purchaser buying with knowledge of the uses and purposes to which it is adapted and for which it is capable of being used. To determine such value the disposal agency shall have the property appraised by experienced and qualified appraisers familiar with the types of property to be appraised by them. They may be staff appraisers of the disposal agency, individuals employed on a loan reimbursable basis from other Federal agencies or independent appraisers in private business. All appraisal reports shall contain the appraiser's certificate that he has no interest, direct or indirect, in the property or sale or disposition thereof.

(c) Notice and advertisement—(1) Wide publicity. The disposal agency shall avail itself of all suitable means to give wide publicity to the availability for disposal of surplus real property.

(2) Publication of notice. Upon receipt of a declaration of surplus real property the disposal agency shall promptly and widely publicize the same, giving information adequate to inform interested persons of the general nature of the property and its possible uses. Such publicity shall be by public advertising, and may also include press releases, display advertisements, and any other appropriate means which it is customary to use for advertising notices of sale. Such public advertising shall consist of a sale notice containing substantially the matters set forth in Exhibit A and shall be published at least three (3) times during the ninety (90) days following the date such notice is first published at approximate intervals of twenty-one (21) days, unless the property has been disposed of pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (e) or paragraph (n) hereof.

(3) Notice by mail. At the time of the first publication of the notice required by subparagraph (2) of this paragraph the disposal agency shall also send a copy of the notice by mail to all Government agencies listed in Exhibit B, to the State and the political subdivision in which the property is located, and to the former owner when he is entitled to priority. The notice to the former owner shall be sent by registered mail to his last known address with return receipt requested.

(4) Additional notice. A disposal agency which has decided to accept offers after the priority period from veterans and the spouse and children of deceased servicemen and owner-operators who have not exercised their priority during such period, may give such additional notice to such persons as the disposal agency shall deem proper.

(d) Information available to purchasers. Within thirty (30) days after notice is first published as required by paragraph (c) of this section, or as soon thereafter as possible, every effort shall be made to have available in the office of the officer having charge of the disposal all necessary information concerning the property. This shall include the appraised value of the property, the unit sizes in which the property will be sold to various classes of purchasers, the priorities and the time and method of exercising them, the maximum prices which may be charged different priority buyers (see paragraph (h) of this section) and all other terms and conditions of sale. Any person shall be entitled, upon request, to receive such information or have access thereto at all reasonable times, as well as information concerning offers, exercises of priorities and sales that have been made at the time of the inquiry.

(e) Offers and procedure thereon. During the ninety (90) day priority period, the disposal agency shall receive offers from priority and nonpriority buyers; but no offers shall be accepted until the expiration of such priority period except in the following cases:

(1) Where an immediate transfer is requested by one of the armed forces prior to the conclusion of peace, its need shall be recognized as paramount, and a transfer may be made without notice to other Government agencies.

(2) Where an immediate transfer is requested by a Government agency other than as provided in subparagraph (1) above, a transfer or disposal may be made to it after ten (10) days' written notice of availability has been given to all Government agencies listed in Exhibit B, and notice of availability has been published one or more times, the first time at least ten (10) days prior to such transfer, in a newspaper published or having general circulation in the county in which the property is located, Provided, That no acceptable offer has been received from a holder of an equal priority showing a greater need for the property.

(3) Where an immediate disposal is requested by a State or local government or, except as to section 23 real property, by a nonprofit institution, a disposal may be made after ten (10) days' written notice of availability has been given to all Government agencies listed in Exhibit B and notice of availability has been published one or more times, the first time at least ten (10) days prior to such disposal, in a newspaper published or having general circulation in the county in which the property is located, Provided, That no acceptable offer has been received from a holder of a higher priority or from a holder of an equal priority showing a greater need for the property, and Provided further, That such disposal is approved by the Administrator.

(f) Disposal provisions—(1) Terms and conditions of disposal. Disposals generally shall be of the entire interest of the Government and for cash; but shall be made upon such terms and conditions as the disposal agency may deem necessary to protect the interests of the Government and carry out the requirements of this part.

(2) Granting of easements. A disposal agency may grant easements in or over real property, Provided, That the prior approval of the Administrator shall have been obtained where such easements affect the value of the property and, in such cases, the granting of the easements shall be for a consideration that is fair and reasonable, or without compensation when authorized by law.

(3) Leases or occupancy permits. The disposal agency may lease or grant a permit on surplus property to place it in productive use pending disposition, Provided, That such lease shall be revocable at the will of such disposal agency; and may also, with the approval of the Administrator, grant irrevocable leases where such action would be in the best interest of the Government and meet the objectives of the act.

(4) Renewal of leases and purchase of outstanding interests. The disposal agency may renew any lease in which the Government is lessee relating to surplus nonindustrial real property and shall assume and carry out any valid obligation which may have been entered into by the owning agency. The disposal agency as such shall not by exercise of any option or otherwise purchase nonindustrial real property for resale or lease without the prior written approval of the Administrator.

(g) Form of transfer. Deeds or instruments of transfer (other than leases) shall be in the form approved by the Attorney General. Transfers shall be by quitclaim deed unless the disposal agency finds that a warranty deed is necessary to obtain a reasonable price for the property or to render the title marketable and the use of such a deed is recommended and approved by the Attorney General as provided in the act.

(h) Prices; donations—(1) General requirements. The purchasers mentioned in subparagraphs (2), (3), (4) and (5) of this paragraph shall in no event be charged more than the prices at which they are entitled to purchase under the provisions of such subparagraphs. On sales or disposals to all others it shall be the duty of the disposal agency to obtain the highest competitive price actually obtainable. No sale or disposal shall be made at a price which is more than twenty-five (25) per centum below the current market value until such sale or disposal has been reviewed and approved by the Administrator, unless that price is the maximum price which may be charged the purchaser.

(2) Former owner and tenant. Persons purchasing surplus real property pursuant to the priority of a former owner or tenant of a former owner shall be entitled to purchase at the lower of (i) the current market value or (ii) the price for which the property was acquired by the Government adjusted to reflect any increase or decrease in the value of such property resulting from action by the United States.

(3) Government agencies, State or local governments, nonprofit institutions and owner-operators. Government agencies shall be entitled to acquire surplus real property at a price equal to the fair value. State or local governments, nonprofit institutions, and owner-operators shall be entitled to acquire surplus real property at a price equal to the current market value. State or local governments purchasing rights-of-way for highways and streets, pursuant to the priority provided for in § 8305.11 (a) (2) shall be entitled to purchase the same at a rate of compensation not exceeding that paid for it by the Government. Government agencies shall be entitled to acquire property without charge where a transfer without reimbursement or transfer of funds is authorized by law. The disposal agency shall make such transfers of real property to Government agencies without reimbursement or transfer of funds whenever a transfer on such terms by the owning agency by which such property was declared surplus would be authorized by law to be made to the agency desiring such property.

(4) Veterans. Veterans and the spouse and children of deceased servicemen shall be entitled to purchase surplus real property at a price fixed by the disposal agency after taking into consideration the current market value, the character of the property, and, if income-producing, the estimated earning capacity thereof.

(5) Disposals for educational or health purposes. State or local governments or educational or public-health institutions seeking to acquire surplus real property for educational use or to promote and protect the public health may, with the approval of the Administrator, acquire such property at the current market value less any discount allowed because of the benefit which has accrued or may accrue to the United States by such use; Provided, That no such discounts may be allowed to any nonprofit institutions which are not exempt from taxation under section 101 (6) of the Internal Revenue Code. Applications for such discounts shall be filed with the Administrator and shall indicate with reasonable completeness the nature of the contemplated use of the property, the basis for claiming preferential treatment, a full description of the applicant, and the ways in which and the extent to which the United States will be benefited by the proposed use. Each such application shall be accompanied by a certificate by an authorized official of the buyer that the buyer is a State or local government or that it is a nonprofit institution as defined in § 8305.2 (b) (4) and that the property is being acquired for educational or health purposes. The application also shall be accompanied by a statement from the disposal agency setting forth such information as the disposal agency is able to secure with respect to the applicant and the contemplated use by such applicant, and the disposal agency's estimate of the current market value of the property. After considering the application and any additional evidence deemed appropriate, including additional information required from the disposal agency or the applicant, the Administrator shall notify the disposal agency of his decision on the application, certifying the amount of the discount granted and directing the terms and conditions of the disposal, including provisions for the reversion of the property to the United States if the buyer ceases to use it for educational or health purposes.

(6) Donations. Surplus real property may be donated only to government agencies, State or local governments or nonprofit institutions organized and operated for educational or charitable purposes and only when the disposal agency finds that the property either (i) has no commercial value or (ii) that the cost of its care and handling and disposition would exceed the estimated proceeds.

Before making any donation, however, the disposal agency shall in all cases obtain the prior approval of the Administrator. To obtain such approval the disposal agency shall submit to the Administrator a copy of its findings, together with any supporting evidence and a full description of any donation that may be proposed.

(i) Acceptance of offers. Upon the expiration of the priority period designated in § 8305.11 (d) the disposal agency shall proceed with the acceptance of offers, except to the extent that delay is necessary to obtain offers from priority holders who filed statements of their desire to purchase during the priority period. Offers from priority holders at their respective maximum prices shall be accepted in the order of their priority. If there are several acceptable offers at the same price from offerors in the same priority group, the offer to be accepted from that group shall be selected as provided in paragraph (k) of this section. If offers have been received from persons having no priority and there is no acceptable offer from a person holding a priority, only the highest of such offers may be accepted by the disposal agency. If there are several acceptable nonpriority offers at the same price, the one to be accepted shall be selected by lot. Disposal agencies may reject any offer which is for a price below the current market value other than an offer from a priority holder for the maximum price which can be charged the offeror. When a veteran, the spouse and children of a deceased serviceman or an owner-operator shall have made offers for more than one unit, only one of the offers of such offeror shall be accepted.

(j) Proof of priority status. Before a disposal agency shall dispose of surplus real property on the basis of the priority claimed by the offeror, it shall require satisfactory proof of the priority status, identity or authority of the person making the offer.

(k) Selection of offers from among same priority group. If equal offers are received for the same property during the priority period from two or more offerors of the same priority group, the offer which shall be accepted shall be selected in accordance with subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

(1) In the case of Government agencies, State or local governments or nonprofit institutions the selection shall be determined on the basis of need. If the matter cannot be determined by agreement between the claimants, the disposal agency shall report the matter in writing to the Administrator, setting forth the names of the competing claimants, a summary of their respective claims, a description of the property involved, and the recommendations, if any, of the disposal agency, together with any statements in writing which the claimants or any of them may wish to file with the Administrator. The Administrator shall review the matter and report his determination to the disposal agency. The Administrator's determination shall be final for all purposes.

(2) With respect to all other priority groups the selection shall be made by lot. Drawings shall be conducted openly and fairly. If a veteran, the spouse and children of a deceased serviceman or an owner-operator is selected for more than one unit, he shall elect in writing which one he shall take and thereupon the right to purchase the remaining unit or units of property shall go to the remaining applicants in the particular priority group in the order in which their names are drawn.

(l) Notice to unsuccessful bidders; nonperformance by successful bidder. When an offer for surplus real property has been accepted, the disposal agency shall notify the unsuccessful bidders of such acceptance and return their deposits to them. If performance of the contract of the successful bidder is not completed, or if a Government agency or State or local government fails to complete its acquisition of the property after having it held for the time allowed by the Administrator, the disposal agency shall promptly notify by mail all those who made unsuccessful offers during the priority period or any time allowed thereafter that if they renew their offers within fifteen (15) days from the date of mailing of the notice they will be reconsidered on the same basis on which they would have been considered had the offer accepted not been received in the first instance.

(m) Absence of acceptable offers; methods of sale. If no acceptable offer is received during the priority period or none results from a statement filed during the priority period, or if no acceptable offer is renewed after the giving of notice under the circumstances provided for in paragraph (l) of this section, the disposal agency shall proceed to dispose of the property by negotiated sale, auction or other suitable method. Such disposals shall be subject to the price restrictions of paragraph (h) (1) of this section.

(n) Disposal of leasehold interests and improvements by disposal agency. (1) Where real property held only under lease or other similar right of occupancy, with or without improvements thereon, is declared surplus, the disposal agency, after giving ten (10) days' notice of availability to all Government agencies listed in Exhibit B and ten (10) days' notice in a newspaper published or having general circulation in the county in which the property is located, may, in the absence of a proposal to take over and assume the lease submitted by a Government agency or a State or local government, cancel the lease, if legally permissible, and dispose of any structures or improvements thereon by any one of the following methods: (i) By transfer to the lessor or owner of the premises in full or partial satisfaction of any obligation to restore the premises, provided the lessor or owner shall pay for any excess value; (ii) By disposition in accordance with contractual commitments, except where demolition or removal would be required; (iii) By sale intact; (iv) By transfer of the responsibility for demolition and disposal to the disposal agency designated to perform demolition functions.

(2) In the case of Government-owned land, the disposal agency shall, wherever practicable, dispose of improvements and fixtures with the land. If this is not practicable, the disposal agency may dispose of the improvement separately from the land by sale intact or by transfer of the responsibility for demolition and disposal to the disposal agency designated to perform demolition functions.

(o) Disposal of personalty. Where equipment and supplies are assigned for disposition in conjunction with real property, they may be disposed of with the real property, and any discount applicable to the real property shall apply also to the equipment and supplies. The disposal agency shall hold the real property and personalty intact until such time as the disposal agency determines that the retention of the personalty will not facilitate the disposition of the real property, Provided, That in no event shall the personal property be separated from the real property until such time as such property has been offered for disposition intact and the period for the submission of bids has expired. Upon such determination by the disposal agency, the declaration covering the personal property shall be forwarded to the agency designated in Part 8301 [1] to dispose of such personalty, with notice to the Administrator, and the real property may be readvertised for disposition without the personalty.

§ 8305.13 Records and reports. Owning and disposal agencies shall prepare and maintain such records as will show full compliance with the provisions of this part as to each disposal transaction. The information in such records shall be available at all reasonable times for public inspection. Reports shall be prepared and filed with the Administrator in such manner as may be specified by orders issued under this part, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

§ 8305.14 Regulations by agencies to be reported to the Administrator. Each owning agency and each disposal agency shall file with the Administrator copies of all regulations, orders and instructions of general applicability which it may issue in furtherance of the provisions, or any of them, of this part.

This revision of this part shall become effective March 6, 1946.

[1] A State or local government, which has lost a highway or street over surplus section 23 real property because of Government acquisition and action, has a special priority, ahead of all other State or local governments, to permit it to re-establish such highway or street. This right extends to the original rights-of-way and any new or additional rights-of-way needed to re-establish the street or highway on a new or more adequate location.

[3] This priority depends on the discretion of the disposal agency.

[2] Section 23 real property means property consisting of land, together with any fixtures and improvements thereon, located outside of the District of Columbia, but does not include war housing, industrial plants, factories, or similar structures and facilities, or the sites thereof, or land which the Administrator determines is essential to the use of any of the foregoing.

STANDARD GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING OF DECLARATION OR APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 12th day of March 1946.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration or application (or both) has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Standard Gas and Electric Company, a registered holding company and a subsidiary of Standard Power and Light Corporation, also a registered holding company.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than March 28, 1946, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request and the nature of his interest, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. At any time thereafter, said declaration or application, as filed or as amended, may be granted, as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to said act. Any such request should be addressed: Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

All interested persons are referred to said declaration or application, which is on file in the office of the said Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized below:

Standard Gas proposes to sell to Theodore E. Shepard (a) 50,000 shares of the par value of $100 (money of the United States of America), per share, of the capital stock of Empresa de Servicios Publicos de los Estados Mexicanos, S. A. (Empresa), a corporation organized under the laws of the Republic of Mexico, consisting of 15,000 shares described as "Fully Paid Series" and the remaining 35,000 shares described as "Assessable Series" (40% assessed and paid) and (b) a claim for indebtedness held by Standard Gas against Empresa in the principal sum of $428,495.48 (payable in United States currency), without interest. The consideration to be paid for such stock and claim of indebtedness is $858,000 cash. The 50,000 shares of capital stock of Empresa proposed to be sold are all of the issued and outstanding shares of capital stock of Empresa and, together with the said claim of indebtedness, constitute the entire investment of Standard Gas in Empresa. The sale of such stock and claim of indebtedness will be made pursuant to the provisions of an agreement of sale, dated February 15, 1946, between Standard Gas and Theodore E. Shepard.

Standard states that three bids were received for the purchase of the securities pursuant to invitations mailed by the Company to fourteen interested parties requesting the submission of offers for the purchase of said securities, one of which bids was withdrawn before final action was taken by the Company upon the bids. Standard has represented that the bid of the proposed purchaser is the most advantageous of the bids received.

Standard Gas and Electric Company represents that such sale is in compliance with the Commission's order of August 8, 1941, directing the Company, among other things, to dispose of its interest in Empresa de Servicios Publicos de los Estados Mexicanos, S. A., and requests that the Commission in its order permitting the declaration to become effective or granting the application find that such sale is necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act, and make the specifications and itemizations necessary in order that the provisions of sections 371 (b), 371 (e), and 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code shall be applicable.

[SO 133, Order 22]

STANDARD FURNITURE CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to Supplementary Order No. 133, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. The Standard Furniture Company of Herkimer, New York, may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for an article of wood commercial furniture which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article which has a properly established ceiling price in effect prior to November 28, 1944, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by 6.1 percent.

(2) The maximum price for an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order and which is comparable to the article whose maximum price has been adjusted by this order, shall be determined under the Third Pricing Method (§ 1499.157) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, using as the maximum prices of the comparable articles, the prices before the addition of any adjustment permitted by this order.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. A reseller who had a properly established maximum price in effect before this order was issued for an article covered by this order may add to that maximum price an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment charge authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier.

If the reseller did not have a properly established maximum price for the article in effect before this order was issued he shall first determine a maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges), and to that price he may add an adjustment charge in the same dollar-and-cents amount as the adjustment authorized by this order for, and which he has paid to, his supplier. To find his maximum price (exclusive of adjustment charges) for this purpose the reseller shall add to his invoice cost, less any adjustment charge stated on that invoice, the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Notification. At the time of or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale showing a price adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the methods established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted ceiling prices for resales of wood commercial furniture covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(d) Reports to be filed. The manufacturer shall file the report described in section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 133 with the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(e) Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(f) Effective date. This order shall become effective on March 13, 1946.

Issued this 12th day of March 1946.

Administrator.

Any insured bank may, in addition to the requirements of this part, use any proper advertising of insurance of its deposits. For example, as an addition to the official advertising statement, any insured bank may, at its option, use the following in any of its advertisements:

Deposits in this bank are insured with maximum insurance of $5,000 for each depositor

PART 602—GENERAL ORDERS AND DIRECTIVES

INFORMATION AND REPORTS TO BE FILED

It now appears that in order to effectuate the purposes of Executive Order No. 9332 (8 F.R. 5355) it will be necessary that the Solid Fuels Administrator for War obtain data concerning the production, shipment and distribution of Pennsylvania anthracite for the month of April 1946. Accordingly, § 602.876 of SFAW Order No. 29 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 602.876 Information and reports to be filed. Each producer and each wholesaler shall maintain appropriate records and shall file with the Solid Fuels Administration for War, Washington 25, D. PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 32, Direction 9]

SPECIAL INVENTORY RESTRICTIONS FOR MANUFACTURERS OF CERTAIN APPAREL

The following direction is issued pursuant to PR 32:

(a) Purpose. This direction contains special inventory rules for manufacturers of certain apparel. Its purpose is to assure prompt and continuous deliveries of such products for distribution to consumers, by preventing the accumulation by manufacturers of inventories which would be excessive, in view of the extremely urgent need for the products by purchasers. These special rules are more specific than the general rules in Priorities Regulation 32, and are controlling. They apply whether or not the materials from which the products are made are acquired with priorities assistance. However, when the products are made from materials acquired with ratings assigned under Order M-328B, the specific rules in that order are controlling. When a particular situation or action is not covered either by the rules in this direction or those in Order M-328B, the general rules in Priorities Regulation 32 still apply.

(b) Restrictions on receipts of production materials. Receipts of fabric, yarn and other materials for making products on List A of this direction are limited to the quantities permitted under Priorities Regulation 32.

(c) Restrictions on processing. (1) No manufacturer of any products on List A may cut, process, or otherwise alter any finished fabric or yarn made of cotton, synthetic fiber or wool, or their blends, for use as body fabric, body lining, or any other purpose in making any of such listed products, if his inventory of the material in its cut, processed, or otherwise altered shape or form is, or will be, more than a practicable minimum working inventory. This limitation applies whether the manufacturer does his own processing or has it done for his account by others. He may not exceed it by causing or permitting avoidable delays in transportation, storage, or processing, nor by putting or having put into process quantities of material which would exceed it, or which would give him a quantity of partly processed material or partly finished products greater than that which he can assemble and complete into finished products under the rules in this direction.

(2) In addition, no manufacturer of any products on List A may cut, process, or otherwise alter any finished fabric or yarn made of cotton, synthetic fiber, or wool, or their blends, or have any other person do so for him, for use as body fabric or body lining or any other purpose in making any of such products, if his inventory of the finished products is, or will be, more than the smaller of the following:

(i) A practicable minimum working inventory, or

(ii) The quantity of that product which he produced during the period of time indicated in List A. (Where a manufacturer has not been making a product, this limitation in (c) (2) (ii) does not apply during the 30 calendar days after his initial production of that product has begun.)

(3) "Finished product" includes all produces of the kinds on List A in a manufacturer's possession and all held for his account in a public warehouse or by any other person, on which the manufacturing processes have been completed, whether or not they have been sorted, pressed, labelled or packaged.

(4) In determining what is a practicable minimum working inventory of finished products, any inventory which is larger than that which a manufacturer has been maintaining in the immediate past (even where less than that permitted under paragraph (c) (2) (ii) above) is excessive, unless there are valid reasons why this is not so. For example, withholding of products in anticipation of increases in OPA ceiling prices is not a valid reason. Also, in the case of products which can be distributed very quickly by a manufacturer, an inventory not greater than the quantity produced in the period of a week or ten days may be a practicable minimum working inventory.

(5) If in any case a product on List A is designated on that list as a seasonal one, and a particular manufacturer must produce and stock it up in advance of the season because he is unable to make sales until the seasonal demand occurs, he may have an inventory larger than that specified in (c) (2) (ii) above, provided his inventory is no greater and is accumulated no further in advance than that which he would normally have in the ordinary course of his business to meet reasonably anticipated future seasonal requirements.

(6) The rules in this paragraph (c) apply for products on List A instead of the rule in paragraph (f) of Priorities Regulation 32.

(d) Other rules and regulations. The failure of a manufacturer to schedule his production in such a way that his finished products can be disposed of in accordance with applicable regulations of the Office of Price Administration and other governmental agencies does not relieve him from the restrictions in this direction.

(e) Adjusting purchase orders, production, and sales.—(1) Outstanding orders. If because of a change in operations, slowing of production, delayed delivery by a supplier, or any other change in requirements, a manufacturer who has ordered material for future delivery would, if he accepted delivery on the date specified, exceed the limits prescribed by this direction (or by Priorities Regulation 32), he must promptly adjust his outstanding orders, and, if necessary postpone or cancel them. Paragraph (h) of Priorities Regulation 32 describes what further deliveries may be accepted after his orders have been adjusted.

(2) Finished product inventories. If at the issuance of this direction a manufacturer of any products on List A has in inventory more than the amount permitted by paragraph (c) (2) (ii) of this direction, he must promptly, and in any event by April 1, 1946, either bring his inventory within the applicable limits by increasing his rate of sales or by reducing his rate of operations, or stop further production until his inventory is within the applicable limits. Similarly, manufacturers of products on List A must keep their inventories within the applicable limits by increasing rate of sales, or by reducing rate of operations.

(f) Other rules. The rules stated in Priorities Regulation 32 and other directions to it must also be observed with respect to products on List A, except as stated in this direction.

Issued this 13th day of March 1946.

LIST A—SPECIAL INVENTORY RESTRICTIONS ON MANUFACTURERS' INVENTORIES OF FINISHED PRODUCTS

The restrictions of this list apply to manufacturers' inventories of finished products of the types listed below.

Where a listing shows 30 days, for example, this means that his inventory of the finished product may not be greater than his production of that product during the period of 30 calendar days (either the immediate preceding 30 day period or his monthly average production of the preceding three calendar months). In no case may his inventory exceed a practicable minimum working inventory, when this is less than 30 days production.

Product:	Inventory limit (days)*
Men's and boys' suits	30
Men's and boys' separate trousers	30
Men's and boys' shirts (other than work and sport)	30
Men's and boys' sport and work shirts (Seasonal, see para. (c) (5))	30
Men's and boys' underwear (of knitted or woven fabric)	30
Women's hosiery, nylon and rayon	30

*Or a practicable minimum working inventory, whichever is less.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR RAYON CIVILIAN ITEMS

§ 3290.1201 Schedule J to Order M-328B—(a) Explanation. This schedule states the special rules in addition to those set forth in Order M-328B for manufacturers of civilian items manufactured from rayon fabric to get preference ratings for rayon fabric for delivery beginning in the fourth quarter of 1945 to make the items listed in this schedule. It also establishes set-asides for rayon fabrics other than marquisettes for these items and for over-the-counter sale as piece goods.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this schedule:

(1) "Fabrics," unless otherwise designated, means a woven fabric 12 inches or more in width.

(2) "Rayon fabric" means any fabric containing less than 25% wool by weight but of which the remaining fibers are more than 50% of synthetic fiber (staple or continuous filament) by weight. For example, a fabric containing 20% wool, 41% rayon, and 39% cotton is rayon.

(3) "Rayon item" means an item of which more than 50% of the fabric yardage incorporated in it, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings, is made of rayon fabric.

NOTE: Paragraphs (c), (d) and (e), formerly (d), (g) and (h), redesignated Mar. 12, 1946. Paragraph (i) deleted Mar. 12, 1946.

(c) General provisions. (1) Preference ratings assigned under this schedule may be used only to get rayon fabrics to make the rayon items specified in the preference rating schedule.

(2) The fabrics must be incorporated into an item produced for sale by the manufacturer at or below the lower of the following two prices:

(i) The price at which the manufacturer is permitted to sell the item under regulations of the Office of Price Administration; or

(ii) The price specified in the Maximum Price Column.

(3) A manufacturer who is not a base period manufacturer must comply with the provisions of paragraph (c) (6) of Order M-328B.

(4) A manufacturer who did not manufacture an item in the base period must state his proposed production by size assortment per dozen in the "Remarks" section of Form CPA-3732. If his application is granted, he must comply with these size assortments.

(d) Set-asides of rayon fabrics to fill rated or certified orders in first quarter of 1946. (1) Every producer of rayon fabric listed in a Fabric Set-aside Table whether he sells it in the grey or in the finished state or uses it to manufacture civilian items shall set aside during the quarter stated for the purpose shown in Columns III and IV yardages of that fabric equal to at least the percentage shown of the yardage he produced during the preceding quarter or of his estimated production in that quarter, whichever is greater. Any producer who does not deliver the full yardages required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of rayon fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter.

(2) Set-asides for civilian apparel. Only orders accompanied by Form CPA-4381 or Form CPA-4382 may be charged to the set-aside in Column III of Fabric Set-aside Table No. 1 or by Form CPA-4413 or Form CPA-4412, to the set-aside in Column III of Fabric Set-aside Table No. II. No producer need deliver or use to fill these orders more rayon fabric than his set-aside for that fabric.

(3) Set-asides for piece goods for over-the-counter sale. Only orders accompanied by Form CPA-4380 (for Fabric Set-aside Table No. I) or Form CPA-4414 (for Fabric Set-aside Table No. II) or the following certificate may be charged to the set-aside in column IV:

The undersigned certifies subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code that in the _____ quarter of 1946 (insert applicable quarter) he will deliver at retail as over-the-counter piece goods at not more than $1.25 a yard or his OPA ceiling price, whichever is lower, a yardage of rayon fabric at least equal to the yardage he orders for delivery in that quarter on orders bearing this certificate.

In addition the certificate must contain one of the following two sentences:

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more than 300 yards of rayon fabric.

or;

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more rayon fabric than 50% of the yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sale in the first quarter of 1943 (or 1944).

or (for the second quarter of 1946 only);

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more rayon fabric than the greatest yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sales in any quarter of 1945.

(4) When a producer has accepted orders accompanied by the applicable CPA forms to the extent of a set-aside for rayon fabric he may not require any customer to furnish any of these forms as a condition of filling additional orders for that fabric.

(5) Any person giving a certificate under this schedule, including the certificate set forth in paragraph (d) (3) above and the certificates on the applicable CPA forms must use or dispose of fabric he gets with that certificate in accordance with its terms.

(e) Deliveries by finished goods suppliers to fill rated or certified orders. (1) Every supplier of finished rayon fabric making the certification on Form CPA-4381 or CPA-4413 must, if possible, deliver during the applicable quarter on M-328B CC rated orders finished rayon fabric of the type covered by his purchase order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he orders for delivery in that quarter on orders accompanied by Form CPA-4381 or CPA-4413. Every supplier of finished rayon fabric making the certification on Form CPA-4380 or Form CPA-4414 must, if possible deliver during the applicable quarter to persons who furnish the certificate set forth in paragraph (d) (3) above, or to persons who certify that they will sell only on orders bearing that certificate, finished rayon fabric of the type covered by his purchase order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he orders for delivery in that quarter on orders accompanied by Form CPA-4380 or Form CPA-4414. In calculating the yardage of a particular fabric which he is required to deliver, the supplier of finished fabric may take into consideration actual processing loss in finishing the fabric. Any supplier who does not deliver the full yardage required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of finished rayon fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter.

(2) No supplier of finished rayon fabric is required to accept or fill M-328B CC rated or over-the-counter piece goods certified orders for a greater yardage of any type of finished rayon fabric listed on a Fabric Set-aside Table than the yardage he is required to deliver on those orders under paragraph (e) (1) above.

(3) Any supplier of finished fabric who does not use the certification in Forms CPA-4381 or CPA-4413 for rayon fabric must accept M-328B CC rated orders for that fabric in accordance with the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1. After a supplier of finished fabric uses Form CPA-4381 or Form CPA-4413 on any of his purchase orders for rayon fabric he must not extend to any supplier on orders for that fabric for delivery in the applicable quarter any CC ratings which he knows or has reason to believe were assigned under Order M-328B.

(4) Any finished goods supplier granted an authorization by the Civilian Production Administration under paragraph (i) of this order as amended January 18, 1946, may sell the yardage exempted by that authorization only to persons who give the following certification:

The undersigned certifies to the seller and to the Civilian Production Administration, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35(a) of the United States Criminal Code, that he will use the material covered by this purchase order only as linings for garments, or will deliver it only to persons who give this certificate.

Issued this 12th day of March 1946.

[Conservation Order M-328B, Schedule K, as Amended Mar. 12, 1946]

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR WOOL CIVILIAN ITEMS

§ 3290.120k Schedule K to Order M-328B—(a) Explanation. This schedule states the special rules in addition to those set forth in M-328B for manufacturers of civilian items manufactured from wool fabric to get preference ratings for wool fabric and for rayon and cotton component fabrics to make the items listed in this schedule. It also establishes set-asides for certain wool fabrics for these items.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this schedule:

(1) "Fabric" unless otherwise designated, means a woven or knitted fabric 12 inches or more in width.

(2) "Wool fabric" means any fabric incorporating 25% or more by weight of new, re-processed or re-used wool fiber except upholstery pile fabrics and floor coverings and blankets and felt. The term includes woolen and worsted fabrics.

(3) "Wool item" means an item of which 50% or more of the fabric yardage incorporated in it, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings, is made of woolen or worsted fabrics.

(4) "Tailor-to-the-trade" means a manufacturer who makes items to the individual measurements of the ultimate consumer, and who sells them to a distributor at a wholesale price.

(c) [Deleted Jan. 3, 1946.]

(d) General provisions. (1) Preference ratings assigned under this schedule may be used only to get wool fabrics listed on a Fabric Set-Aside Table to make the wool items specified in the preference rating schedule.

(2) The fabrics must be incorporated into an item produced for sale by the manufacturer at or below the lower of the following two prices:

(i) The price at which the manufacturer is permitted to sell the item under regulations of the Office of Price Administration.

(ii) The price specified in the maximum price column.

(3) A manufacturer who is not a base period manufacturer must comply with the provisions of paragraph (c) (6) of Order M-328B.

(4) A manufacturer who did not manufacture an item on the base period must state his proposed production by size assortment per dozen in the "Remarks" section of Form CPA-3732. If his application is granted, he must comply with these size assortments.

(5) Priorities assistance will be given for the procurement of rayon and cotton broad woven fabrics for linings, facings, bindings, stays, pockets and other components made of broad woven fabric for incorporation into the number of units for which priorities assistance is granted. Requests for this assistance shall be made on Form CPA-3732 in accordance with the instructions applicable to filling out that form. Manufacturers who are authorized to apply a CC rating to get wool fabrics for items under this schedule may immediately apply a CC rating to get the above components for those items, under the following rules. Applications for CC ratings for the second quarter of 1946 must include these components and must be filed at the time specified when the details of the program for that quarter are stated in an amendment to Order M-328B. This advance CC rating may only be used to get the yardage of component fabrics needed to produce the number of units of the item which can be made from the yardage of body fabric for which the manufacturer is entitled to use CC ratings assigned under M-328B. In placing CC rated orders for component fabric under this paragraph (d) (5) for delivery in the second quarter of 1946, manufacturers must file Form CPA-4412 with their purchase orders. Component fabrics purchased under this advance authorization, or on CC ratings assigned under Priorities Regulation 28 for components for items to be made from wool fabric delivered after January 1, 1946, shall be deducted by the manufacturer from the total quantity for which priorities assistance for component fabrics is granted on Form CPA-3732. If the applicant does not receive a grant for the entire quantity thus rated he shall upon notification of his grant by the Civilian Production Administration immediately unrate or cancel orders for any undelivered quantities which are in excess of his grant.

(6) Producers of wool woven fabric shall file Form CPA-1420 by April 10, 1946. Producers of wool knitted fabric need not file Form CPA-1420 but must report to the Textile Division, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C. by letter on or before April 10, 1946. This letter must state the yardage of each fabric listed on Fabric Set-aside Table No. II required to be set-aside to fill rated or certified orders under the provisions of paragraph (e) (1) below.

(7) A manufacturer of men's suits (item 14 in Preference Rating Schedule 1 and item 1 in Preference Rating Schedule 2) may use any fabric he obtains after January 1, 1946 with a CC rating assigned under this schedule to produce men's suits for sale at or below $22.50 or his OPA ceiling price, whichever is lower.

(e) Set-asides of wool fabrics to fill rated or certified orders. (1) Every producer of wool fabric listed in a Fabric Set-aside Table, whether he sells it or uses it to manufacture civilian items, shall set aside during the quarter stated, for ultimate delivery on M-328B CC rated orders, a yardage of that fabric equal to at least the percentage shown in Column IV of the yardage he produced during the preceding quarter or of his estimated production in that quarter, whichever is greater. Any producer who does not deliver the full yardages required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of wool fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter. No fabrics sold at more than the price specified in Column III may be charged to this set-aside.

(2) Only orders accompanied by Form CPA-4381 or Form CPA-4382 may be charged to the set-aside in Column IV of Fabric Set-aside Table No. I or by Form CPA-4413 or Form CPA-4412 to the set-aside in Column IV of Fabric Set-aside Table No. II. No producer need deliver or use to fill these orders (i) any wool fabric not listed on a Fabric Set-Aside Table; (ii) more of any fabric listed on a Fabric Set-Aside Table than his set-aside for that fabric.

(3) When a producer has accepted orders accompanied by the applicable CPA forms to the extent of a set-aside for any fabric he may not require any customer to furnish any of these forms as a condition of filling additional orders for that fabric.

(4) Any person giving a certificate under this schedule, including the certificates on the applicable CPA forms, must use or dispose of fabric he gets with that certificate in accordance with its terms.

(f) Deliveries by wool jobbers to fill rated orders. (1) Every wool jobber making the certification on Form CPA-4381 for the first quarter of 1946, or on Form CPA-4413 for the second quarter of 1946 must deliver during the applicable quarter wool fabric of the type covered by his order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he orders for delivery in that quarter on orders bearing that certificate. A wool jobber who does not deliver the full yardages required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of wool fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter.

(2) No wool jobber is required to accept or fill M-328B CC rated orders for a greater yardage of any type of wool fabric listed on a Fabric Set-aside Table for delivery in the applicable quarter than a yardage equal to all wool fabric of that type which he orders for delivery during that period on orders bearing the certificate on Form CPA-4381 or on Form CPA-4413.

(3) Any wool jobber who does not use the certification in Form CPA-4381 or Form CPA-4413 for a fabric must accept M-328B CC rated orders for that fabric in accordance with the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1. After a wool jobber uses Form CPA-4381 or Form CPA-4413 on any of his purchase orders for a fabric he must not extend to any supplier on orders for that fabric for delivery in the applicable quarter any CC ratings which he knows or has reason to believe were assigned under Order M-328B.

(4) A wool jobber may not use the certification on Form CPA-4381 to order for delivery in the first quarter of 1946 a yardage of wool fabric of any type listed on the Fabric Set-aside Table greater than 85% of the yardage of that type of fabric delivered to him in the fourth quarter of 1945. A wool jobber may not use the certification on Form CPA-4413 to order for delivery in the second quarter of 1946 a yardage of wool fabric of any type listed on Fabric Set-aside Table No. II greater than the yardage of that fabric ordered by him on Form CPA-4381 in the first quarter of 1946.

(g) Fourth quarter 1945 CC ratings for women's wool civilian items. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (f) (2) of M-328B, any undelivered CC rated orders for items numbered 1 through 13 inclusive, on Preference Rating Schedule No. 1 shall become unrated on January 4, 1946.

(h) Acceptance of rated orders—(1) If a supplier of wool fabric receives orders bearing CC ratings (assigned under this schedule) calling for delivery during the second quarter of 1946, he may hold them until April 15, 1946 before determining whether he is required to accept them. However, he must not actually reject any such CC rated orders for any fabric until such time as he has accepted CC rated orders for the yardage of that fabric he is required to set-aside.

(2) [Deleted Mar. 12, 1946]

(i) Special provisions for tailors-to-the-trade. The Civilian Production Administration will grant priorities assistance to manufacturers who are tailors-to-the-trade to get wool fabrics listed under Reference Nos. 2 and 2a on Fabric Set-Aside Table No. I and Reference No. 2 on Fabric Set-Aside Table No. II to make Item No. 1a on Preference Rating Schedule No. 2.

Issued this 12th day of March 1946.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

[Conservation Order M-328B, Schedule C, as Amended Mar. 12, 1946]

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR COTTON FABRICS FOR CIVILIAN APPAREL ITEMS

§ 3290.120c Schedule C to Order M-328B—(a) Explanation. This schedule

states the special rules in addition to those set forth in Order M–328B for manufacturers of civilian apparel made of cotton fabric to get preference ratings for fabric to make the items listed in this schedule. It also establishes set-asides for certain cotton fabrics for these items and for over-the-counter sale as piece goods.

(b) Definitions. (1) "Fabric", unless otherwise designated, means a woven fabric twelve inches or more in width.

(2) "Cotton fabric" means any fabric containing less than 25% wool by weight, but of which the remaining fibers are 50% or more cotton by weight.

(3) "Cotton item" means an item of which more than 50% of the fabric yardage incorporated in it, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings, is cotton fabric.

(c) Requirements for obtaining priorities assistance. (1) When a fabric is removed from the fabric column for any item, each manufacturer must immediately cancel or unrate any unfilled orders for that fabric which he placed with ratings assigned under this Schedule for that item.

(2) Whenever a fabric is added to a Preference Rating Schedule for any item, an applicant who has filed an application for that item need not file a new application, but may send a letter to the Civilian Production Administration, Textile Division, Washington 25, D. C., requesting authorization to use the new fabric in place of or in addition to fabrics previously applied for. Where the change is only in the sley of the fabric, the authorization to be issued by the Civilian Production Administration will give effect to such change and no letter is required. The letter must specify the item number, the description of the item, the complete description of all of the authorized fabrics which the applicant wishes to use during the quarter and the number of linear yards of each fabric for which priorities assistance is requested. Such letter should be mailed within five days of the issuance date of an amendment incorporating additional fabrics for an item.

(3) Whenever a Preference Rating Schedule is deleted, fabric obtained with CC ratings to make an item on that schedule must be used to make the item as shown on the Preference Rating Schedule before it was deleted.

(d) General provisions. (1) Preference ratings assigned under this schedule may be used only to get the particular cotton fabrics shown in the fabric column of the preference rating schedule to make the cotton items specified.

(2) The fabrics must be incorporated into an item produced for sale by the manufacturer at or below the lower of the following two prices:

(i) The price at which the manufacturer is permitted to sell the item under regulations of the Office of Price Administration; or

(ii) The price specified in the Maximum Price column.

(3) A manufacturer who is not a base period manufacturer must comply with the provisions of paragraph (c) (6) of M–328B.

(4) Manufacturers who did not manufacture an item in the base period must produce the item in the size assortments listed opposite each item in the size assortment column. Where 'normal industry practice' appears, the manufacturer should state his proposed sizes in the remarks section of Form CPA–3732. If his application is granted, he must comply with these size assortments.

(e) Set-asides of cotton fabrics to fill rated or certified orders. (1) Every producer of a cotton fabric listed in a Fabric Set-aside Table whether he sells it in the grey or finished state or uses it to manufacture civilian items shall set aside during the quarter stated for the purpose shown in Columns IV and V yardages of that fabric equal to at least the percentage shown of the yardage he produced during the preceding quarter or of his estimated production in that quarter, whichever is greater. Any producer who does not deliver the full yardages required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of cotton fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter.

(2) Set-asides for civilian apparel. Only orders accompanied by Form CPA–4381 or Form CPA–4382 may be charged to the set-aside in Column IV of Fabric Set-aside Table No. I or by Form CPA–4413 or Form CPA–4412 to the set-aside in Column IV of Fabric Set-aside Table No. II. No producer need deliver or use to fill these orders more of any fabric than his set-aside for that fabric.

(3) Set-asides for piece goods for over-the-counter sale. Only orders accompanied by Form CPA–4380 (for Fabric Set-aside Table No. 1) or Form CPA–4414 (for Fabric Set-aside Table No. II), or the following certificate may be charged to the set-aside in Column (V):

The undersigned certifies subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code that in the --- quarter of 1946 (insert applicable quarter) he will deliver at retail as over-the-counter piece goods, at not more than 50¢ a yard or his OPA ceiling price, whichever is lower, a yardage of cotton fabric at least equal to the yardage he orders for delivery in that quarter on orders bearing this certificate.

In addition the certificate must contain one of the following two sentences:

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of 1946 of a total of more than 300 yards of cotton fabric.

or

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of 1946 of a total of more cotton fabric than 50% of the yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sale in the first quarter of 1943 (or 1944)

or (for the second quarter of 1946 only)

He will not place orders bearing this certificate calling for delivery in this quarter of a total of more cotton fabric than the greatest yardage he purchased for over-the-counter piece goods sales in any quarter of 1945.

(4) When a producer has accepted orders accompanied by applicable CPA forms, to the extent of a set-aside for any fabric, he may not require any customer to furnish any of these forms as a condition of filling additional orders for that fabric.

(5) Any person giving a certificate under this schedule, including the certificate set forth in paragraph (e) (3) above and the certificates on applicable CPA forms, must use or dispose of fabric he gets with that certificate in accordance with its terms.

(f) Deliveries by finished goods suppliers to fill rated or certified orders. (1) Every supplier of finished cotton fabric making the certification on Form CPA–4381 or CPA–4413 must, if possible, deliver during the applicable quarter on M–328B CC rated orders finished cotton fabric of the type covered by his purchase order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he orders for delivery in that quarter on orders accompanied by Form CPA–4381 or CPA–4413. Every supplier of finished cotton fabric making the certification on Form CPA–4380 or Form CPA–4414 must if possible deliver during the applicable quarter to persons who furnish the certificate set forth in paragraph (e) (3) above, or to persons who certify that they will sell only on orders bearing that certificate, finished cotton fabric of the type covered by his purchase order in a yardage at least equal to the yardage which he orders for delivery in that quarter on orders accompanied by Form CPA–4380 or 4414. In calculating the yardage of a particular fabric which he is required to deliver, the supplier of finished fabric may take into consideration actual processing loss in finishing the fabric. Any supplier who does not deliver the full yardage required during the applicable quarter must deliver in the next quarter a yardage of finished cotton fabric equal to the undelivered yardage, in addition to the yardage which he is required to deliver in that next quarter.

(2) No supplier of finished cotton fabric is required to accept or fill M–328B CC rated or over-the-counter piece goods certified orders for a greater yardage of any type of finished cotton fabric listed on a Fabric Set-aside Table than the yardage he is required to deliver on those orders under paragraph (f) (1) above.

(3) Any supplier of finished fabric who does not use the certification in Form CPA–4381 or CPA–4413, for a fabric must accept M–328B CC rated orders for that fabric in accordance with the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1. After a supplier of finished fabrics uses Form CPA–4381 or Form CPA–4413 on any of his purchase orders for a fabric he must not extend to any supplier on orders for that fabric for delivery in the applicable quarter any CC ratings which he knows or has reason to believe were assigned under Order M–328B.

(g) Restrictions on sale of student nurses' uniforms. Student nurses' uniforms manufactured under Preference Rating Schedule No. 3 (items 42 through 47) may be sold only to hospitals or nurses' training schools; or to persons who furnish substantially the following certification on their purchase orders:

The purchaser represents to the seller and to the Civilian Production Administration that the student nurses' uniforms covered by this order will be sold only to hospitals or nurses' training schools or for ultimate delivery to such institutions.

The standard certification provided for in Priorities Regulation 7 must not be used instead of the above.

Issued this 12th day of March 1946.

Recording Secretary.

HINGES AND BUTT HINGES

A statement of considerations accompanying this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation No. 413 is amended in the following respects:

1. In section 8, paragraphs (b), (e), (f) and (g) are deleted and paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Sales by jobbers, wholesalers and retailers. A jobber, wholesaler, or retailer shall determine his maximum prices for sales of items covered by this regulation in accordance with Supplementary Order 151, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

2. Section 8a is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 8a. Reconversion adjustment of maximum prices for certain hinges and butt hinges—(a) Scope of this section. Pursuant to reconversion criteria, this section permits manufacturers to increase their maximum prices as established under section 7 for items listed in paragraph (d) below (identified by the manufacturer's plate number) by 16 percent.

(b) Manufacturers' reconversion adjustment. A manufacturer may increase his maximum prices of items in paragraph (d) below (identified by the manufacturer's plate number) to each class of purchaser as established in accordance with section 7, by 16 percent, and may round off to the nearest $0.01 the adjusted maximum prices resulting from the increase permitted herein.

(c) Notification. Any manufacturer who applies the increase permitted under this section shall notify each purchaser, in writing, at or before the issuance of the first invoice after March 12, 1946, of the adjusted maximum price authorized by this section and of the actual dollars-and-cents increase for each item over his maximum price to that class of purchaser in effect on March 12, 1946.

(d) Items covered by this section. There follows a list of the items covered by this section. Only the specific hinges and butt hinges listed are covered. Additional items may be added to this list by the Price Administrator.

PART 1346—BUILDING MATERIALS

[RPS 40, Amdt 7]

BUILDERS' HARDWARE AND INSECT SCREEN CLOTH

A statement of considerations accompanying this Amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Price Schedule No. 40 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1346.1(b)(4) is deleted:
2. Section 1346.6a is deleted.
3. Section 1346.6b is amended to read as follows:

§ 1346.6b. Modification of maximum prices for builders' hardware—(a) Scope of this section. Pursuant to reconversion criteria this section permits manufacturers to increase their maximum prices by 10 percent.

(b) Manufacturers' reconversion adjustment. A manufacturer may increase his maximum prices to each class of purchaser as established in accordance with § 1346.1, by 10 percent, and may round off to the nearest $0.01 the adjusted maximum prices resulting from the increase permitted herein.

(c) Optional use of this section. Since the provisions of this section are not intended to reduce properly established maximum prices, any manufacturer whose price in effect to each class of purchaser on October 1–15, 1941 plus the increase provided for under (b) is less than his maximum price as established under Revised Price Schedule No. 40 may continue to use as his maximum price, the maximum price properly established under Revised Price Schedule No. 40.

(d) Notification. Any manufacturer who applies the increase permitted under this section shall notify each purchaser, in writing, at or before the issuance of the first invoice after March 12, 1946, of the adjusted maximum price authorized by this section and of the actual dollars-and-cents increase for each item of builders' hardware over his maximum price to that class of purchaser in effect on March 12, 1946.

This Amendment No. 7 shall become effective March 13, 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

SECTION 1. Scope of this regulation—(a) What garments are covered. (1) This regulation applies to the specified mens' and boys' tailored garments included in the groups listed in Appendix A. Under certain conditions (enumerated in (2) and (3) below) the regulation also applies to the men's and boys' garments included in the groups listed in Appendix B and Appendix C.

(2) A garment listed in Appendix B is covered by this regulation unless it is sold by a person whose net sales of garments listed in Appendix A, during his 1943 calendar or fiscal year, represented less than 75% of his total net sales of garments listed in Appendices A and B.*

(3) A garment listed in Appendix C is covered by this regulation only if:

(i) It is sold by a person whose net sales of garments in Appendices A and B, during his 1943 calendar or fiscal year, represented not less than 75% of his total net sales of garments listed in Appendices A, B and C,* and

(ii) He elects to price the garment under this regulation, and

(iii) The election is indicated on his Form I, as specified in section 3 (a).

A person who elects to price any garment listed in Appendix C under this regulation, who files his Form I indicating the Appendix C garments so covered, and who receives acknowledgment of the filing of Form I, may not thereafter alter the coverage of this regulation as to his sales of the garments listed in Appendix C. Moreover, if a person elects to price a garment listed in Appendix C under this regulation, such election must also apply to all other garments in the group which includes that garment. For example, a person who manufactures both wool and rayon uniform shirts may not elect to price only his rayon shirts under this regulation, since Group No. 201 in Appendix C includes shirts made of all fabrics.

(b) Kinds of sales covered. This regulation applies only to manufacturers' sales. A manufacturer's sale is a sale of a garment by a person: (1) who fabricated the garment; (2) who sold or consigned to the fabricator any of the principal materials from which the garment was fabricated; or (3) whose business is directly or indirectly under the same ownership and control as the person who fabricated the garment. However, if the fabricator of garments distributes them through retail stores which are separate legal entities, and some of these stores are under the same ownership and control as the fabricator while the remainder are independent, sales by the stores are not considered manufacturers' sales; in such case, sales by the fabricator to the stores are considered manufacturers' sales.

This definition includes sales by a manufacturing-retailer, i. e., a manufacturer's sale to an individual ultimate consumer by a person who customarily sells all or substantially all of his production to individual ultimate consumers. It also includes sales of both "ready-made" and "made-to-measure" or "tailored-to-the-trade" garments (the latter are garments made to the individual measurements of the ultimate consumer).

*This condition does not apply to sellers who must apply for division factors pursuant to section 7.

Example 1. Fabricator A distributes his garments through retail stores—some are part of the same corporation as his factories, and the remainder, although under the same ownership and control as the factories, are separate legal entities. Sales by all of the retail stores are considered manufacturers' sales; transactions between the factories and the retail outlets are considered interagency transfers rather than sales. A must compute his general division factor on the basis of the factories' direct costs and the sales of the retail stores.

Example 2. Fabricator B distributes his garments through retail stores—all of these stores are separate legal entities; somes of them are under the same ownership and control as B's factories, while the remainder are independent. By the proviso to condition (3), in the definition of manufacturer's sale set forth above, sales by the retail stores are not considered manufacturers' sales; however, transactions between the factories and the retail outlets are considered manufacturers' sales and are governed by this regulation. B must compute his general division factor on the basis of the factories' direct costs and sales.

Example 3. Fabricator C distributes his garments through three kinds of retail stores: (1) Those which are part of the same corporation as his factories; (2) Those which are separate legal entities but are under the same ownership and control as the factories; (3) Those which are independent. Sales by (2) and (3) are not considered manufacturers' sales; sales by (1), as well as transactions between the factories and (2) and (3) are considered manufacturers' sales. C must compute his general division factor on the basis of the factories' direct costs and sales to (2) and (3), plus the sales of (1).

Example 4. Fabricator D distributes his garments through a wholesale outlet E, which, though under the same ownership and control as D's factories, is a separate legal entity. Sales by E of D's garments are considered manufacturers' sales; transactions between D and E are considered interagency transfers rather than sales. E must compute a general division factor and file a Form I on the basis of D's direct costs and E's sales of D's garments.

(c) Exemption for certain small-volume sellers. You are exempt from the provisions of this regulation if your total net sales of garments listed in Appendix A is less than a specified amount. You qualify for this exemption if you meet any of the following conditions:

(1) You made manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendix A for the entire 1943 calendar or fiscal year and your total net sales of such garments were $20,000 or less.

(2) You made manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendix A during part of 1943 and for each calendar quarter of 1943 during which you were in business your total net sales were $5,000 or less.

(3) You were not in business during 1943, but made manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendix A for a full calendar or fiscal year prior to the effective date of this regulation and your total net sales of such garments, during any such year, were $20,000 or less.

(4) You were not in business during 1943 or for a full year prior to the effective date of this regulation, but you made manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendix A prior to the effective date of this regulation, and your total net sales were $5,000 or less for each calendar quarter during which you were in business.

(5) You did not make manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendix A between January 1, 1943, and the effective date of this regulation, and you estimate that your total net sales for each calendar quarter thereafter will be $5,000 or less.

However, if, in any calendar quarter after the effective date of this regulation, your total net sales of Appendix A garments exceed $5,000, you are subject to all of the provisions of this regulation for the next quarter and for each quarter thereafter. Accordingly, before making sales or deliveries in the next quarter, you must file a Form I and receive acknowledgment of its filing (in accordance with section 3), and calculate your maximum prices under section 2; or, if you were not in business during 1943, you must apply for authorized division factors under section 7 and follow the instructions for pricing set forth in that section.

(d) Where this regulation applies. This regulation covers sales in the 48 States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. How to calculate your maximum prices under this regulation—(a) Division factor. To find your maximum price for any garment covered by this regulation you must find your "general division factor". (The definition of general division factor, together with instructions for finding it, is given in section 3.) Once you have found your general division factor you will not be required to figure it again.

Your general division factor will give you the same markup on all garments. If you want different markups on different groups of garments, or for sales to different classes of customers, you may select separate division factors according to the instructions in section 4.

You find the maximum price for each garment by dividing the direct cost of the garment (calculated according to the instructions in section 6 and Appendices E or F) by the appropriate division factor. If you do not select individual division factors, you divide the direct cost of the garment by your general division factor. If you select individual division factors, you divide the direct cost of the garment by the applicable individual division factor. In all cases the maximum prices so found is subject to a "highest price line" limitation which is described in section 5.

(b) Discounts. The maximum price so found for sales of a garment listed in Appendix A is subject to all cash discounts which you allowed to purchasers of the same class during 1945 (as required by Maximum Price Regulation 177).[1]

[1] 8 F.R. 13713, 10 F.R. 6231.

For garments listed in Appendices B and C, your maximum price so found is subject to all cash discounts which you customarily allowed during March 1942. If you did not make manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendices B and C during March 1942, your maximum price is subject to all cash discounts which you customarily allowed during the first four months after March 31, 1942, in which you made such sales.

(c) Pricing by sellers who are unable to determine ceilings in accordance with the above instructions. If you do not have records for the determination of your general division factor, or are otherwise unable to figure your ceilings as outlined above, follow the instructions in section 7.

SEC. 3. General division factor—(a) How to find your general division factor. A division factor is a figure which shows what part of a garment's selling price is represented by its direct cost. If you know, for example, that the division factor for a garment is .75, and you also know that the garment's direct cost is $21.00, it is not difficult to find the maximum price. By dividing .75 into $21.00, you get maximum price, $28.00. (Notice that your markup figured on selling price in this case is .25. The markup figured on selling price is always the difference between the division factor and 1.00. Consequently, the bigger the division factor, the smaller the markup and vice versa.)

The form below (Form I) and the accompanying instructions give specific directions for calculating a general division factor based upon your own past experience. From your 1943 profit and loss statement, you find the "net sales" and "direct costs" of your garments covered by this regulation. Then you divide the cost figure by the sales figure. The result is general division factor under the regulation.

Instructions for Form I

(Each instruction relates to the item in the form which has the same number as the instruction.)

1. From your profit and loss statement for the 1943 calendar year or the fiscal year with the greatest number of months in 1943 (if your fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30, use the period July 1, 1943 to June 30, 1944) and such other available records as may be required, find your total net sales (gross sales minus returns, allowances, prepaid out transportation, and all discounts other than cash discounts) of garments covered by this regulation. If you must price certain Appendix B garments under this regulation, or if you elect to price certain Appendix C garments under this regulation, the figure in line (1) must include your net sales of such garments during your 1943 calendar or fiscal year. Include only "manufacturer's sales" (as defined in section 1), except that those manufacturers' sales which were made to war procurement agencies as defined in Maximum Price Regulation 157[2] (Sales and Fabrication of Textiles, Apparel and Related Articles for Military Purposes) shall not be included.

2. From the profit and loss statement used for instruction (1), and such other available records as may be required, find the total direct cost incurred during 1943 in manufacturing garments listed in Appendix A (and garments in Appendices B and C, if sales of such garments are included in line (1)). "Direct cost" means the cost of material, trimming, direct labor, and certain labor overhead costs, as defined in section 6.

Materials and trimmings may be valued according to any accepted accounting method of inventory valuation you ordinarily use. (Enter your method of valuation at the top of the form.) Deduct all discounts received. If your operations are integrated (i. e., if you fabricate any materials used in the garments which you manufacture), you must value such materials at the actual net cost of the elements which entered into their fabrication (e. g., wool tops, dyeing, skinning, weaving).

If you have difficulty in calculating the direct cost of your sales of garments, obtain further instructions from your OPA district office.

5. Indicate the approximate percentage (to the nearest multiple of 5%) that the 1943 dollar sales of each group bore to your total 1943 dollar sales entered in line (1).

6. Indicate the approximate percentage (to the nearest multiple of 5%) of the 1943 dollar sales entered in line (1) delivered to each class of customer listed.

7. List for each group number in Appendix A your highest price line limit determined under section 5 (b) (1). (If you have highest price line limits for sales to different classes of purchasers, list them in separate columns.) Indicate, by an asterisk or by circling the group number, the group in which you sold the largest number of units during 1943. (If you use adjusted highest price line limits pursuant to section 5 (c) and Appendix J, list your highest price line limit prior to adjustment.)

8. Indicate whether you will figure your unit material costs under Appendix E or Appendix F and, if under Appendix E, whether you will use Method One or Method Two. If you use Method One, indicate your selling seasons.

9. Section 1 (a) (1) and (2) specify the conditions under which you price, under this regulation, garments listed in Appendices B and C. List these garments, by group number, in line (9).

NOTE: You must keep the profit and loss statement and all other records which you used in figuring your general division factor. You must not enter on your Form I any figure which cannot be substantiated by your original records.

(b) Report of your general division factor. Two signed copies of Form I must be sent to your OPA district office on or before April 15, 1946. You must keep an additional copy of this form as a record. On and after April 25, 1946, you must not sell or deliver any garments covered by this regulation until you file this form with the district office and receive acknowledgment of its filing. OPA may, at any time, disapprove or revise the general division factor which you have reported.

The procedure which you must follow in case you find that the Form I which you have filed is incorrect is set forth in Appendix K.

SEC. 4. Individual division factors. Under section 3 above, you have found a general division factor which may be used to figure the ceiling prices for all garments you sell under this regulation. However, if you want different division factors (which will give you different markups) for your garments when you sell them to different classes of customers, you may, under the instructions given below, select "class division factors." Or, if you desire different division factors for different groups of garments, you may, under the instructions given below, select "group division factors." However, except as outlined in paragraph (a) (3) below, if you select class division factors, you may not select group factors, and vice versa.

(a) Selection of "classes" and "groups". (1) If you decide to use class division factors, you may put your customers into as many classes as you desire. For example, you may decide that your customers fall into three classes—Class I for wholesalers, chain stores and mail order houses, Class II for independent retailers, and Class III for department stores. Or, if you sell "made-to-measure" clothing, you may decide to separate your customers into two classes—Class I for retailers and Class II for individual ultimate consumers. You must report to OPA (as required by paragraph (c) below) the classes which you have selected, and thereafter you cannot change the coverage of any class. If you desire to sell to a class of trade not included on your original report, you must, before making any sales to that class, report such new class to OPA in accordance with Appendix K as an addition to the report previously filed, and receive acknowledgement of the filing of the report. However, you must not use a division factor for sales to that class which is lower than your general division factor, or alter the factors originally reported.

(2) Appendix A lists 82 groups of garments and 18 additional groups are listed in Appendix B and Appendix C. You may select a different division factor for each of the listed groups which you manufacture, or you may combine the groups of garments into broader "groups." However, you may not classify the garments into narrower "groups" than those enumerated in Appendices A, B or C and you may not distribute among two or more "groups" the garments included in one group in Appendices A, B or C. Once you have selected the garments which shall be included in each of your "groups" and have reported the selection to OPA (as required by paragraph (c) below), you cannot thereafter change the coverage of any group. However, you may amend your original selection by adding new groups, but in so doing, you must not alter the factors originally reported. Each such amendment must be reported to OPA (in accordance with Appendix K).

Example 5: Suppose that you manufacture men's regular-weight suits, men's summer weight suits, men's regular-weight separate coats and men's regular-weight separate pants. These garments are classified in Appendix A into four groups—Nos. 18, 24, 40 and 52. You may select a different division factor for each of these four groups; or you may combine two or more group numbers into one broader "group" (for instance, make Nos. 18 and 24 one "group" covering both men's regular-weight suits and men's summer-weight suits.)

Example 6: Suppose you manufacture men's overcoats (group No. 6), men's regular-weight suits (group No. 18) and men's summer-weight suits (group No. 24). You may not split your regular-weight suits into price lines (e. g., $19.00, $21.00, $23.00) and select a different division factor for each price line. Moreover, you may not combine some of your men's regular-weight suits (e. g., your $19.00 price line) with your men's summer-weight suits, and select a group division factor for the combination of items. (However, as indicated in Example No. 5 above, you may combine all men's regular-weight suits and all men's summer-weight suits and select a group division factor for the combination.)

(3) If you are a manufacturing-retailer, and in addition distribute the garments which you fabricate through independent retail stores (i. e., separate legal entities which are not under the same ownership and control as your business), you may set up "sub-groups" and select a different division factor for each such subdivision. That is, after defining the coverage of a particular group for which you desire a separate division factor, you may break down your sales of that group by classes of customers. Then, instead of having one factor for the entire group, you may select a separate factor for each different class of customer. For example, suppose you manufacture men's overcoats (group No. 6) which you sell to individual ultimate consumers through your own stores, and which you also sell to independent retail stores. You may select a separate division factor for your overcoats and then subdivide this factor so that you have one factor for sales of overcoats to individual ultimate consumers and another for sales to independent retail stores.

Both the coverage of the groups which you have selected and the classes to which these groups will be sold must be reported to OPA (as required by paragraph (c) below). After filing this report you may not thereafter change the coverage of any group or class. In setting up your groups you must follow the rules set forth in paragraph (a) (2) above. If you desire to add a sub-group not included on your original report, you must report such new sub-group to OPA as an addition to the report previously filed; however, you must not alter the factors originally reported.

(b) Finding individual division factors. You may use whatever division factors you desire for each of the classes or groups which you have selected under paragraph (a), subject to the following conditions:

(1) Your deliveries are subject to the special quota rule outlined in paragraph (d) below.

(2) For any group, you must not use a division factor which is more than 5 percentage points below your general division factor. (For example, if your general division factor is .75 you may use a group division factor of .70 but not one of .69.)

(3) If you select class division factors, the total range between the highest and lowest individual factor may not exceed .15. (For example, you may select class factors of .65 and .80 but you may not select class factors of .64 and .80.)[3]

(4) The individual division factors selected must result in a weighted average division factor no lower than the general division factor which you have calculated under section 3. Weight the individual division factors in the following manner:

(i) For each class division factor, use the 1943 total net dollar deliveries of garments covered by this regulation which were made to the class to which that factor is applicable. (If you did not make deliveries to a particular class of 1943, do not weight the division factor for that class; however, you must not use a division factor for sales to that class which is lower than your general division factor.)

(ii) For each group division factor, use an estimate of your total net dollar de-

[3] If you select sub-group factors (as provided by paragraph (a) (3)), you must not use a division factor for any sub-group which is more than .15 below your general division factor. (For example, if your general division factor is .65, you may use a sub-group factor of .50, but not one of .49.)

liveries, during a specified period,[1] of the group to which that factor is to be applied. However, at the end of the period, you must determine the actual total net dollar deliveries of each group during the period and re-weight your individual division factors on the basis of the actual net dollar deliveries of your groups. (The new weights may require you to change the group division factors originally used.)[2]

(5) The division factors used for different classes of trade should conform to all applicable laws of the states and the United States which prohibit discrimination or which otherwise limit price differentials.

Once you have selected division factors for particular groups or classes of customers, and have reported these factors to OPA (in accordance with paragraph (c) below), you must not deviate from these individual division factors in calculating maximum prices.

(c) Report of individual division factors. (1) If you elect to use individual division factors, you must file Form II (set forth in Appendix D), with your OPA district office. Two signed copies of this report must be sent at the same time that you send Form I. (A Form II may not be filed subsequent to the receipt of acknowledgment from OPA of the filing of your Form I.) You must keep an additional copy of this form as a record. On and after April 25, 1946, you must not sell or deliver any garment at a price based on a division factor lower than your general division factor unless you have filed Form II with your district office and received acknowledgment of its filing. OPA may, at any time, disapprove or revise the division factors reported in Form II.

(2) In addition to the report specified in (1) above, if you elect to use group (or sub-group) division factors, you must file a supplementary Form II with your OPA district office, based on your total net dollar deliveries of garments in each group during your "specified period". Two signed copies of this report must be sent to the OPA district office which acknowledged your Form I, within 30 days after the close of the period. You must keep an additional copy of this form as a record. If you have not received acknowledgment of the filing of your supplementary Form II within 40 days after the close of the period, you must not sell or deliver any garment at a price based on a division factor lower than your general division factor until you have received acknowledgment of its filing. OPA may, at any time, disapprove or revise the division factors reported in the supplementary Form II.

(3) The procedure you must follow in case you find that the Form II or supplementary Form II which you have filed is incorrect is set forth in Appendix K.

(d) Special quota rule. If you elect to use class or group (or sub-group) division factors, your deliveries of garments covered by this regulation are subject to a special quota rule. This rule requires that you determine, at the end of each "quota period", an "actual division factor" based on all of your deliveries under this regulation during that period, and compared it with your general division factor. The actual division factor must not be below your general division factor, except that if you use group (or sub-group) division factors a certain tolerance is permitted. The quota periods and an explanation of the tolerance are set forth in subparagraph (2) below.

If your actual division factor for a quota period is below your general division factor (or, for group or sub-group factors, is below your general division factor by more than the permitted tolerance), you are in violation of this regulation and subject to all of the penalties provided therefor in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, including liability to suit for damages by the Administrator under section 205 (e). The amount of the overcharge is the amount determined by multiplying the total dollar amount charged during the period for all deliveries by the difference between your general division factor and your actual division factor for the period (or, for group or sub-group factors, by the difference between your general division factor and your actual division factor less the permitted tolerance).

If you use group (or sub-group) division factors, you must report your actual division factor to the OPA as required by paragraph (e) below.

(1) How to find your actual division factor for a particular period. Your actual division factor for a particular period is calculated as follows:

Step 1. For each class or group (or sub-group), multiply the total net dollar amount charged for deliveries of garments to that class of customer, or in that group, during the period by the division factor applicable to that class or group (or sub-group). Total net dollar amount charged means the sum of all prices charged for all garments delivered, after the deduction of returns, allowances, prepaid out transportation, and all discounts other than cash discounts.

Step 2. Total the results of the multiplications in Step 1.

Step 3. Divide the amount found in Step 2 by the total net dollar amount charged for all deliveries during the period.

Form VI in Appendix H illustrates the calculation of an actual division factor.

(2) Quota periods and permitted tolerance—(i) For class division factors. If you use class division factors, you must calculate an actual division factor at the end of each year. Your first quota period covers your operations between the effective date of the regulation and January 1, 1947, or, if you use Method One in Appendix E, your operations between the effective date of the regulation and the beginning of your 1947 fall selling season. Subsequent periods cover your operations during each subsequent calendar year.

(ii) For group division factors—(a) Quota periods. If you use group (or sub-group) division factors, the first quota period covers your operations between the effective date of the regulation and September 1, 1946, or your operations between the effective date of the regulation and the beginning of your 1947 spring selling season (Method One). The second quota period covers your operations between the effective date of the regulation and January 1, 1947, or your operations between the effective date of the regulation and the beginning of your 1947 fall selling season (Method One). Subsequent quota periods cover your operations during each year thereafter.

(b) Permitted tolerance. Your actual division factor for the first quota period must not be below your general division factor by more than .02.

For all other periods, your actual division factor must not be below your general division factor by more than .01.

(c) Records and reports of actual division factors—(1) Records. If you use individual division factors, you must keep a record of your deliveries of garments to each class of customer, or in each garment group, and the calculation of your actual division factor for each quota period.

(2) Reports for group factors. If you use group (or sub-group) division factors, you must, within 20 days after the end of your first quota period, report your actual division factor for the first period. Within 30 days after the end of your second quota period, you must report your actual division factor for the second period. No report of your actual division factor for subsequent quota periods is required.

Your reports must be in the detail suggested by Form VI in Appendix H, and must be sent to the OPA district office which acknowledged your Form I. Keep an additional copy as a record. If you have not received acknowledgment of the filing of the required report within 10 days after the required filing date set forth above, you must not sell or deliver any garments covered by this regulation until you do file such report, and receive acknowledgment of its filing.

SEC. 5. Limit on maximum prices—How the limit operates. Except as provided by paragraphs (c) and (d) below, on and after the effective date of this regulation, you must not sell or deliver a garment listed in Appendix A for more than your highest price line limit for the group to which it belongs. Even though the price of a garment, as calculated from its direct cost and the applicable division factor, would be more than your highest price line limit, the garment's maximum price cannot exceed this limit.

Example 7. Y Company has a highest price line limit for Group No. 18, men's and young men's regular-weight suits, of $27.50. Its general division factor is .70 and it has not elected to use individual division factors. It now produces two price lines of men's regular-weight suits, the first having a direct cost of $17.50, the other a direct cost of $19.81. Using its general division factor, it finds a ceiling price of $25.00 for the lower cost suit and a price of $28.30 for the other. The first suit, of course, may be sold at $25.00, but because of the limit on maximum prices, the ceiling price for the second suit cannot be higher than $27.50, regardless of its cost.

(b) What is a "highest price line limit."—(1) For groups for which highest price line limits can be determined under Maximum Price Regulation 177. Your highest price line limits for groups of garments for which highest price line limits can be determined under Maximum Price Regulation 177 are found on the basis of your operations under that regulation. For each group number, your highest price line limit is:

(i) Sales to individual ultimate consumers. Your highest price line limit for the corresponding garment classification under the applicable provision of MPR 177.

(ii) Sales to persons other than individual ultimate consumers. 105% of your highest price line limit for the corresponding garment classification under the applicable provision of MPR 177.

Example 8. Under § 1389.104 of MPR 177, manufacturer X's highest price line limit for classification (iii) (suits with long pants or breeches) in men's and young men's sizes (regular-weight) was $27.50 for sales to persons other than individual ultimate consumers, which was the highest maximum price determined under paragraphs (a) (1) and (2) of that section. The corresponding group in Appendix A of this regulation is Group No. 18, men's and young men's regular-weight suits. Accordingly, X's highest price line limit for Group No. 18 is 105% of $27.50 or $28.87½.

Example 9: Order No. L–209 under § 1389.106 of MPR 177 established maximum prices for manufacturer T's overcoats, and established for T a highest price line limit for classification (x) (overcoats) in men's and young men's sizes of $26.00 for sales to persons other than individual ultimate consumers. The corresponding group in Appendix A of this regulation is Group No. 6, men's and young men's overcoats. Accordingly, T's highest price line limit for Group No. 6 is 105% of $26.00 or $27.30.

Example 10. S, a manufacturing retailer, has a highest price line limit for men's overcoats under MPR 177 of $34.00. Inasmuch as his highest price line limit was for sales to individual ultimate consumers, his highest price line limit under this regulation for Group No. 6 (men's and young men's overcoats) is $34.00.

(2) For groups for which highest price line limits cannot be determined under Maximum Price Regulation 177. If you can determine your highest price line limit for one or more groups under (1) above, your highest price line limits for additional groups are determined according to the instructions in Appendix I. If you cannot determine your highest price line limit for any group under (1) above, follow the instructions in section 7 (a) (3).

(c) Adjustment for certain sellers. Appendix J contains a table of adjusted highest price line limits which sets forth for certain group numbers in Appendix A an adjusted highest price line limit applicable to garments in that group. If, for any group number, your highest price line limit determined under (b) above is lower than the figure listed in the appropriate column in the table, you may use the adjusted highest price line limit listed for that group in Appendix J as your highest price line limit in complying with the limit on maximum prices provided in paragraph (a) above.

Example 11. Z company's highest price line limit for men's and young men's overcoats (Group No. 6) determined under paragraph (b) above is $16.50. Z manufactures ready-made garments for sale to persons other than individual ultimate consumers. The "adjusted highest price line limit" listed in the table in Appendix J for Group No. 6 is $21.00 for ready-made garments for sales to persons other than individual ultimate consumers. Accordingly, in complying with the limit on maximum prices Z may use $21.00 as his highest price line limit. Thus, if, in dividing the direct cost of a man's overcoat by the applicable division factor, Z arrives at a price of $18.50, his maximum price is $18.50 (rather than $16.50 as determined under paragraph (a)).

(d) Application for increase by single price-line sellers—(1) Who may apply. If you meet the conditions outlined in subparagraph (2) below, you may apply to the Apparel Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. for an increase in your highest price line limits. The information to be submitted in such an application is outlined in subparagraph (3) below.

(2) Conditions which must be met. In order to apply for an increase in the highest price line limit for any group number, you must show that your firm meets the following conditions:

(i) During your 1943 calendar or fiscal year, and continuously since then, up to the issuance date of this regulation, all garments in the group number for which you request an increased highest price line limit must have been sold and delivered at the same net price; and

(ii) On the basis of fabric commitments made for your 1946 fall selling season, and your inventory of fabrics for that season on hand on the issuance date, which were purchased for the garment group number, the maximum price for each garment in the group will be the same; and

(iii) Under section 2, the maximum price for all garments in the group are above your highest price line limit for the group under paragraph (b) and (c) above.

(3) Required information. If you meet the conditions set forth in subparagraph (2) above, and desire to apply for an increase in your highest price line limit for any group number, you must file two signed copies of an application setting forth the following:

(i) Your name and address.

(ii) The group numbers for which you request an increase.

(iii) Your highest price line limit for each such group under sections 5 (b) and 5 (c).

(iv) The Form III for the range of fabrics to be used in each such group number.

(v) The Form V for all garments of each such group number.

(vi) A copy of your Form I, and your Form II (if you contemplate using individual division factors).

(4) Standard for authorizing increased highest price line limits. If you meet the conditions set forth in (2) above, an increased highest price line limit will be authorized by order for each group number, equal to the price calculated by dividing the direct cost of garments in the group by the applicable division factor.

SEC. 6. Direct cost—(a) Inside shop. The direct cost of each garment is the total of materials, trimming, direct labor and certain labor overhead costs.

(1) "Material" means body material only.

(2) "Trimming" includes all component parts of the finished garment other than materials (such as linings, coat fronts, pocketing, buttons, collar canvas, shoulder pads, sleeve heads, tape, thread, zippers, labels, hangers, size tickets).

(3) "Direct labor" means only the following labor operations: cutting, including spreading, marking and separating; sewing and other related operations; pressing; factory examining of garments; and matching and placing in stock.

(4) "Certain labor overhead costs" means the following: payments to or on behalf of factory employees for vacations, holidays, life, health or accident insurance, and retirement or pension funds.

(5) The following may not be included as part of direct cost:

(i) Make-up (any sum which you must pay because the hourly, daily or weekly earnings of the piece worker at the piece work rate falls below the minimum wage you are obliged to pay that worker by law or by contract);

(ii) Overtime or double time premiums (the difference between the piece or time work rate and the overtime or double time rate);

(iii) Indirect labor costs, for example payments to foremen, floormen, repair and maintenance personnel, clerical employees, designers, sample room employees, porters, watchmen, piece goods clerks, buyers, receiving room employees, shipping room employees;

(iv) Other labor overhead costs, for example unemployment insurance, social security, workmen's compensation and any present or future tax upon or measured by wages.

(b) Contractor. If you use a contractor, you must figure as the direct cost of garments fabricated by the contractor:

(1) An amount equal to 80% of the contractor's net service charge for direct labor, markup on direct labor and trim furnished by the contractor; plus

(2) The cost of materials and any trim furnished by you.

(3) If the contractor's charge does not include the items of labor overhead cost enumerated in paragraph (a) (4) above, and by union agreement the obligation to pay for these items is yours rather than the contractor's, you may include as part of your direct cost payments made to the fund for these items.

NOTE: The procedure you must follow in calculating and recording a garment's direct cost is set forth in detail in Appendices E and F. If you are to find your ceiling price correctly you must carefully observe these instructions.

SEC. 7. How to price garments if you are unable to find your general division factor under section 3—(a) Sellers who are not transferees—(1) Application for authorized division factors. If you did not

[1] The period to be used for weighting depends on the method selected for the calculation of cost per yard of material under Appendix E or Appendix F.

If you use Method One in Appendix E, the "specified period" is the period from the effective date of the regulation to the beginning of your 1947 fall selling season. If you do not use Method One, the "specified period" is the period between the effective date of the regulation and January 1, 1947.

[2] If you select sub-group factors, you must weight them in the same manner as group factors are weighted.

make manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendix A during the 1943 calendar or fiscal year (and are not the transferee of a business which made manufacturers' sales of such items during the period, as provided in paragraph (b) below), or are otherwise unable to find your general division factor under section 3 you must apply to OPA for authorized division factors.

On and after the effective date of this regulation, until an order has been issued to you under this section, you must determine the maximum price of garments listed in Appendix A pursuant to paragraph (c) below.

If you made manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendices A and B for a full calendar or fiscal year prior to the effective date of this regulation but subsequent to 1942, and your total net sales of garments listed in Appendix A represented at least 75% of your total net sales of garments listed in Appendices A and B during any such year, you must price garments listed in Appendix B under this regulation. Moreover, on and after the effective date of this regulation, until an order is issued to you under this section, you must price Appendix B garments under paragraph (c) below.

If you did not make manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendices A and B for a full calendar or fiscal year subsequent to 1942, you must estimate your total net sales for the 1946 calendar year. If your estimated total net sales of garments listed in Appendix A represent at least 75% of your estimated total net sales for garments listed in Appendices A and B, you must price your Appendix B garments under this regulation. On and after the effective date of this regulation, until an order is issued to you under this section, you must price Appendix B garments pursuant to paragraph (c) below.

If you have elected to price garments listed in Appendix C under this regulation, continue to price these garments under the General Maximum Price Regulation until an order is issued to you under this section.

On and after April 25, 1946, if you have not previously made application under this section and received an acknowledgment from OPA of the receipt of your application, you must not sell or deliver any garments listed in Appendix A or in Appendix B (if you meet the conditions outlined above) until you make such application and receive an acknowledgment of its filing.[9]

Two signed copies of an application for authorized division factors must be filed with the Apparel Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., setting forth the following:

(i) Your name and address.

(ii) Address of plant or plants where you have been operating or intend to operate and of principal place from which your sales have been made or are to be made.

(iii) Date when you started to make manufacturers' sales of garments covered by this regulation.

(iv) Names of officers and principal owners of the business.

(v) The previous business connections in the industry of the officers and principal owners of the business.

(vi) A description of the kinds of garments sold, indicating in which groups listed in Appendix A these garments fall.

(vii) If you are to price under this regulation any garments listed in Appendix B, a description of the kinds of garments, indicating in which groups listed in Appendix B these garments fall.

(viii) If you have elected to price garments listed in Appendix C, under this regulation, a description of the kinds of garments, indicating in which groups listed in Appendix C these items fall.

(ix) Information with regard to the following:

(a) The class or classes of trade to which you sell or expect to sell (e. g., wholesalers, chain stores, independent retail stores, individual ultimate consumers), and the proportion of your total sales which you make or expect to make to each such class.

(b) Methods of manufacturing (e. g., contractor's shop, inside shop, combination of both).

(x) A statement as to whether, under the regulation, you intend to price on the basis of: a general division factor, class division factors, or group division factors. If you desire group factors, indicate the proportion of your total sales which you expect to make in each group.

(xi) If you made manufacturer's sales of garments covered by this regulation during the 1943 calendar or fiscal year; information with regard to the following:

(a) Total net sales of all commodities during this period ("Net sales" is defined in Instruction No. 1 to Form I, section 3 (a)).

(b) Total direct cost incurred in making the commodities whose sales are reported in (a). ("Direct cost" is defined in Instruction No. 2 to Form I, section 3 (a)).

(c) Proportion of the total sales reported in (a) which were manufacturers' sales of garments covered by this regulation (as defined in section 1 (b)).

(2) Standards for authorizing division factors—(a) New sellers. If you did not make manufacturers' sales of garments listed in Appendix A during the 1943 calendar or fiscal year, a general division factor (and, if you request, individual division factors) will be authorized by order, in line with the factors established under section 3 by competitive sellers of the same class.

In no event will a general division factor be authorized which is lower than the previous experience (if any) of the owners of your business.

(ii) Old sellers. If you made manufacturers' sales of garments during the 1943 calendar or fiscal year, but are unable to calculate a general division factor under section 3, a general division factor will be authorized by order on the basis of your 1943 total cost and sales experience. If such a general division factor is not feasible, a general division factor will be authorized according to the standards set forth in paragraph (i) above. Moreover, if requested, individual division factors will be authorized in accordance with the standards set forth in subdivision (i).

(3) Application for highest price line limits. If you are unable to determine your highest price line limits under section 5, you must apply to OPA for authorized highest price line limits. File this request together with your application for division factors pursuant to (1) above.

On and after April 25, 1946, until an order has been issued to you authorizing highest price line limits, you may not sell any garment listed in Appendix A at a maximum price higher than the adjusted highest price line limit set forth in Appendix J for the group in which that garment is included.

(b) Transfers and combinations. (1) If the business, assets, or stock-in-trade of any business was sold or otherwise transferred to you after the close of the 1943 fiscal year of the business, and you carry on the business, or continue to deal in the same type of commodities in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by you, your general division factor and highest price limits shall be the same as those which your transferor would have been required to use if no transfer had taken place, except as provided in subparagraph (3) below, and the obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such division factor and price line limits shall be the same. The transferor must either preserve and make available, or turn over to you, all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable you to comply with the provisions of the regulation.

(2) If the transfer occurred during the 1943 fiscal year of the business, you must consolidate the records before and after the transfer and calculate your maximum prices as directed by section 2.

(3) If two or more manufacturers who were in business during the 1943 fiscal year merge or consolidate, they must combine their records before and after the union and calculate maximum prices as directed by section 2. In such case, the highest price line limits of the new combination shall be the highest price line limits, for each group number in Appendix A, of the firms prior to merger. If each of the firms had a highest price line limit for a particular group number, the highest price line limit for that group shall be the limit of the firm which, during 1943, delivered the largest number of units in that group.

(c) Temporary division factors. Until an order authorizing division factors has been issued to you under this section, you find the maximum price for each garment listed in Appendix A (and Appendix B under the conditions outlined in (a) (1) above) that you manufacture, by dividing the direct cost of the garment (calculated according to the instructions in section 6 and Appendix E or Appendix F) by the appropriate temporary division factor listed below:

(1) For sales of ready made garments to persons other than individual ultimate consumers—.75.

(2) For sales of made-to-measure garments to persons other than individual ultimate consumers—.70.

(3) For sales to individual ultimate consumers—.55.

SEC. 8. Records and reports. The records required by this regulation must be maintained for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

In addition to the records and reports specifically enumerated in this regulation, you must keep all records required by Maximum Price Regulation 177 and the General Maximum Price Regulation.

SEC. 9. Informational requirements—(a) Marking of garments. On and after the effective date of this regulation, every manufacturer is forbidden to deliver a garment covered by this regulation unless it is marked with the manufacturer's style or lot number. You must use a separate style or lot number for each garment made from a different fabric.

(b) Manner of marking. The required markings must be attached to each garment by stitching, adhesive, pins, staples, string tags or hanging tickets, except where some other method is specifically authorized by OPA. The required markings may be in one or more parts, and may be accompanied by other information, but all portions must be clearly visible to the purchaser.

(c) Invoices. Every seller must, in connection with every sale to a person other than an individual ultimate consumer of a garment covered by this regulation, deliver an invoice showing: (1) the date, (2) the name and address of the seller and purchaser, (3) the style number of each different garment sold, (4) the quantities of each different garment sold, (5) the price contracted for or charged by the seller for each different garment sold, and (6) all discounts. The seller must keep a copy of this invoice.

(d) Sales slips and receipts. In connection with every sale to an individual ultimate consumer covered by this regulation, every seller must give the purchaser a sales slip or receipt showing: (1) the date, (2) the name and address of the seller, (3) the style number of each garment sold, and (4) the price received for each garment sold.

SEC. 10. Relation to other regulations—(a) Regulations superseded. The coverage of this regulation is stated in section 1. Where this regulation applies it supersedes the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation 177 (Men's and Boys' Tailored Clothing).

(b) Regulations which supplement this regulation. The provisions of this regulation are supplemented by:

(1) Supplementary Order 108[8] (Manufacturers' Maximum Average Prices for Certain Items of Apparel and Apparel Accessories);

(2) Second Revised Maximum Price Regulation 578[9] (Maximum Prices for Certain Essential Low-Priced Garments);

(3) Supplementary Order 133[10] (Individual Company Adjustment for Manufacturers of Certain Products).

(c) Regulations not affected by this regulation. This regulation does not cover transactions governed by the following regulations:

(1) Maximum Price Regulation 157[11] (Sales and Fabrications of Textiles, Apparel and Related Articles for Military Purposes);

(2) Maximum Price Regulation 172[12] (Charges of Contractors in the Apparel Industry);

(3) Maximum Price Regulation 385[13] (Specified Military Uniforms);

(4) Maximum Price Regulation 572[14] (Manufacturers' Maximum Prices for Certain Fall and Winter Outerwear).

(d) Export sales. This regulation does not apply to export sales. The Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation[15] applies to such sales.

(e) Import sales. The provisions of this regulation do not apply to sales or deliveries made from points outside the forty-eight States and the District of Columbia. (See the Revised Maximum Import Price Regulation.) This regulation does, however, apply to domestic sales when the garments sold were originally imported.

SEC. 11. Excessive prices forbidden. On and after the effective date of this regulation, the following practices are forbidden regardless of any contract or other obligation:

(a) Charging more than ceiling price. Every person is forbidden to sell or deliver any garment at a price higher than the ceiling price set by this regulation. A lower price may, of course, be charged.

(b) Buying for more than the ceiling price. Every person is forbidden to buy or receive any garment in the course of trade or business at a price higher than the price set by this regulation.

(c) Combination sales. Every person is forbidden to require any purchaser to buy or agree to buy any other article, service, package or wrapper in connection with the sale or delivery of any garment covered by this regulation. But any person may sell two or more garments as a matched set at a unit price, or refuse to sell less than a minimum quantity of any one style number, if these practices were customary for the seller during 1943.

(d) Indirect price increases. Every person is forbidden to do any other act which directly or indirectly increases above the ceiling price the consideration paid by the purchaser for any garment. Any practice which is a device to secure the effect of a higher than ceiling price is as much a violation as outright sale above the ceiling price. This applies to devices making use of commissions, services, taxes, special provisions, tying agreements, trade understandings and all similar practices.

(e) Indirect violations. Every person is forbidden to offer, attempt or agree to do any of the acts forbidden by this section.

(f) Stating prices above the ceiling price. Every person is forbidden to state a gross price above the ceiling price, except that a price higher than the maximum may be stated on the invoice in order to allow for customary unconditional trade discounts: Provided, That the net price is separately stated on the invoice and is not in excess of the maximum price. The amount actually collected or paid must never exceed the ceiling price calculated under section 2.

SEC. 12. Licensing and enforcement—(a) Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1,[16] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of this regulation. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

(b) Penalties. Any person who violates any provision of this regulation is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits, for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 13. When taxes may be added. If a statute or ordinance imposes a tax upon a particular sale or delivery (such as a sales tax, gross proceeds or gross receipts tax or compensating use tax) and permits such tax to be stated separately from the selling price, the seller may collect such tax in addition to the maximum price under this regulation, provided that he states the amount of the tax separately.

SEC. 14. Adjustable pricing agreements. Adjustable pricing agreements may be entered into notwithstanding the provisions of section 11 to the extent permitted by this section.

A person may sell a garment at the ceiling price established under this regulation, subject to an agreement with the buyer to charge a higher price if it becomes the legal ceiling price by the time of delivery. But one must never charge a price which is higher than the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery. Moreover, unless specifically authorized by the Office of Price Administration, a person must not deliver or agree to deliver at a price which is to be adjusted upward in accordance with action by the Office of Price Administration after delivery.

Specific authorization to deliver or agree to deliver at a price which is to be adjusted in accordance with action by the Office of Price Administration after delivery will be given only where: (a) a request for the changing of a ceiling price has been filed; and (b) the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production; and (c) it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emer-

APPENDIX D—FORM USED IN OBTAINING INDIVIDUAL DIVISION FACTORS (FORM II)

FORM TO BE USED IN OBTAINING INDIVIDUAL DIVISION FACTORS (FORM II)

Copies of this form will not be furnished by the Office of Price Administration. Please make your own copies.

Column 1	Column 2	Column 3	Column 4	Column 5	Column 6
Group No. of garments	Actual net dollar deliveries Apr. 1, 1946, to Apr. 1, 1947.	Percent of total deliveries	Trial group division factors	Column 3 times Column 4	Reported group division factors (Column 4 plus or minus difference in Column 6)
17, 18	$400,703	.471	.790	.358	.790
24	302,407	.291	.705	.204	.704
40	248,946	.230	.790	.189	.789
	1,041,206			.751	.750
		General division factor			−.001

* If the column 5 total were less than the general division factor, the difference would be added instead of subtracted.

Instructions for Supplementary Form II

Column 1. Enter each group (or sub-groups) for which you reported division factors on your original Form II.

Column 2. For each group (or sub-groups) entered in column 1, enter your actual total net dollar deliveries during the second quota period, as defined in section 4 (d) (2) (ii).

Column 3. Divide each entry in column 2 by the total of column 2. Enter the resultant decimal in column 3 (round to nearest one-thousandth—e. g., .483, .312).

Column 4. Enter your trial division factors for each group (or sub-groups). These may be the same as the factors reported on your original Form II (as in the example above), or you may select new trial division factors.

Column 5. Multiply each trial division factor in column 4 by the corresponding decimal in column 3, rounding to the nearest one-thousandth, and total the results. Then enter your general division factor and find the difference (plus or minus) between the total of column 5 and your general division factor (as in the example above); your trial division factors are too low and each of them must be increased by the difference between your general division factor and the total of column 5. If the total of column 5 is greater than your general division factor, your trial division factors are higher than they need to be and you may reduce them by the difference between the total of column 5 and your general division factor.

(If the total of column 5 does not equal your general division factor, you may, if you choose, adjust your column 4 trial division factors by varying amounts as long as the total of your reported division factors listed in column 6, when multiplied by the decimals listed in column 3, is not lower than your general division factor. The method described above is suggested merely as an easy way to adjust your column 4 factors.)

NOTE: You must keep all records upon which your calculations in Form II are based.

SUPPLEMENTARY FORM II

(For calculation and report of group or sub-groups division factors based on actual deliveries during your second quota period, as defined in section 4 (d) (2) (ii).)

Copies of this form will not be furnished by the Office of Price Administration. Please make your own copies.

Column 1	Column 2	Column 3	Column 4	Column 5	Column 6

* If you select class division factors, this column will be headed "Class of Customer."
† If class division factors, the heading should be "Net dollar deliveries January 1 to December 31, 1943."
‡ If the column 3 total were more than the general division factor, the difference would be subtracted instead of added.

Instructions for Form II

Column 1. Enter each group (or sub-group) for which you desire to use a different division factor, designating it by the number of that group in Appendix A, Appendix B or Appendix C. If you elect to combine two or more groups, so indicate.

If you elect to use class division factors, enter each class for which you desire to use a different division factor, designating it by a letter (e. g., A, B, C). At the bottom of the form define the coverage of the class to which each letter applies.

Column 2. For each group (or sub-group) entered in column 1, enter your estimated net dollar deliveries for the "specified period" outlined in section 4 (b) (4) (ii).

For each class entered in column 1, enter your total net dollar deliveries during 1943. If you did not deliver garments to a particular class during 1943, follow the instructions in section 4 (b) (4) (i).

Column 3. Divide each entry in column 2 by the total for column 2. Enter the resultant decimal in column 3 (round to nearest one-thousandth—e. g., .272, .139, .010).

Column 4. Enter your trial division factors for each group (or sub-group). These may be the same as the factors reported on your original Form II (as in the example above), or you may select new trial division factors.

Column 5. Multiply each trial division factor in column 4 by the corresponding decimal in column 3, rounding to the nearest one-thousandth, and total the results. Then enter your general division factor and find the difference (plus or minus).

Column 6. If the total of column 5 is more than your general division factor (as in the example above) your trial division factors are higher than they need be and you may reduce them by the difference between the total of column 5 and your general division factor. If the total of column 5 is less than your general division factor, your trial division factors are too low and each of them must be increased by the difference between your general division factor and the total of column 5.

(If the total of column 5 does not equal your general division factor, you may, if you choose, adjust your column 4 trial division factors by varying amounts, as long as the total of your reported division factors listed in column 6, when multiplied by the decimals listed in column 3, is not lower than your general division factor. The method described above is suggested merely as an easy way to adjust your column 4 factors.)

NOTE: You must keep all records upon which your tabulations in your supplementary Form II are based.

APPENDIX E—PROCEDURE FOR CALCULATING UNIT DIRECT COST

The procedure outlined in this Appendix is applicable to all garments, except that for made to measure garments, a special method, set forth in Part B of Appendix F, must be used for calculating direct labor cost. Moreover, for ready-made garments produced by manufacturing-retailers, certain optional procedures are provided in Appendix F; the unit direct cost of such garments may be calculated under either Appendix E or F.

(a) How to calculate material cost—(1) General explanation. To find the material cost of a garment, you must calculate two figures—the cost per yard of material and the amount of material consumed in fabrication.

Subparagraphs (2) and (3) below set forth alternative methods for calculating the cost per yard of material. By these methods you need not find the cost per yard of the particular fabric used for a particular garment; instead you may calculate the weighted average cost per yard of the "range of fabrics" to be used, during a specified period, in each "garment price line" within a "garment group".[17] The weighted average cost so found for a range of fabrics applies to all garments of the price line made from the fabrics included in the range. You are required to set up new fabric ranges for each price line periodically.

Method One permits you to base your fabric ranges on fabrics not yet received, but covered by purchase contracts confirmed by your suppliers. Under Method Two, your fabric ranges are based on actual receipts of fabrics. You may use one method for Appendix A garments and another for Appendix B or C garments. However, you must use the same method for all Appendix A garments and indicate on your Form I the method selected for these garments.

Subparagraph (4) below sets forth the procedure for computing the amount of material consumed in fabrication. You need not find the yardage consumed by the particular garment which you are costing. Instead you may find, for a past production period, the average yardage consumed by all garments in the garment group. This figure is to be used in costing each garment of the garment group which you now produce. (However, if your records permit you may determine yardage by price line within a garment group or by style or model within a price line.)

Prior to the first time after the effective date of this regulation that you sell or deliver any garment group, you must determine an average yardage for that group, which must be used for a specific period. At the start of the next period, and at the start of each subsequent period, you must recalculate the average yardage figure for the garment group. The recalculated figure must be used during the following period.

(2) Cost of material per yard—Method One—(i) Selling seasons. Before you can use this method, you must divide your 1946 calendar or fiscal year into selling seasons. For 1946 you may have three selling seasons—the period between the effective date of the regulation and the start of your fall selling season (hereafter referred to as the "interim season"); the 1946 fall selling season; and the 1947 spring selling season. For each subsequent year you will have two selling seasons, of six months each—the fall selling season (which must coincide with your 1946 fall selling season), and the spring selling season (which must comprise the other six months). (However, for 1946 you may, if you desire, combine the interim and fall selling seasons, and thus have only two selling seasons.)

The fall and spring selling seasons must each be six months long. Thus your seasons can start on April 1 (fall), and on October 1 (spring); or on May 1 and November 1; or on March 1 and September 1. The seasons which you have selected must be indicated on your Form 1.

(ii) Combining fabrics into ranges. At the start of each selling season, before making any sales or deliveries of garments, you must take an inventory and make an account of the yardage and cost per yard of: fabrics, to be used in garment styles scheduled for that selling season, which are covered by "firm commitments" [18] from your suppliers; and any fabrics carried over from a preceding season for use in the current season.[19] Exclude from the current season's account any firm commitments which were included in the account of a past season.

After completing this analysis, you must combine the fabrics shown by your account into fabric ranges, so that you can compute a weighted average cost per yard for each different range. In setting up your fabric ranges, you must observe the following rules:

Rule 1. A separate record (hereafter referred to as Form III) must be prepared and kept for each different fabric range. An illustration of Form III is given in Example 12 below.

Rule 2. Each Form III must describe (by name of supplier, weight per yard, commitment date and supplier's style number) each different style fabric included on that form, and list the style numbers of the garments for which the enumerated fabrics will be used.[20]

Rule 3. On any Form III, the lowest cost fabric must be within 95% of the weighted average cost of the fabrics enumerated on that form. (For example, if the weighted average cost of fabrics entered on a particular Form III is $3.00 per yard, the lowest cost fabric which may be listed on that form is one with a cost of $2.85 per yard.)

Rule 4. If a fabric which was entered on a prior season's Form III is carried over for use in a new garment style number in the current season, the cost at which it is to be entered on a new Form III is the weighted average cost of the fabric range in which it was first included.

Rule 5. For any garment group (except as permitted by Rule 6) the same style fabric may not be listed on more than one Form III.

Rule 6. If, after you have set up your various fabric ranges, you purchase and receive additional fabric which is to be used in the current selling season, you may enter this fabric on one of the existing Forms III, provided that the cost of the fabric is not less than 98% of the weighted average cost of the fabrics first listed on the form. Otherwise, you must prepare a new Form III for the fabric and cost it separately, or carry it over for use in a following season.

Similarly, if, after you have set up your fabric ranges, you receive a fabric covered by a commitment included in your inventory and account for a preceding season, you may enter this fabric on one of the Forms III for the current season, provided that the weighted average cost of the fabric range in which it was originally included is not less than 98% of the weighted average cost of the fabrics first listed on the current season's form.

(iii) Figuring the weighted average cost of fabric ranges. When you have set up the fabric ranges which are to be used for a selling season, in accordance with the procedure outlined in subdivision (ii) above, you must then figure a weighted average cost for each such range, as follows:

Step 1. Enter on each Form III the yardage (indicated by your inventory and account) of each fabric listed on the form and the "net cost" [21] per yard of such fabric.

Step 2. Multiply each different net cost by the quantity of fabric entered at that cost and total the products.

Step 3. Divide the sum found in Step 2 by the total yardage found in Step 1.

If the fabrics are sponged, you may add to the figure found in Step 3 the average cost per yard of sponging. Calculate sponging cost as follows:

[17] The term "garment group" refers to each group number enumerated in Appendices A, B and C—e. g., Group No. 18, men's and young men's regular-weight suits. If you have selected group division factors pursuant to section 4, "garment group" may be narrower than the group for which you have selected an individual division factor (e. g., if you have combined group Nos. 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18, and selected one group division factor for the combination, the term "garment group" refers to each group number, rather than to the entire group for which the factor is used.)

Within a garment group, there may be several "garment price lines," to reflect differences in make or construction, and in fabric or trimming costs—e. g., range No 2300 (the $25 price line); range No. 4000 (the $30 price line); range No. 5000 (the $40 price line). A particular garment price line may be subdivided into "styles"—e. g., range No. 4000 may contain style Nos. 4001 (grey plaid worsted), 4002 (brown herringbone worsted), 4010 (grey flannel). Furthermore, each style may be made in several different "models"—e. g., style No. 4001 may be made in single breasteds, double breasteds, drapes, shorts, longs, stouts, oversizes, etc.

In the regulation, the terms "garment group," "garment price line," "style" and "model" are used in this context. The term "garment," unless otherwise indicated, refers to the narrowest subdivision within a group, viz, model, and includes any combination of articles sold as a unit (e. g., suits).

[18] A firm commitment is a contract of sale for a specified quantity of a particular fabric at a stated price, which has been signed by a mill or mill agent, and to which is attached a swatch of the fabric covered by the agreement. (If you have a commitment from a supplier other than a mill or a mill agent, you may not include such commitment in your inventory and account. Receipts of fabrics covered by such commitment are governed by Rule 6 in the text above.)

If the commitment does not indicate the exact yardage of a particular fabric, e. g., 100 pieces of XYZ fabric, 65–70 yards per piece, then use as the yardage for those pieces the product obtained by multiplying the midpoint (which in this case is 67½ yards) by the number of pieces (67½ x 100=6,750 yards).

[19] However, at the start of the 1946 interim season, your inventory and account of the fabrics to be used during that season shall include the following: fabrics not yet received but covered by commitments confirmed before March 11, 1946; fabrics in inventory but not yet cut; fabrics in process; and fabrics in finished garments.

[20] A different style number must be used for each garment made from a different style fabric.

[21] "Net cost" means the lower of: (a) the cost shown on the firm commitment (or invoice) after deducting all discounts available; or (b) the maximum price which you could lawfully be charged by your customary suppliers, under the terms of OPA price schedules and maximum price regulations operative on the effective date of this regulation. (Customary suppliers are the suppliers from whom you customarily buy substantial quantities of the material, or if you have not previously purchased such material, the suppliers from whom your competitors customarily buy in substantial quantities). You may, in addition, include transportation costs paid by you if, in calculating your general division factor on Form I, you included transportation costs on materials as part of direct cost.

If a particular fabric has been purchased from a supplier other than a mill (unless it is to be used in a made-to-measure garment sold direct to an individual ultimate consumer), you must examine your purchase invoice to determine whether the supplier has used a division factor lower than .90 for piece lots and lower than .85 for less than peace lots; if he has, you must use as your cost for this fabric the quotient obtained by applying the appropriate division factor to the mill ceiling price. Under § 1410.103(g) of MPR 163, suppliers other than mills must indicate on the invoice the division factor used.

If your operations are integrated (i. e., if you fabricate any materials used in the garments which you manufacture), net cost means the actual net cost of the elements which entered into the fabrication of the materials (e. g., wool tops, dyeing, spinning, weaving). The cost of these elements must not exceed the net maximum prices established for them under the terms of the OPA price schedules and maximum price regulations operative on the effective date of the regulation.

Imported fabrics. If you purchase a fabric in a foreign country, net cost means the landed cost of such fabric. If you purchase a fabric in this country from an importer, net cost means the actual net price paid the importer, or his ceiling price under the maximum Import Price Regulation, whichever is lower.

(a) Find from your invoices or cost records for the period December 1, 1945 to March 1, 1946 the yardage of fabrics, used for the "type of garment" [22] which includes the garments to be made from the fabrics considered under the steps above, sponged and the total cost of such sponging;

(b) Divide the total cost by the yardage sponged.

The weighted average cost which is calculated for a particular fabric range at the start of a selling season is to be used as the basis of maximum prices for all sales and deliveries of each style number of garment made from any fabric included in that fabric range. At the start of each selling season, new style numbers must be assigned to each garment which is to be made from each different fabric included in the fabric ranges set up for that selling season.

For any garment group, if you have firm commitments for a certain yardage of a particular fabric (which yardage is entered on a Form III); and you later purchase an additional quantity of the same fabric (which is entered on another Form III), the first receipt of such fabric shall be credited to the yardage covered by the commitments. Moreover, so shall the succeeding receipts, until the yardage received equals the yardage included in the commitments. (For example, suppose that on April 1 you have firm commitments, at $3.05 per yard, for 500 yards of grey flannel, which is included in a fabric range having a weighted average cost of $2.90 per yard; on May 1, you purchase 100 yards of the same fabric, which is entered on a Form III having a weighted average cost of $3.10 per yard. Your receipts of this fabric are as follows: May 15, 100 yards; June 1, 250 yards; June 20, 150 yards; July 1, 100 yards. The maximum price for garments made from the first 500 yards received must be based on a fabric cost per yard of $2.90.)

NOTE: For each selling season, you must prepare and keep: (1) a record of the inventory and account which you are required to make of fabrics to be used during that season; (2) a Form III for each fabric range which you have set up (in detail similar to the forms in Example 12 below); (3) a record of your sponging cost for each "type of garment", showing the total yardage of fabrics sponged and the total cost of such sponging; and (4) a record of the receipts of fabrics covered by the commitments included in your inventory and account. In addition, you must preserve the commitments for fabrics on which your fabric ranges are based, the invoices received from suppliers when these fabrics are delivered, the invoices for fabrics in inventory and for fabrics purchased and received during the season, and the cost records or invoices on which your calculation of sponging cost is based.

Example 12: Manufacturer X, who produces only one garment group (men's and young men's regular-weight suits, group No. 18), divides his 1946 calendar year into three selling seasons:

(1) Interim season—the period between the effective date of the regulation and April 1, 1946.

(2) Fall selling season—April 1 to October 1, 1946.

(3) Spring selling season—October 1, 1946 to April 1, 1947.

Interim season. At the start of his interim season (March 15, 1946), he takes an inventory and makes an account of his fabrics for that season, which shows the following:

Inventory and Account of Fabrics for Interim Season

Supplier	Fabric style No.	Description of fabric	Mfr's style No.	Net cost per yard	Undelivered firm commitments (yds.)	Yardage in inv. (yds.)	Yardage in process (yds.)	Yardage in finished garments (yds.)	Total (yds.)

X decides to combine fabric style Nos. 9901, 7003, 800 and 1002 into one fabric range and figure a weighted average cost per yard for the range. Accordingly, he prepares the following Form III for garment price line, range No. 8300.

FORM III

[*The fabrics listed are properly combined into one fabric range because the lowest cost fabric ($2.85) is within 95% of the resultant weighted average cost ($2.979).]

X then finds, in accordance with the procedure outlined in paragraph (iii) above, that his sponging cost for suit fabrics is $0.045 per yard.

Thus, for all sales and deliveries of garment style numbers 8301, 8302, 8303 and 8304, irrespective of the season in which such sales and deliveries are made, X must base his maximum prices on a material cost per yard of $3.024 ($2.979 + $0.045).

(X also prepares Forms III for the other fabrics included in his inventory and account, and calculates the weighted average cost of the fabrics listed on each such form.)

Fall selling season. At the start of his fall selling season (April 1, 1946), X must take another inventory and account—this time of the fabrics which will be used during that season. This check shows the following:

Inventory and account of fabrics for 1946 fall season

X decides to combine fabric style numbers 7005, 7010, 4001, 850, 851, and 7001 into one fabric range and figure a weighted average cost per yard for the range. Accordingly, he prepares the following Form III, for garment price line, range No. 6500.

Mill D..	7607	14–14½ oz. covert	6510	2.96	8/15/46	1,000

For sales and deliveries of garment style numbers 6501, 6502, 6503, 6504, 6505, and 6506, irrespective of the season in which such sales and deliveries are made, X must base his maximum prices on a material cost per yard of $2.997 ($2.952+sponging cost of $0.045). X computes his maximum prices for these styles and begins to sell.

(X also prepares Forms III for the other fabrics included in his inventory and account, and calculates the weighted average cost of the fabrics listed on each such form.)

During the season, X purchases and receives addition fabrics as follows:

(1) June 3, 1946—1,000 yards of Mill A Style 8004 @ $2.90.

(2) July 1, 1946—500 yards of Mill A Style 7010 @ $2.85.

(3) July 15, 1946—1,200 yards of Mill B Style 862 @ $2.92.

(4) Aug. 1, 1946—800 yards of Mill C Style 5031 @ $2.89.

(5) Sept. 1, 1946—1,000 yards of Mill D Style 7607 @ $2.96.

(6) Sept. 15, 1946—400 yards of Mill D Style 6000 @ $2.77 (spring fabric).

Under the procedure outlined in paragraph (2) (ii) above, he may put additional yardages of fabrics on an existing Form III, only if the net cost of each new purchase is not less than 98% of the weighted average cost computed for the fabrics originally entered on that form. Applying this test to X's new purchases, it appears that (1) (3), (4) and (5) may be added to his original Form III, but that (2) and (6) may not. Accordingly, X enters (1), (3), (4) and (5) in part B of the form (as indicated in the Sample above), and bases his maximum prices for styles made from these fabrics on a material cost per yard of $2.997. A new Form III must be prepared for (2) and maximum prices for garments made from this fabric must be based on the fabric's actual net cost per yard, or it may be entered on any other Form III, prepared for this garment group, provided that the net cost of (2) is not less than 98% of the weighted average cost originally calculated for fabrics listed on the particular form. (6) is a spring fabric. If X wants to make it into garments for sale during the fall season, he must treat it the same way as (2); or he may carry the fabric over until the 1947 spring selling season.

Spring selling season. At the start of his spring selling season (October 1, 1946), X must go through the same procedure which he followed for his fall selling season. That is, he must take an inventory and account of the fabrics which will be used during that season, combine these fabrics into fabric ranges and prepare a Form III for each range.

(3) Cost of material per yard—Method Two. As explained in subparagraph (1) above, this method differs from Method One in that the weighted average cost per yard for each range of fabrics which you set up is based on fabric receipts during a past six months period rather than on commitments for fabrics to be delivered in the future. Moreover, instead of calculating the weighted average cost per yard of each fabric range at the beginning of selling seasons, you make this calculation every six months.

(i) Calculating cost of material for the first six months period—(a) Fabric ranges. Prior to the first time after the effective date of the regulation that you sell or deliver a garment, you must combine the fabrics received duing the period September 1, 1945, to March 1, 1946, and the fabrics received prior to September 1, 1945, which were in inventory on March 1, 1945, into fabric ranges. You may define the term fabric range as broadly or as narrowly as you desire. That is, you may consider each different style fabric as a different fabric range, and thus figure a separate cost for each different fabric. Or, you may combine two or more different style fabrics into one fabric range, and figure a single weighted average cost for the combination.

A separate record (hereafter referred to as Form III) must be kept of each different fabric range. This record must be similar to the Forms III set forth in Example 12 above. In preparing this record you must observe the following rules:

Rule 1. Each Form III must describe (by name of supplier, weight per yard and supplier's style number) each different style fabric included on that form, and the style numbers of the garments for which the enumerated fabrics will be used.

Rule 2. For any garment group (except as provided by Rule 4) the same style fabric may not be listed on more than one Form III.

Rule 3. Once you have determined the fabric ranges for which you will prepare separate Forms III, you may not thereafter amend your forms, so as to add to a particular Form III a style fabric appearing on a different form, or to calculate a separate cost for a style fabric already combined with other fabrics.

Rule 4. If you receive a new style fabric after you have prepared your original Forms III, you must add this fabric to one of the existing forms provided that its net cost is within the net cost range of the fabrics first set forth on that form. (For example, if a particular form lists fabrics having a net cost range of from $2.50 to $3.15, you may add to that form a fabric with a net cost of $2.75, but you may not add fabrics with net costs of $2.40 and $3.20.) If a fabric is added to an existing Form III, you must determine maximum prices for garments made from the fabric on the basis of the weighted average cost already found for the fabrics originally listed on the form.

If the new fabric cannot be added to an existing Form III, you must prepare a separate Form III for it and cost it separately.

(b) Figuring the weighted average cost of fabric ranges. Figure the weighted average cost per yard of each fabric range as follows:

Step 1. Find from your invoices the total yardage of each fabric included in the range which was delivered to you between September 1, 1945, and March 1, 1945, and the net cost [2] per yard of each such fabric.

Step 2. Multiply each different net cost by the quantity of such fabric received at that cost, and total the products.

Step 3. Divide the sum found in Step 2 by the total quantity found in Step 1.

If the fabrics are sponged, you may add to the figure found in Step 3, the average cost per yard of sponging, calculated according to the procedure set forth in paragraph (a) (2) (iii) above.

The weighted average cost for a particular fabric range which is first calculated is to be used as the basis of maximum prices for all sales and deliveries, during the period between the effective date of the regulation and September 1, 1946, of garments made from a fabric included in that range.

(ii) Calculating cost of material for subsequent periods. At the start of each subsequent six months period, you must, before making any sales or deliveries in the new period, set up new fabric ranges, based on fabrics received during the six months period just completed and calculate the weighted average cost of each such range. To do this, consult your invoices for shipments received during the six months period just completed, and follow the procedure outlined in paragraph (i) above.

The recalculated weighted average cost which you find for a fabric range must be used as the basis of maximum prices for all sales and deliveries, during the new period, of garments made from fabrics included in that range.

NOTE: For each six months period you must prepare and keep: (1) a Form III for each fabric range which you have set up (in detail similar to the forms in Example 12; and (2) a record of your sponging cost for each "type of garment". In addition, you must preserve the invoices for past fabric receipts on which your fabric ranges are based, the invoices for fabrics received during the current period, and the cost records or invoices on which your calculation of sponging cost is based.

For style numbers scheduled on your Forms III for the interim and 1946 fall selling seasons,[21] calculate average yardage as follows:

Step 1. For each group, or, if your records permit and if you so elect, for each different price line, style or model [22] within a group, consult your cutting records for the six months period in 1945 which coincides with your 1946 fall selling season,[23] and find the total number of yards of material (before shrinkage) used in all cuttings completed during that period.

Step 2. Determine the total number of garments cut during that period.

Step 3. Divide the yardage determined under Step 1 by the number of garments determined under Step 2.

Example 13. Manufacturer X, who uses Method One is calculating the cost per yard of material, desires to determine the average yardage figure to be used in calculating his maximum prices for men's regular-weight suits (Group No. 18). He does not wish to calculate separate yardage figures for different price lines, styles or models within this group. He consults his cutting records for the period April 1 to October 1, 1945, which coincides with his 1946 fall selling season, and totals the yardage consumption for all cuttings of men's regular-weight suits completed during the period, including cuttings of single breasted models, stouts and regulars. He finds that the total yardage consumed was 25,141 yards. He then totals the numbers of garments cut and finds that he completed the cutting of 7,450 garments during that period. Accordingly, by dividing 25,141 by 7,450, X finds that the average yardage consumed in all models of men's regular-weight suits was 3.375 yards. X must use 3.375 yards as the average yardage figure for all style numbers of men's regular-weight suits scheduled on his Form III for the interim and 1946 fall selling seasons.

FORM IV

Date prepared: March 15, 1946.
Garment group: Men's regular-weight suits (Group No. 18).
Selling season: Interim and 1946 fall.

*Style numbers scheduled on Forms III for these seasons: 6501, 6502, 6503, 6504, 6505, 6506, 8301, 8302, 8303, 8304.

Total		7,450	25,141

Average amount of material consumed in fabricating garment group [(4)÷(3)]=3.375 yards.

*(If you figure yardage by model, you must designate, in addition to style number, the model of the garment.)

For style numbers scheduled on your Forms III for the 1947 spring selling season, you must calculate average yardage according to the procedure set forth in Steps 1, 2 and 3 above, but base your computation on yardage consumed and garments cut during the six months period in 1945–1946 which coincides with your 1947 spring selling season.[27] For each subsequent selling season, you must recalculate average yardage in the same manner, based on your experience during the corresponding selling season of the previous year.[28] That is, for style numbers scheduled on your Forms III for the 1947 fall selling season base your computation on yardage consumed and garments cut during the 1946 fall selling season, etc.

NOTE: For each selling season (if you use Method One in calculating the cost per yard of material) or for each six month period (if you use Method Two), you must prepare and keep a record of the calculations made under paragraph (4) above (in detail similar to Form IV in Example 13 above). Moreover, each time during a period that you cut a garment, you must prepare and keep a record of the number of such garments cut, the amount of each fabric consumed in that cutting, a description of each such fabric and the date of the cutting. In addition, you must preserve your cutting records for 1945, and for the period between January 1, 1946 and the effective date of the regulation.

(b) How to calculate trimming cost—(1) General explanation. To find the trimming cost of a garment you must calculate two figures—the cost per unit of each trimming used, and the number of units of each such trimming consumed in fabrication.

Subparagraph (2) below sets forth the method of calculating the cost per unit of each trimming. By this method you need not find the cost of the trimming used for a particular garment; instead you calculate the weighted average cost, during a specified period, of each trimming used for a "type of garment." [29] The weighted average cost of trimmings so found for a type of garment applies to all garments of that type made with those trimmings.[30]

Subparagraph (3) below sets forth the procedure for computing the number of units of each trimming used in fabrication. You need not find the number of units of trimming consumed by the particular garment you are costing. Instead you find, for a past production period, the average amount of trimming consumed by all garments of the garment type. This figure is to be used in costing each garment of the garment type which you now produce.[31]

Prior to the first time after the effective date of the regulation that you sell or deliver a type of garment, you must determine the trimming cost of that garment type. This figure must be used, during a specified period, for all garments using those trimmings. At the start of the next period, and at the start of each subsequent period, you must recalculate trimming costs for each type of garment. The recalculated figure must be used during the following period.

(2) Cost of trimming per unit. For the interim and 1946 fall selling seasons,[32] calculate the cost per unit of each trimming as follows:

Step 1. For each trimming used in a type of garment, find from your invoices the total quantity of that trimming delivered to you between December 1, 1945, and March 1, 1946, and net cost [33] of such trimming. (If no deliveries were received during this period, use the first one of the following bases which is applicable: deliveries received during the preceding three months period; deliveries received between March 1, 1946 and the time your calculation is being made; contracts for purchase entered into prior to the date your calculation is being made.)

Step 2. Multiply each different net cost by the quantity received at that cost, and total the products.

Step 3. Divide the sum found in Step 2 by the total quantity found in Step 1.

The weighted average cost per unit for each trimming, which is calculated at the start of a selling season, is to be used as the basis of maximum prices for all sales and deliveries of garments belonging to the garment type which use that trimming. At the start of each subsequent selling season, you must recalculate the weighted average cost of each trimming according to the procedure set forth above, but base your computation on your receipts during the three months period immediately preceding the start of the new selling season.[34]

(3) Calculation of number of units consumed. For the interim and 1946 fall selling season,[35] calculate the number of units for each trimming consumed as follows:

[21] Or for style numbers sold or delivered in the first six months period after the effective date of the regulation (if you use Method Two in calculating the cost per yard of material).

[22] If you elect to figure yardage by model, each model must be separately designated, e. g., style no. 6501, model DB. This designation must be attached to the garment and must be entered on the Form IV prepared for the model.

[23] If you did not cut a particular garment group during this period, use the first six months period prior to the effective date of the regulation in which you cut this group. If you did not cut the garment group in a past six months period, you may, for purposes of determining the maximum price at which you sell a garment included in the group, estimate the average yardage to be consumed by the group. However, prior to delivery of such garment you must calculate the actual average yardage for the garment group, based on cuttings up to that time; if the actual average yardage is less than the estimated yardage, you must revise your maximum price for the garment.

If you use Method Two, base your calculation on experience during the last six months of 1945. If you did not cut a particular garment group during this period, follow the rule stated in the first paragraph.

[27] If you use Method Two in calculating the cost per yard of material, for style numbers sold or delivered in the second six months period after the effective date of the regulation, you must calculate average yardage on the basis of yardage consumed and garments cut during the first six months of 1946.

[28] If you use Method Two, for each subsequent six months period, you must recalculate average yardage on the basis of your experience during the preceding six months.

[30] If your records permit you may determine cost per unit of trimmings by garment group, price line within a garment group, or by style or model within a price line.

[31] If your records permit you may determine the amount of trimmings consumed by garment group, price line within a garment group, or by style or model within a price line.

[32] Or, for the first six months period after the effective date of the regulation, if you use Method Two for calculating the cost per yard of material.

[33] See footnote 21.

[34] If you use Method Two, the figure first found must be used for all sales and deliveries during the first six months period after the effective date of the regulation. At the start of each subsequent six months period, you must recalculate, and the recalculated figure must be used for all sales and deliveries during the new six months period.

[35] See footnote 32.

[2] Net cost is defined in footnote 21.

Step 1. For each type of garment, consult your production records for the period between December 1, 1945 and March 1, 1946 and find the total number of units of each trimming used in all garments, of that type, which were completed in the period. (If a particular garment type was not produced during this period, use the first preceding three months period in which such garments were produced.)

Step 2. Determine the total number of garments completed during the period.

Step 3. Divide the amount of each trimming consumed (determined under Step 1) by the number of garments completed (determined under Step 2).

The average amount of each trimming consumed by a garment type, which is calculated at the start of a selling season, is to be used as the basis of maximum prices for all sales and deliveries of garments belonging to the garment type which use that trimming. At the start of each subsequent selling season, you must recalculate the average amount of each trimming consumed according to the procedure set forth above, but base your computation on your production records for the three months period immediately preceding the start of the new selling season.[34]

(4) Calculation of total trimming cost. To find the total trimming cost of a garment type for a particular selling season, multiply the weighted average cost of each trimming (found under subparagraph (2)) by the average number of units of such trimming (found under subparagraph (3)), and then add the products.

NOTE: For each selling season (Method One), or for each six months period (Method Two), you must prepare and keep a record of the calculations made under paragraph (b) above. In addition you must preserve the invoices, contracts of purchase and production records on which your calculations are based.

(c) How to calculate direct labor cost—(1) Inside shop—(i) General explanation. The direct labor cost of a garment must be figured on the basis of the wage rates in effect on August 18, 1945, for each direct labor operation performed on the garment. Operations which may be considered direct labor are set forth in section 6.

Subdivision (ii) below sets forth instructions for calculating the cost of piece-work operations. These instructions permit the calculation of an average piece-work cost for a price line within a garment group, or a separate piece-work cost for each style or model. Subdivision (iii) below provides instructions for calculating the cost of operations compensated on a time basis (week work). An average time-work cost may be found for a garment group, or, if your records permit, for a garment price line. However, you may, if you desire, find a separate time-work cost for each style or model.

(ii) Piece-work operations. (a) For operations compensated on a piece-work basis, cost must be figured on the basis of the piece-work rate in effect on August 18, 1945, for each such operation. If no rate was in effect on August 18, 1945, for a particular operation, use the rate first established subsequent to that date; however, if wage rates have been increased over those in effect on August 18, 1945, the rate first established must be adjusted downward to reflect the August 18, 1945, wage level.

(b) The procedure in (a) above may result in a different total piece-work cost for different models within the same style of garment and for different styles within the same garment price line. To afford you a uniform total piece-work cost for all styles or models within a garment price line, you may combine the total piece-work costs of each style or model and obtain a weighted average piece-work cost for the price line. To do this, weight the piece-work cost of each style or model by your estimated deliveries of such style or model during the selling season for which it is scheduled.[35]

At the end of the selling season you must reweight the total piecework cost of each style or model by your actual deliveries during the selling season, and, if the actual weighted average piece-work cost for a price line is less than 98% of the estimated average cost, you are in violation of this regulation and subject to all the penalties provided therefor in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, including liability to suit by the Administrator under section 205 (e). The amount of overcharge is the difference between the total dollar amount which you actually charge and the total dollar amount which you could have charged had your maximum prices been based on the actual weighted average piecework cost.

For each subsequent selling season,[36] you must follow the same procedure. That is, you must calculate a weighted average piecework cost for the garment price line, based upon your estimated deliveries during the new period; at the end of the selling season you must find the actual weighted average cost, and, if it is less than 98% of the estimated average cost, you are in violation of the regulation.

Example 14. Manufacturer S produces one garment group (group no. 18), and has only one price line within that group—range no. 1500. This range is made in three different styles and each style in two different models (single breasteds and double breasteds). S compensates all of his direct labor on a piece-work basis, and he desires to compute a uniform direct labor cost for the price line.

S finds that his August 18, 1945 total piece-work cost for each of his various styles and models, and his scheduled unit deliveries during the 1946 fall selling season, are as follows:

	(1)	(2)	(3) [(1) x (2)]
Style No. 1501:
Single breasteds	$7.50	$2,500	$18,750
Double breasteds	7.00	4,000	28,000
Style No. 1502:
Single breasteds	7.75	3,000	23,250
Double breasteds	7.25	5,000	36,250
Style No. 1503:
Single breasteds	7.50	1,500	11,250
Double breasteds	7.00	2,500	17,500
		18,500	135,000

Then his weighted average direct labor cost for price line, range no. 1500, is $7.297 ($135,000÷$18,500). S may use this figure as the basis of maximum prices for all garments in that price line which he produces. However, at the end of his 1946 fall selling season, S must recalculate the weighted average direct labor cost for the price line, based on his actual deliveries during the period. If the actual direct labor cost is less than 98% of $7.297, S is in violation of the regulation.

(iii) Time operations. For operations compensated on a time basis, figure your direct labor cost as indicated in Rules 1 and 2 below, using the wage rates in effect on August 18, 1945. If wage rates have been increased over those in effect on August 18, 1945, such increases in wage rates must not be reflected in your calculations.

The rules below require a comparison between your payroll for each time operation during a specified period and the number of garments on which that operation was completed during that period. For cutting, sewing and pressing operations, you must segregate your garments by group, or, if your records permit, by price line; you may segregate by style or model within a group. For all other operations, you may determine the average labor cost of performing each such operation on all of your garments, regardless of group and use that figure for all garments.

Rule 1. For an operation performed during the six months period ending November 30, 1945, you find the cost by dividing your payroll for the operation during the period by the number of garments on which that operation was completed during that period.

Rule 2. For operations not performed during the six month period ending November 30, 1945, you may, for purposes of determining the maximum price at which you may sell a garment, estimate the cost of that operation.[37] However, prior to delivery of a garment on which that operation is performed, you must calculate the actual average cost of such operation based upon your experience up to that time, and you must use this figure in determining the maximum price for delivery of the garment.

Example 15: Manufacturer M, who produces only one group of garments (group no. 18), compensates his cutters on a time basis and his records permit him to calculate a different cutting cost for each different price line within that group. M has three price lines—range no. 2500; range no. 3500; range no. 4500. Nos. 3500 and 4500 were produced during the six months period ending November 30, 1945, but no. 2500 was not.

M finds the cutting cost for no. 3500 by dividing his cutters' payroll for this price line, during the six months period ending November 30, 1945, by the number of garments in that price line on which that operation was completed during the period. The cutting cost for no. 4500 is found in a similar manner.

In order to obtain an actual cutting cost for No. 2500, M must wait until the price line has been cut for a representative period. He then divides his cutters' pay roll for this price line, during the period, by the number of garments on which that operation was completed. If the payroll for the period is based on wage rates higher than those in effect on August 18, 1945, M must adjust the payroll so that it reflects August 18 wage rates.

(2) Contractor's services. For items fabricated by a contractor, figure as direct labor cost an amount equal to 80% of the contractor's net service charge for direct labor, markup on direct labor and trim furnished by the contractor. If the contractor's charge has been increased, to reflect a wage increase granted since August 18, 1945, you must subtract the amount attributable to the wage increase and take 80% of the reduced figure.

NOTE: You must prepare and keep a record of the calculations made in figuring the direct labor cost of operations compensated on a time basis (in detail similar to Form VII in Appendix L), and you must preserve all of the records on which your calculations of direct labor cost are based, including payrolls, piece-work rate schedules, production records and contractors' invoices.

(d) How to calculate certain labor overhead costs. Find the unit cost of payments for vacations, holidays, life, health or accident insurance, and retirement or pension funds as follows:

Step 1. Select a representative period prior to the effective date of the regulation (not less than one month) in which these payments were made.

Step 2. Divide the amount expended on these costs during the period by your total direct labor payroll for the period.

Step 3. Apply the percentage found in Step 2 to the direct labor cost of the garment found under paragraph (c) above.

NOTE: You must preserve all the records on which your calculation of certain labor overhead costs is based.

[34] See footnote 34.

[35] Or by your estimated deliveries during the first six months' period after the effective date of the regulation (if you use Method Two for calculating the cost per yard of material).

[36] Or at the start of each subsequent six months' period (Method Two).

[37] Your estimate of the number of garments on which the operation will be performed must be related to the quantity of fabrics listed for the garment group (or for the garment price line, style or model, if you have elected to figure labor cost on one of these bases) in your Forms III.

Example 16. Manufacturer N finds that during the one month period prior to the effective date of the regulation his total payments for vacations, holidays, health insurance and retirement was $4,750. During this period, his total direct labor payroll was $50,000. Dividing the former by the latter gives 9½%.

Under paragraph (c) above, N has elected to figure direct labor cost by price line within a garment group. For garment price line, range no. 3500, he has found a direct labor cost of $5.00. Applying 9½% to $5.00 gives $0.475. N may add $0.475 to the material, trim and direct labor costs which he has already found for the price line.

NOTE: Before you deliver a garment, you must prepare and keep a control record of: (a) its material cost; (b) its trimming cost; (c) its direct labor cost; and (d) the cost of certain labor overhead costs allocable to the garment. This record must be in detail similar to Form V in Appendix G. If you combined fabrics into fabric ranges, you may keep this record by garment ranges (i. e., a separate record need not be kept for each style or model within a garment group); otherwise a separate record must be prepared for each different style number. The material cost figure shall be derived from the Forms III and IV which you were required to prepare under paragraph (a) above; the trimming cost figure from the record which you were required to prepare under paragraph (b) above; and the direct labor and labor overhead figures must be those respectively calculated under paragraphs (c) and (d) above.

APPENDIX F—SPECIAL PROCEDURES FOR CALCULATING UNIT DIRECT COST

This appendix outlines optional cost procedures for ready-made garments produced by manufacturing-retailers which are set forth in Part A below. Part B of this appendix provides a procedure for calculating the direct labor cost of made-to-measure garments.

PART A—MANUFACTURING-RETAILERS' READY-MADE GARMENTS

(a) How to calculate material cost—(1) Cost of material per yard. As provided by Method One in Appendix E, you do not find the cost per yard of the particular fabric used for a garment; instead, you calculate the weighted average cost per yard of the "range of fabrics" to be used, during a selling season, in each "garment price line" within a "garment group."[38] The weighted average cost so found for a price line applies to all garments of that price line made from the fabrics included in the fabric range. You are required to set up new fabric ranges for each price line at the start of each selling season.

(i) Garments other than overcoats and summer-weight suits—(a) Selling seasons. For each calendar year you will have two selling seasons, spring and fall. The spring selling season shall cover the period January 1 to June 30; the fall selling season, the period July 1 to December 31. However, for 1946 your spring selling season shall cover the period between the effective date of the regulation and June 30, 1946.

(b) Combining fabrics into ranges. On March 11, 1946, you must take an inventory and make an account of the yardage and cost per yard of: fabric to be used in garment styles scheduled for the 1946 spring selling season, which have not yet been received but are covered by "commitments"[39] confirmed before March 11, 1946; fabrics in inventory but not yet cut; fabrics in process; and fabrics in finished garments, except garments which are in your retail stores. Exclude from this inventory and account any fabrics used for overcoats and summer-weight suits.

After completing this analysis, you must combine the fabrics shown by your account into fabric ranges, so that you can compute a weighted average cost per yard for each different range. In setting up your fabric ranges, you must observe the following rules:

Rule 1. A separate record (similar to Form III in Example 12) must be prepared and kept for each different fabric range.

Rule 2. Each Form III must describe (by name of supplier, weight per yard and supplier's style number) each different fabric included on that form and list the style numbers of the garments for which the enumerated fabrics will be used.[40]

Rule 3. For any garment group (except as permitted by Rule 4) the same style fabric may not be listed on more than one Form III.

Rule 4. If, after you have set up your various fabric ranges, you purchase and receive additional fabric which is to be used in the current selling season, you may enter this fabric on one of the existing Forms III. Or, you may prepare a new Form III for it and cost it separately.

On July 1, 1946, and at the start of each selling season thereafter, you must repeat the procedure outlined above with respect to inventory and account and the preparation of Forms III. However, the inventory and account will only include your fabric commitments for the new season and any undelivered past season commitments.

(c) Figuring the initial weighted average cost of fabric ranges. When you have set up the fabric ranges which are to be used for a selling season, you must then figure an initial weighted average cost for each such range, as follows:

Step 1. Enter on each Form III the yardage (indicated by your inventory and account) of each fabric listed on the form, and the "net cost"[41] per yard of such fabric.

Step 2. Multiply each different net cost by the quantity of fabric entered at that cost, and total the products.

Step 3. Divide the sum found in Step 2 by the total yardage found in Step 1.

If the fabrics are sponged, you may add to the figure found in Step 3 the average cost of sponging, calculated according to the procedure outlined in Appendix E, paragraph (a) (1) (iii).

The initial weighted average cost which is calculated at the start of a selling season for a particular fabric range is to be used as the basis of maximum prices for all sales and deliveries of each style number of garment made from a fabric listed on the range's Form III (including pick-up fabrics added after the original form was prepared).[42] At the start of each selling season, new style numbers must be assigned to each garment which is to be made from each different fabric included in the fabric ranges set up for that selling season.

(d) Figuring the actual weighted average cost of fabric ranges. At the end of each selling season, you must calculate the actual weighted average cost of each fabric range which was set up for that season as follows:

Step 1. For each fabric listed on a particular Form III (including pick-up fabrics which were added after the original form was prepared), find from your invoices the yardage received during the season and the net cost[43] per yard.

Step 2. Multiply each different net cost by the quantity of fabric received at that cost, and total the products.

Step 3. Divide the sum found in Step 2 by the total yardage found in Step 1.

If the actual weighted average cost for a particular fabric range is less than 95% of the initial weighted average cost for the range, you are in violation of the regulation and subject to all the penalties provided therefor in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, including liability to suit for damages by the Administrator under section 205 (e). The amount of overcharge is the difference between the initial and actual weighted average costs, multiplied by the number of garments made from fabrics listed on the Form III which were delivered during the period.

(ii) Overcoats. For garments sold between the effective date of the regulation and July 1, 1946, was the maximum prices established under MPR 177. On and after July 1, 1946, all sales of overcoats must be made at the maximum prices, established under this regulation. Accordingly, on July 1, 1946, you must take an inventory and make an account of the yardage and cost per yard of: overcoat fabrics to be used in garment styles scheduled for the 1946 fall selling season, which have not yet been received but are covered by "commitments" confirmed before July 1, 1946; overcoats fabrics in inventory but not yet cut; overcoats fabrics in finished garments; and overcoat fabrics in finished garments, except garments which are in your retail stores. Then you must combine these fabrics into fabric ranges (in accordance with subdivision (i) (b) above) and figure an initial weighted average cost for each range (in accordance with subdivision (i) (c) above).

At the end of your 1945 fall selling season, you must calculate the actual weighted average cost of each fabric range. If this is at least 95% of your initial weighted average cost, you may continue to use the initial weighted average cost for the 1947 spring selling season. If it is not, you are in violation of the regulation and subject to the penalties outlined in subdivision (i) (d) above. Moreover, your maximum prices for the 1947 spring selling season must be refigured on the basis of the actual weighted average cost.

For subsequent selling seasons, follow the same procedure. That is, at the start of each subsequent fall selling season you must take an inventory and make an account of your fabric commitments for that season and any undelivered past season commitments, set up your fabric ranges and figure and initial weighted average cost of each range. At the end of this selling season, calculate the actual weighted average cost of the range. If the actual is at least 95% of the initial, you may continue to use the initial during the following spring selling season; otherwise you are in violation of the regulation and must refigure your maximum prices on the basis of the actual weighted average cost.

(iii) Summer-weight suits. Your selling seasons for these garments will be March 1 (spring) and September 1 (fall). On March 11, 1946, you must take an inventory and make an account of your summer-weight fabrics and combine these fabrics into fabric ranges (follow the procedure outlined in subdivision (i) (b) above). Then you must figure an initial weighted average cost for each fabric range, in accordance with subdivision (i) (c) above.

At the end of your 1946 spring selling season, you must calculate the actual weighted average cost of each fabric range. If this is at least 95% of your initial weighted average cost, you may continue to use the initial weighted average cost for the 1946 fall selling season. If it is not, you are in violation of the regulation and subject to the penalties outlined in subdivision (i) (d) above. Moreover, your maximum prices for the 1947 fall selling season must be refigured on the basis of the actual weighted average cost.

For subsequent selling seasons, follow the same procedure. That is, at the start of each subsequent spring selling season you must take an inventory and make an account, set up your fabric ranges, and figure the initial weighted average cost of each range. At the end of this selling season, calculate the actual weighted average cost of the range. If the actual is at least 95% of the initial, you may continue to use the initial during the following fall selling season; otherwise you are in violation of the regulation, and must refigure your maximum prices on the basis of the actual weighted average cost.

NOTE: For each selling season, you must prepare and keep: (a) a record of the inventory and account on which your fabric ranges are based; (b) a Form III for each fabric range which you have set up; (c) a record of the sponging cost for each type of garment, showing the total yardage of fabrics sponged and the total cost of such sponging; and (d) a record of the fabrics received during the season (showing the date of receipt, invoice number, yardage, net cost per yard, and the actual weighted average cost of each fabric range). In addition, you must preserve your commitments, all invoices for fabric receipts, and the cost records or invoices and which your calculation of sponging cost is based.

(2) Calculation of yardage consumed. Calculate yardage according to the procedure set forth in Appendix E, paragraph (a) (4). However, your periods for calculation and the past periods on which your calculations are based shall be as follows:

	When calculation must be made	Past period on which calculation is based
Garments other than overcoats and summer-weight suits.	January 1 (effective date of regulation for 1946) and July 1 of each year.	January 1 to July 1 of preceding year. July 1 to January 1 of preceding year.
Overcoats	July 1 of each year	July 1 to January 1 of preceding year. March 1 to September 1 of preceding year.
Summer-weight suits	March 1 of each year

(b) How to calculate trimming cost. Calculate trimming cost according to the procedure set forth in Appendix E, paragraph (b). However, your periods for calculation and the past periods on which your calculations are based shall be as follows:

	When calculation must be made	Past period on which calculation is based
Garments other than overcoats and summer-weight suits.	January 1 (effective date of regulation for 1946) and July 1 of each year.	Preceding three months.
Overcoats	July 1 of each year	Preceding three months.
Summer-weight suits	March 1 of each year	Preceding three months.

(c) How to calculate direct labor cost. Calculate direct labor cost according to the procedure set forth in Appendix E, paragraph (c).

(d) How to calculate certain labor overhead costs. Calculate these costs according to the procedure set forth in Appendix E, paragraph (d).

PART B—HOW TO CALCULATE THE DIRECT LABOR COST OF MADE-TO-MEASURE GARMENTS

(a) General explanation. The direct labor cost of a garment must be figured on the basis of wage rates in effect on August 18, 1945, for each direct labor operation performed on the garment. Operations which may be considered direct labor are set forth in section 6.

Paragraphs (b) and (c) below require a comparison between your direct labor payroll during a specified period and the number of garments on which direct labor operations were completed during the period. You must determine a separate direct labor cost for each garment group. However, you may, if your records permit and if you so elect, determine direct labor cost by price line within a garment group, or by style or model.

(b) Where you can determine the direct labor expenditure for each garment group. If you can determine from your payroll records for a past period the direct labor expenditure for each garment group produced during the period, find the direct labor cost for each garment included in the group as follows:

Step 1. From your pay-roll records for a representative period prior to August 18, 1945 (not less than three consecutive months), in which you produced a normal range of sizes and models, find, for each garment group, the total amount expended on direct labor operations.

Step 2. From your production records for the same period, find the number of garments in the group on which such direct labor operations were completed.

Step 3. Divide the amount found in Step 1 by the number of garments found in Step 2.

(c) Where you cannot determine the direct labor expenditure for each garment group. If you cannot determine from your payroll records the direct labor expenditure for each garment group, you must use the following method:

Step 1. From your payroll records for a representative period prior to August 18, 1945 (not less than three consecutive months), in which you produced a normal range of sizes and models, find the total amount expended on direct labor operations and the garment groups on which this amount was expended.

Step 2. For each such garment group, find, with the aid of your piece work schedules, the amount of the total payroll for the period which is allocable to piece work operations.

Step 3. Sum up the "piece work payrolls" for each garment group, and subtract this sum from the total payroll for the period; the difference is the "payroll for time operations."

Step 4. For each garment group, find the piece work rate per garment. To do this:

(i) From your production records for the period, find, for each group, the number of garments on which direct labor operations were completed.

(ii) Divide the piece work payroll for the garment group (found in Step 2) by the number of garments found in (i) above.

Step 5. For each garment group, then find that portion of the payroll for time operations which is allocable to the group. To do this:

(i) Find the ratio of the group's piece work rate to the piece work rates for all groups (the latter is merely the sum of all the individual piece work rates found in Step 4).

(ii) Multiply the payroll for time operations (found in Step 3) by the ratio found in (i) above.

Step 6. To find the direct labor cost of a particular garment group, total the piece work payroll for the group (found in Step 2) and the time work payroll for the group (found in Step 5), and divide by the number of garments in the group on which direct labor operations were completed (found in Step 4 (i)).

Example 17: Manufacturer Z produces overcoats and sport coats in one shop, and cannot segregate the direct labor expenditures for each garment group. His total direct labor payroll for the three months' period ending August 1, 1945, was $18,000. During this period, direct labor operations were completed on 1,000 overcoats and on 1,000 sport coats.

Z finds, with the aid of his piece work schedules, that $9,000 of the payroll is allocable to piece work ($5,000 for overcoats and $4,000 for sport coats). Accordingly, his piece work rate for overcoats is $5 ($5,000÷1,000), and his piece work rate for sport coats is $4,000÷1,000).

Subtracting $9,000 (the portion of the payroll allocable to piece work) from $18,000 leaves $9,000 as the payroll for time work. Then, the time work payroll for overcoats is $5,000 (5/9 of $9,000), and the time work payroll for sport coats is $4,000 (4/9 of $9,000).

Dividing $10,000 (the total payroll for overcoats) by 1,000 (the number of overcoats on which direct labor operations were completed) gives $10, the direct labor cost for overcoats. Similarly, dividing $8,000 by 1,000, gives $8, the direct labor cost for sport coats.

(d) New garment groups. Where a garment group was not produced prior to August 18, 1945, you may, for purposes of determining the maximum price at which you may sell a garment included in that group, estimate the group's average direct labor cost. However, prior to delivery of a garment belonging to the group, you must calculate the actual average direct labor cost of such group, based on your payroll expenditures up to that time. You must use the actual figure in determining the maximum price for delivery of the garment.

NOTE: You must preserve all records on which your calculations of direct labor cost are based, including payrolls, piece-work rate schedules and production records. Moreover, you must prepare and keep (i) a record of the calculations made in figuring direct labor cost; and (ii) the control record outlined in the Note at the end of Appendix E.

APPENDIX I—HIGHEST PRICE LINE LIMITS FOR NEW GROUPS

The table below provides an automatic method whereby you may determine your highest price line limit for a group for which a highest price line limit cannot be determined under Maximum Price Regulation 177. The table shall be used as follows:

(a) Select your "reference group number" from among the group numbers for which highest price line limits can be determined under section 5 (b) (1). (Your reference group number is the group in which you delivered the greatest number of units in 1943.)

(b) Multiply the highest price line limit of your reference group number by the figure in Column 2 opposite the group number for which a highest price line limit is to be determined.

(c) Divide the result by the figure in Column 2 opposite the reference group number.

NOTE: If you made no deliveries in 1943 and have since received a Letter Order authorizing maximum prices under MPR 177, use the first calendar or fiscal year in which you made deliveries. If you did not make deliveries in any calendar or fiscal year prior to the effective date of the regulation, use the period between the date of the order issued to you and the effective date of this regulation.

Example 18: Manufacturer M desires to determine a highest price line limit for Group No. 40.

M has determined highest price line limits under section 5 (b) (1) for Group Nos. 6, 12 and 18. Of these three groups, M delivered more units in Group No. 18 during 1943 than of the other two groups, so that his "reference group number" is Group No. 18.

M's highest price line limit for Group 18 is $22.50.

M calculates his highest price line limit for Group No. 40 by first multiplying $22.50 by 65 (the figure opposite Group No. 40 in the table on the preceding page). The result, $1,442.50, is then divided by 100 (the figure opposite Group No. 18, M's reference group number), or $14.42½.

Instructions for Form V

(Each instruction goes with the item in the form which has the same number as the instruction.)

1. Enter the style numbers of the garments for which costs are to be recorded on this Form V. (As provided in the note at the end of Appendix E, if you combined garment styles made from fabric ranges into one form for all fabric ranges, otherwise a separate Form V must be prepared for each different garment style).

2. Enter the group number listed in Appendices A, B or C which includes the garments listed.

3. Enter a complete description of the garments (e. g., men's regular-weight suit).

4. Enter the average size range (e. g., 36–46) in which the garment is cut.

5. Enter the general division factor if you use it to price all garments. If you have selected group division factors under section 4 (d), enter the group division factor for the group number entered in Item 2. If you have selected class division factors under section 4 (a), enter these factors here.

6. For each direct labor operation performed on the garment for which this record is prepared: Indicate in Column (2) whether the operation is on a piece rate or time basis, and enter the cost of each operation in Column (3). Total the labor costs in the Column to be entered in Item 7. (It is derived from a separate form, however, in the case of made-to-measure garments, enter the figure calculated under Appendix F, Part B.)

7. Enter the percentage found (under Appendix E, paragraph (d)) for certain labor overhead costs. Then multiply this percentage by the direct labor cost figure arrived at in (7), and enter the result.

9. Enter in Column (1) a brief description of each trimming used in the garment. Enter in Columns (2) and (3) the weighted average cost per unit and the number of units of that trimming used (calculated under paragraph (b) of Appendix E and entered on the record which you prepared for each trimming). Multiply the entry in Column (2) by the entry in Column (3) and enter the result in Column (4).

10. Enter in Column (1) the number of yards used. This quantity is determined from the "Form IV report" which you have prepared for this garment group (or for price line, style or model if you have elected to calculate costs on that basis) under section 4 (b) (4) of paragraph (b) (4) of Appendix E. Enter in Column (2) the weighted average cost per yard (entered on your Form III for that range of fabrics) of material used. Enter in Column (3) the average sponging cost per yard determined under paragraph (c) of Appendix E, Part B, Item 10 is the sum of direct labor costs (Item 7), the cost of certain labor overhead cost (Item 8), trimming costs (Item 9) and material costs (Column 5 of Item 10).

APPENDIX J—ADJUSTED HIGHEST PRICE LINE LIMITS FOR CERTAIN SELLERS

The table below lists adjusted highest price line limits for specific group numbers which you may, under certain conditions, use as your highest price line limits. For any listed group number, if your highest price line limit determined under section 5 (b) (1) or (2) is lower than the figure listed in the appropriate column in the table, you may use the limit listed in the table for that group as your highest price line limit in complying with the limit on maximum prices provided in section 5 (a).

For certain group numbers, separate adjusted highest price line limits are listed for garments made of different fabrics. Accordingly, you may use the adjusted highest price line limit for such group numbers only for garments of that group made of the specified fabric.

Example 19: Group No. 18 is divided into No. 18 (1) for garments made of all wool worsted fabrics, and No. 18 (2) for garments made of any fabric other than all wool worsted. Manufacturer P's highest price line limit under section 5 (3) for group No. 18 is $17.50. For garments made of all wool worsted fabrics, P may use the adjusted highest price line limit of $21.00; for garments made of fabrics other than all wool worsteds, P's highest price line limit remains at $17.50.

APPENDIX K—PROCEDURE FOR AMENDING FORMS I, II AND VI

(a) If you find that it is necessary to amend your Form I or II, you must file two signed copies of an amended form with your OPA district office, setting forth the inaccuracies in the original form and the reasons therefor. Until you have received an acknowledgment from your district office of the receipt of an amended Form I or II, however, you must calculate your maximum prices as follows:

(1) If you file an amended Form I, use as your general division factor either the factor reported on the amended form or that listed in the original form, whichever is higher. If you have also filed a Form II which must be amended because of the amendment to your Form I, use as your individual division factors the factors reported on your original Form II if the general division factor reported on your amended Form I is lower than the factor originally reported; use as your individual division factors the factors reported on your amended Form II, if the general division factor reported on your amended Form I is higher than the factor originally reported.

(2) If you file an amended Form II, use as your individual division factors, the factors reported on your original form. (However if the amendment to your Form II is necessitated by an amendment to your Form I, see subparagraph (1) above.)

(b) If you find that it is necessary to amend your Form VI, you must file two signed copies of an amended form with your OPA district office, setting forth the inaccuracies in the original form and the reason therefor.

(c) If you have filed Form II and then desire to withdraw it and price merely on the basis of your general division factor, you may file two signed copies of a request for withdrawal with your OPA district office. Until you receive an acknowledgment from your district office of the receipt of your request, however, you must continue to use the individual division factors reported on your Form II.

To do this, you must file your Form I (together with Form II, if applicable) between March 11, 1946, and April 15, 1946, and indicate on Form I that you wish the regulation to become effective prior to April 15, 1946. In such case, the regulation shall become effective for you as of the date indicated on the acknowledgment notice received from your OPA district office.

If you are required to apply for an authorized general division factor under section 7, and you desire to make this regulation effective prior to April 15, 1946, you must file the application required by that section between March 11, 1946, and April 15, 1946, and indicate on the application that you wish the regulation to become effective prior to April 15, 1946. In such case, the regulation shall become effective for you as of the date indicated on the acknowledgment notice received from the Office of Price Administration. However, if you filed an application under section 1389.106 of Maximum Price Regulation 177 prior to March 11, 1946, and received acknowledgment of its filing, the regulation shall become effective as to you on March 11, 1946. In such case, you must still submit the information required by section 7, and are subject to the filing requirements therein enumerated.

NOTE: The reporting and record keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 11th day of March 1946.

4. Subparagraph (4) of section 7 (b) is amended by changing the words preceding the colon therein contained, to read as follows:

(4) Subject to the adjustments authorized in subparagraph (6) of this section 7 (b) and/or paragraph (c) of section 10 the "adjusted weighted average price" in each zone for each brand, type and container size of sterile canned meat other than that priced under paragraph (b) (2) of this section shall be, except as provided in subparagraph (5) of this section 7 (b), the ceiling price under this regulation for such brand, type and container size of sterile canned meat at the delivery point in such zone:

5. Subparagraph (5) of section 7 (b) is amended by the addition of a footnote to follow immediately after the table of prices contained therein, to read as follows:

[NOTE: On and after March 14, 1946, any seller subject to the provisions of this subparagraph (5) of section 7 (b) may adjust the prices herein provided to the extents permitted by subparagraph (6) of this section 7 (b) and/or paragraph (c) of section 10.]

6. Subparagraph (6) of section 7 (b) is added to read as follows:

(6) On and after March 14, 1946, any seller subject to the provisions of section 7 (b) or section 11 (d) of this regulation, who prior to that date has complied with the filing requirements of section 8, and any seller who theretofore has had maximum prices established by an order issued by the Office of Price Administration under the provisions of section 9 or section 10 (a) of this regulation, may adjust the maximum prices theretofore established for each brand, type and container size of such products in each zone in accordance with the following provisions:

(i) Determine separately the number of pounds of beef, veal, lamb, mutton, ham or sliced bacon used in each 100 pounds of the unprocessed ingredients required by the formula for each canned meat product.

(ii) Divide each of the number of pounds thus ascertained by the percentage of yield of the finished product.

(iii) Multiply the figures obtained under subdivision (ii) above by the appropriate one of the following numbers:

(a) $.007, if the meat ingredient is either beef, veal, lamb or mutton.

(b) $.008, if the meat ingredient is fresh or cured ham.

(c) $.01, if the meat ingredient is slab bacon.

(d) $.0105, if the meat ingredient is smoked ham.

(e) $.02, if the meat ingredient is sliced bacon.

(iv) Total all amounts ascertained under subdivision (iii) above. If only one amount has to be ascertained, regard that amount as the "total" herein required.

(v) If the maximum prices for the canned meat product were on a per hundredweight basis prior to March 14, 1946, round the result obtained under subdivision (iv) above to the nearest multiple of $.25. If the maximum prices for the canned meat product were on a per dozen basis prior to March 14, 1946, convert the result obtained under subdivision (iv) above to a per pound basis by moving the decimal point two columns to the left, and multiply that amount by the number of pounds of product contained in one dozen containers, rounding the result thereby obtained to the nearest one-half cent. The results thus obtained are the respective amounts which may be added to the per hundredweight and per dozen maximum prices which were in effect prior to March 14, 1946.

(vi) Every seller who adjusts his maximum prices in accordance with the provisions of this subparagraph (6) of section 7 (b) shall give notice of such adjustments to purchasers in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of this regulation.

(vii) Every seller who adjusts his maximum prices in accordance with the provisions of this subparagraph (6) of section 7 (b) shall, within 30 days after the date on which he makes such adjustment, provide written notice of such change and the amount thereof to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. Such notice shall be accompanied by a copy of the computations made in accordance with the provisions of subdivisions (i) through (v) of this section 7 (b) (6). Failure to comply with this subdivision (vii) of this section 7 (b) (6) shall be deemed automatically to revoke any seller's right to make such adjustment thereafter until the date upon which the notice and computations herein required are filed with this said Office. Notices and data filed in compliance with the provisions of this subdivision (vii) of section 7 (b) (6) may be combined with the notices and data required to be filed under the provisions of section 10 (c).

(viii) Price increases made under the provisions of this section 7 (b) (6) shall be subject to review or modification by the Administrator at any time.

7. Subparagraph (4) to section 7 (c) is added to read as follows:

(4) On and after March 14, 1946, any intermediate distributor who, as the result of an adjustment made in accordance with the provisions of section 7 (b) (6) and/or paragraph (c) of section 10 pays an increased amount for any canned meat product, such intermediate distributor, on resale of the product, may add the amount of such increase to the ceiling price he had for such product prior to the said date. Any intermediate distributor who makes the adjustment in his maximum price for any canned meat product as authorized by this section 7 (c) (4) shall provide notice of the change in accordance with the provisions of section 6.

8. Paragraph (c) to section 10 is added to read as follows:

(c) Price adjustments following approved wage and salary increases. (1) On and after March 14, 1946, the price adjustment authorized by this section 10 (c) may be made by any canned meat manufacturer at any time after he meets either of the following requirements:

(i) Between August 18, 1945 and February 14, 1946, he granted wage and salary adjustments involving general increases.

(ii) On or after February 14, 1946 he made wage and salary adjustments involving general increases with the prior approval of the National Wage Stabilization Board or other wage or stabilization agency having jurisdiction with respect to the wages or salaries involved.

(2) On and after March 14, 1946, any canned meat manufacturer who first has met either of the requirements set forth in subdivisions (i) or (ii) of subparagraph (1) of this section 10 (c) may add not to exceed $.70 per hundredweight to the maximum prices established prior to the date he makes the change herein authorized for any brand, type or container size of any canned meat product in any zone if such maximum price has been established in accordance with the provisions of either section 7, section 9, section 10 (a) or section 11 (d). If the maximum prices established under the aforesaid sections are on a per dozen rather than a per hundredweight basis determine the proportionate amount of increase by multiplying not to exceed $.007 by the number of pounds of product contained in one dozen containers, rounding the result thereby obtained to the nearest one-half cent. The amount thereby obtained may be added to the per dozen maximum prices.

(3) Every seller who adjusts his maximum prices in accordance with the provisions of this section 10 (c) shall give notice to purchasers of such adjustments in accordance with the provisions of section 6.

(4) Every seller who adjusts his maximum prices in accordance with the provisions of this section 10 (c) shall within 30 days after the date on which he makes such adjustment, provide written notice of such change and the amount thereof to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. Such notice shall include a statement indicating the date on which the price adjustment herein authorized was made, the date on which the wage and salary adjustment involving general increases was put into effect and the average amount of increase per hour, the date on which the wage and salary adjustment involving general increases was authorized, the name of the authorizing body, and the name and address of the seller. Failure to comply with this subparagraph (4) of section 10 (c) shall be deemed automatically to revoke any seller's right to make such adjustment thereafter until the date upon which the notice and statements herein required are filed with this Office. Notices and statements filed in compliance with the provisions of this subparagraph (4) of section 10 (c) may be combined with the notices and data required to be filed under the provisions of section 7 (b) (6) (vii).

(5) Any price adjustments made under the provisions of this section 10 (c) shall be subject to review or modification by the Administrator at any time.

OFFICE OF PRICE ADMINISTRATION.

HOWELL CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. The Howell Company, 410 South First Street, St. Charles, Ill., may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all articles of metal household furniture which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 22.2 per cent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' maximum prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum price as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580 and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590 shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by those regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling price under those regulations as they have been modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under that regulation as modified by Order No. 8 under § 1499.159e of MPR 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price" the reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620–759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, Order 48 under section 22 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 591 is amended in the following respects:

1. A new section 2.11 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 2.11 Hardware—(a) Scope. This section is limited to the following categories of hardware:

1. Awning hardware, including awning pulley.
2. Bright wire goods.
3. Builders' hardware, including miscellaneous shelf hardware.
4. Cabinet hardware.
5. Carded builders' hardware.
6. Furniture hardware, including slides and glides but not including casters.
7. Garage hardware.
8. Key blanks—all types and materials.
9. Lavatory hardware.
10. Luggage hardware.
11. Marine hardware, except turnbuckles.
12. Mail boxes except rural.
13. Overhead door hardware.
14. Refrigerator hardware.
15. Sash hardware, including sash pulleys.
16. Screen and screen door hardware, including grilles and guards.
17. Showcase hardware.
18. Window guards.

(b) Manufacturers' increase for items having an October 1–15, 1941 price. The maximum price for sales by any manufacturer of hardware covered by this section shall be his price for the item to each class of purchaser in effect on October 1–15, 1941, increased by 10 percent, and may round off to the nearest $0.01 the adjusted maximum prices resulting from the increase permitted herein.

(c) Manufacturers' increase for items not having an October 1–15, 1941 price. A manufacturer may not increase his properly established maximum price for any item of hardware covered by this section for which he does not have an October 1–15, 1941 price without specific authorization from the Office of Price Administration.

A manufacturer desiring to modify his presently established maximum prices for any item of hardware covered by this section for which he does not have an October 1–15, 1941 price shall file an application for such modification of his maximum price to reflect the maximum prices established under (a) above, setting forth the following:

(1) Full description of the item. Cuts or detailed sketches should be supplied.

(2) Established maximum price for the item and the section and regulation under which the maximum price was established.

(3) If possible, the names of competitors marketing a similar item for which they had October 1–15, 1941 prices.

Such application shall be filed with the Building Materials Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

(d) Optional use of this section. Since the provisions of this section are not intended to reduce properly established maximum prices, any manufacturer whose price in effect to each class of purchaser on October 1–15, 1941 plus the increase provided for under (a) above, is less than his maximum price as established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 591, may continue to use as his maximum price, the maximum price properly established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 591.

(e) Notification by manufacturers. Any manufacturer who applies the increase permitted under this section shall notify each purchaser, in writing, at or before the issuance of the first invoice after March 12, 1946, of his adjusted maximum price authorized by this section and of the actual dollars-and-cents increase for each item of builders' hardware over his maximum price to that class of purchaser in effect on March 12, 1946.

(f) Resellers' maximum prices. A reseller of items covered by this section shall determine his maximum prices in accordance with Supplementary Order No. 151.

This amendment shall become effective March 13, 1946.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 13th day of March 1946.

(a) Manufacturer's maximum prices. Kurtz Brothers, Inc., 1st Avenue & W. Union Blvd., Bethlehem, Pa. may increase its maximum prices to wholesalers of office desks which it manufactures by 24 per cent.

(b) Maximum prices of purchasers for resale. This paragraph sets forth the methods by which persons purchasing the office desks referred to in paragraph (a) shall determine their maximum resale prices:

(1) If the purchaser for resale has already established his maximum prices under the General Maximum Price Regulation for his resales of these articles prior to the issuance of this order, he may increase such maximum prices by 24 per cent.

(c) Terms of sale. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts, allowances and other price differentials on sales to each class of purchaser.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale showing a maximum price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify such purchaser in writing of the methods established in paragraph (b) for determining adjusted maximum prices for resales of the articles covered by this order. B. How you determine your maximum price for a small job. Your maximum charge for a small job shall not exceed the sum of the maximum charges hereinafter established in this paragraph B for labor, materials, specialties, fixtures, work subcontracted and special equipment.

a. Maximum hourly labor charge. You determine your maximum hourly service charge for labor used in supplying plumbing services depending upon the legal wage rate paid your employees. Your hourly service charges are established as follows:

Where authorized hourly straight time wage rate paid employee is:	Maximum hourly service charge
$2.00 and over	$3.25
$1.625 to but not including $2.00	3.00
$1.375 to but not including $1.625	2.50
$1.125 to but not including $1.375	2.00
$1.00 to but not including $1.125	1.75
$0.85 to but not including $1.00	1.50
$0.75 to but not including $0.85	1.25
Less than $0.75	1.00

1. Overtime. If your customer specifically requests you to perform plumbing services during hours for which you must pay your employee either time and a half or double time, you may increase the straight time maximum hourly service charge set forth above 50% where time and one half is paid and 100% where double time is paid.

2. Minimum labor charge. For any job which requires less than one hour of labor, you may make a charge of either $3.00 or the amount which you are permitted to charge for one hour of journeymen's service as hereinbefore provided.

3. Hourly charge for journeyman or master plumbers owning their own establishment. If you own your own establishment and you perform plumbing services subject to this section, you shall compute your maximum hourly service rates for services actually performed and supplied by you as follows:

(i) An hourly service charge of $3.00 or

(ii) The hourly service charge which you are authorized to charge for journeyman's services as hereinbefore established in this paragraph.

b. Maximum charge for fixtures. The term "fixtures" includes such plumbing facilities as bathtubs, lavatories, commodes, hot water tanks, water heaters, floor furnaces, stokers and all other plumbing appliances except those defined below as "materials" or "specialties". Your maximum charge for fixtures supplied shall be computed by adding to your legal cost for fixtures delivered to your shop or storeroom a markup of 33⅓%.

c. Maximum charge for materials. "Materials" include all items used in the installation or repair of plumbing fixtures, except fixtures and plumbing specialties, which are necessary for the installation, maintenance or repair of plumbing facilities, including but not limited to all pipe, pipe fittings and lead. Your maximum charge for materials shall be computed by adding to your legal cost of materials delivered to your shop or storeroom a markup of 33⅓%.

d. Maximum charge for specialty items. "Plumbing specialties" include small items used in the repair of plumbing fixtures which are known to the trade as plumbing specialties. The term includes items such as washers, flush valves, float balls and trip levers and other items, except those defined above as materials. You may determine your maximum prices for any specialty items used by using either of the two following methods:

1. Method No. 1. You may use your present maximum prices, provided you file a complete list of all of the specialty items which you sell in accordance with the filing provisions of Sec. 5 hereinafter set forth.

2. Method No. 2. If you do not elect to use Method 1, or fail to file a complete list you must determine your maximum prices by adding to your legal cost of specialty items used, delivered to your shop or storeroom, a markup of 100%.

NOTE: You must elect to determine your maximum prices for all specialties priced under this section by either one of the two above methods; furthermore, you must advise your District OPA office of which method you elect to use as will hereinafter be required in Sec. 5.

e. Maximum charges for work subcontracted. If, as a plumbing contractor, you actually supply part of the plumbing services and/or installed commodities on a small job, and subcontract the remainder, your maximum charge for such work subcontracted shall be computed by adding to the maximum price paid to your subcontractor (not to exceed the subcontractor's legally established maximum price) a markup of 15%.

f. Extra charge for electric sewer cleaning devices. You may make a maximum charge for use of the machine of $1.50 per hour for each hour that electric sewer cleaning devices are used in supplying plumbing services subject to this section.

C. Pricing practices to be used in computing maximum prices under this section— (a) Measurement of hours of labor. The number of hours to be charged against any job shall be counted from the time the workman leaves the shop or the previous job (whichever is later) until he completes the job, if he proceeds to another job, or until he returns to the shop, if he proceeds there directly. The hours for which charges are made must not exceed those shown in your payroll records or those shown in the records which you are required to keep by other provisions in this order.

b. Hourly service rates for a plumbers' team consisting for example of one or more journeyman plumbers and one or more helpers, apprentices or laborers shall not exceed the sum of the maximum service charges as computed for the individual workman comprising the team.

D. Definitions. a. "Wage rates" mean the hourly wage rates in effect on October 3, 1942, or hourly wage rates which have been established or authorized subsequently by proper governmental agencies.

b. The term "journeyman plumber" refers to a person licensed by any municipal authority to perform plumbing services as a journeyman plumber.

c. The term "master plumber" refers to a person duly licensed by a municipal authority as a master plumber.

d. "Hourly service charge" means the hourly rate charged to the customer for each hour of labor expended in the performance of a plumbing job.

E. Sales at a guaranteed price. You may offer to sell small jobs covered by this section at a guaranteed or bid price, in which you agree to perform the entire small job at a fixed amount, provided, however, the price charged after the job is completed may not exceed the maximum price determined and established under this section. Even if your bid price is higher you may not charge in excess of the maximum price computed under this section.

F. Prohibition against extra charges. You are specifically prohibited from making any charges for any reason whatsoever other than those specifically permitted under this section.

SEC. 4. Maximum prices for large jobs. A. General provisions—a. Applicability. If you perform a large job, as the term is used herein, you must use this Sec. 4 in determining your maximum price.

b. Definition of a "large job". The term "large job" means any plumbing job which is not a small job, and, therefore, cannot be priced under Sec. 3 above.

c. Determination of total direct cost. Before you can determine your maximum price under this section, you must compute your total direct cost of a large plumbing job subject to this section. Your total direct cost is the sum of:

1. Your direct cost. The term means your actual cost of productive labor used on the job at legal wage rates (including labor insurance and labor taxes), materials, specialties and fixtures, not in excess of their maximum prices. The term does not include administrative expense, overhead, selling commissions, use of equipment, or any other indirect expense.

2. Your actual cost of work subcontracted. "Cost of work subcontracted" means the actual amount paid to your subcontractor not in excess of his legal maximum prices.

d. The percent markup specified below may be added to cost of work subcontracted in determining your charge for work subcontracted only if you have supplied part of the work in connection with the large plumbing job. If you have supplied none of the work in connection with the plumbing job and have sub-let the entire job, you must determine your maximum price under sec. 2 of this order.

B. Large jobs supplied at a guaranteed or bid price. If you supply a plumbing job subject to this section on a bid or guaranteed price, you determine your maximum price for such a job under this paragraph B.

a. Definition of a bid or guaranteed price. You supply a job at a bid or guaranteed price, if the following conditions are met:

1. Prior to the beginning of the job you enter into a written contract with the person to whom the services are to be supplied, and

2. The contract legally obligates you to perform the entire job for a stipulated lump sum or total price.

b. Maximum prices for large jobs where your total direct cost does not exceed $750.00. 1. If your total direct cost (including direct cost plus cost of work subcontracted) does not exceed $750.00, the maximum price which you may charge is the amount of the bid or guaranteed price at which you have obligated yourself to perform the job, or an amount not to exceed the sum of the following, whichever is lower:

(i) Your direct cost (as defined in A. c. 1. of this section) plus 30% thereof, and

(ii) Your actual cost of work subcontracted, not to exceed your subcontractor's legal ceiling price, plus 10% thereof.

c. Maximum prices for large jobs where total direct cost exceeds $750.00.

1. If your total direct cost (including direct cost plus cost of work subcontracted) exceeds $750.00, the maximum price which you may charge is the amount of the bid or guaranteed price at which you have obligated yourself to perform the job, or an amount not to exceed the sum of the following, whichever is lower:

(i) Your direct cost (as defined in A. c. 1. of this section) plus 25% thereof, and

(ii) Your actual cost of work subcontracted, not to exceed your subcontractor's legal ceiling, plus 10% thereof.

C. Large jobs supplied under a cost plus contract. If you supply a large plumbing job on a cost plus basis or on any other basis than a bid or guaranteed job for which maximum prices are established in paragraph B, you must establish your maximum prices under this paragraph.

a. Maximum prices for large cost plus jobs where your total direct cost does not exceed $750.00. 1. If your total direct cost (including direct cost plus cost of work subcontracted) does not exceed $750.00, the maximum price which you may charge must not exceed the sum of the following:

(i) Your direct cost (as defined in A. c. 1. of this section) plus 20% thereof, and

(ii) Your actual cost of work subcontracted, not to exceed your subcontractor's legal ceiling price, plus 10% thereof.

b. Maximum prices for large cost plus jobs where your total direct cost exceeds $750.00.

1. If your total direct cost (including direct cost plus cost of work subcontracted) exceeds $750.00, the maximum price which you may charge must not exceed the sum of the following:

(i) Your direct cost (as defined in A. c. 1. of this section) plus 15% thereof, and

(ii) Your actual cost of work subcontracted, not to exceed your subcontractor's legal ceiling, plus 10% thereof.

SEC. 5. Filing and reporting of maximum prices. If you sell services subject to this order, you must within 15 days after the effective date hereof, or, in case you are a new seller, before first offering to sell such services, file with the Industrial Materials Section of the Houston, Texas, District Office of the Office of Price Administration the following information:

A. Your Legal Wage Rate which you are authorized to pay for each class of workmen whom you employ.

B. The Maximum Hourly Service Charges which you propose to use in calculating your maximum price for small jobs of $250.00 or less for each class of workmen determined in accordance with the provisions of Sec. 3.

C. A statement of whether you elect to use Method No. 1 or Method No. 2 under Sec. 3 B. d. in determining your maximum charges for plumbing specialty items in pricing small jobs. If you elect to use Method No. 1, you must file a complete list of all specialty items which you offer for sale setting forth a description of each item and its maximum price. You must supplement this list if new items are offered for sale thereafter.

SEC. 6. Record keeping, sales slips and notification to purchaser—A. Record keeping. If you make sales subject to this order, you must keep the following records available in your place of business for inspection by the Office of Price Administration:

d. Your direct cost, as the term is defined in a. c. 1, of Sec. 4, which you expended for each large job which you performed.

B. Sales slips and invoices. For each plumbing job which you supply subject to this order, you must give the purchaser, irrespective of whether he is a consumer or another contractor, an invoice containing the following information:

a. Your name and address.

b. A statement that your maximum prices have been determined under either Secs. 2, 3 or 4 of this order, depending upon which section is applicable.

c. If your maximum charge has been determined under Sec. 3, the invoice must show separately the amounts charged for labor, materials, fixtures, specialties and work subcontracted and for the use of special equipment.

d. If the invoice is rendered in accordance with performing a large job priced under Sec. 4, it must contain a statement of whether your maximum price was computed under paragraph B or C of Sec. 4.

e. Your invoice must further contain a statement that prices charged do not exceed maximum prices established by this order.

f. You must keep a duplicate of this invoice in your place of business and make it available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 7. The effect of this order with reference to other regulations. This order supersedes sections 6, 7 and 8 (a) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 with respect to plumbing services subject to this order when supplied in the described areas, except where it is otherwise provided herein.

SEC. 8. Additions for amounts paid as permits to municipal authorities. Any seller subject to this order may add to the maximum price of a job as determined hereunder the actual dollars and cents amount paid to any municipal authority for a permit or permission to perform such job, or for the inspection thereof by such municipal authority. This addition may be made only if a separate statement thereof is made on the invoice supplied to the buyer.

(i) On delivered sales of less than 1 ton, the price shall be proportional to the price per ton plus an additional charge of 25¢, but in no event shall the total price be in excess of that for a sale of 1 ton: for example, if the price of 1 ton is $10.15, the price of ½ ton would be $5.08 plus 25¢ or a total of $5.33: the price of ¾ ton would be $7.61 plus 25¢ or a total of $7.86.

(ii) On delivered sales of more than 1 ton, for each fraction of a ton sold, the price shall be proportional to the price per ton: for example, if the price of 1 ton is $13.70, the price of 1½ tons would be $20.55.

The price schedule lists maximum prices for the sale of coal on the basis of the type of mine operation by means of which it is produced. On sales of coal produced in District Nos. 7, 8 and 11, the prices established are similar for the same kind and size of fuel regardless of the type of mine operation. On sales of coal from District No. 10 (Illinois), prices for coal described in paragraph IV, A, 1 to 4 inclusive, apply to coal produced by deep machine mines only. EASTERN UTILITIES ASSOCIATES

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 12th day of March, A. D. 1946.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Eastern Utilities Association, a registered holding company. All interested persons are referred to said document, which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Eastern Utilities Associates proposes to pay not more than $5,000 to Georgeson & Co., 520 Wall Street, New York, New York, or some other professional proxy soliciting organization, for services to be rendered by them in connection with the solicitation of stockholders' proxies for use at the annual meeting of Eastern Utilities Associates. Georgeson & Co., or such other firm as may be employed, will solicit proxies by personal interview, telephone, telegraph and mail from the stockholders of record, and may solicit brokerage houses and other custodians, nominees and fiduciaries to forward soliciting material to the beneficial owners of shares held of record by persons who are not the beneficial owners thereof. It is contemplated that the soliciting campaign will be conducted by approximately 25 persons who are to be supervised by Georgeson & Co., or such other soliciting organization as may be employed.

The declarant states that the reason for this proposed expenditure is the belief of the Trustees of Eastern Utilities Associates that they are entitled to have the shareholders state whether or not they approve the management of the present owners and their doubt whether they will be able to obtain a quorum at the 1946 annual meeting of shareholders in view of the continued activity of a group styling itself "Committee to Inform Shareholders of Eastern Utilities Associates", consisting of Roger W. Babson, Babson Park, Mass.; A. W. Newell, 150 Morris Ave., Providence, R. I.; Frederick W. Whittemore, 33 Audubon Road, Wellesley, Mass.; and Oscar H. Brinkman, Secretary, 3017 Crest Avenue, Cheverly, Hyattsville, Md.

The declaration refers to an earlier declaration (File No. 70-1082) filed with the Commission by Eastern Utilities Associates with reference to proposed payments to Georgeson & Co., in connection with the solicitation of proxies for the 1945 adjourned annual meeting of Eastern Utilities Associates.

The declaration further states that while, insofar as is known to the declarant, the only business to be transacted at that meeting will be the election of Trustees, it is probable that the policies of the present Trustees will be attacked by said Committee, and that it is therefore probable that the shareholders will be called upon to make a fundamental decision of the policies at the annual meeting by voting or not voting for the present Trustees, Declarant designates Rule U-65, promulgated under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, applicable to the proposed expenditure.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to such matters, and that the declaration shall not become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission;

It is ordered, That a hearing on such matters, under the applicable provisions of said act and rules of the Commission, be held on March 28 ,1946, at 10 o'clock a. m. (e. s. t.) at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such date the hearing-room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room where such hearing will be held. At such hearing cause shall be shown why such declaration should become effective.

It is further ordered, That Allen MacCullen, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearing on such matters. The officer so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all such powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented by such declaration otherwise considered in this proceeding, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

(1) Whether the employment of a professional proxy soliciting organization, for the purpose of making oral solicitation, is, under the circumstances of this case, in the public interest or in the interest of investors;

(2) Whether the sums proposed to be paid to Georgeson & Co., or some similar organization, are appropriate corporate expenditures, and constitute reasonable compensation for the services to be rendered;

(3) What conditions, if any, are necessary for the protection of the public interest or the interests of investors or consumers;

(4) Whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in accordance with the provisions and standards of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and the Rules promulgated thereunder.

It is further ordered, That any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in this proceeding shall file with the Commission on or before March 26, 1946 his request or application therefor, as provided in Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That the secretary of the Commission shall serve a copy of this order by registered mail on Eastern Utilities Associates and on said Committee; and that notice of said hearing be given to all other persons by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

CRESCENT PUBLIC SERVICE CO. ET AL.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 12th day of March, A. D. 1946.

In the matters of Crescent Public Service Company, Central Ohio Light & Power Company, Colorado Central Power Company, Empire Southern Service Company, Helene Curley Rea, Robert W. Rea, Floyd W. Woodcock, Kathleen T. Woodcock, Robin Corporation, Applicants, File No. 54-108; Crescent Public Service Company, Central Ohio Light & Power Company, Colorado Central Power Company, Empire Southern Service Company, Respondents, File No. 59-81.

The Commission by order dated February 1, 1946, among other things, having ordered, pursuant to section 11 (b) (1) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, that Crescent Public Service Company ("Crescent"), a registered holding company, dispose of all its interests in and all its control over Colorado Central Power Company ("Colorado Central"), having granted and permitted to become effective forthwith the applications and declarations of Crescent and Colorado Central regarding the proposed surrender by Crescent to Colorado Central and the acquisition and cancellation by Colorado Central of the then outstanding 10,000 shares of common stock of Colorado Central without par value, the issue and sale by Colorado Central and the acquisition by Crescent of 43,750 shares of new common stock of Colorado Central, par value $10 per share, and certain amendments to the charter of Colorado Central and having approved, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act, a plan of Crescent providing, among other things, for the sale at competitive bidding of the 43,750 shares of new common stock of Colorado Central; and

The Commission by order dated February 27, 1946, having permitted the declaration of Crescent, with respect to the proposed sale at competitive bidding of the 43,750 shares of common stock of Colorado Central, to become effective subject, among other things, to the condition that the proposed sale should not be consumated until the results of competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 should have been made a matter of record in this proceeding and a further order entered in the light of the record so completed; and

Crescent on March 12, 1946, having filed an amendment to its declaration stating that in accordance with the permission granted by the order of the Commission dated February 27, 1946, Crescent offered the common stock for sale pursuant to the competitive requirements of Rule U-50 and received the following bids:

Bidder	Price per share
The First Boston Corp	$32.429
W. C. Langley & Co	32.1379
Kidder, Peabody & Co	32.1299
Starkweather & Co	30.902
E. H. Rollins & Sons, Inc	28.58
Bear, Sterns & Co	26.569
Otis & Co	20.6179

The amendment further stating that Crescent has accepted the bid of The First Boston Corporation for the common stock, as set out above and that the common stock will be offered for sale to the public at a price of $34.00 per share resulting in an underwriters' spread of $1.571 per share;

The Commission having examined the amendment and having considered the record herein and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the price to be paid for said common stock and the underwriters' spread and its allocation, and further finding that the fees and expenses proposed to be paid to counsel by the successful bidder appear to be reasonable;

It is ordered, That the jurisdiction heretofore reserved over the price to be paid for the common stock, the underwriters' spread and its allocation, and the fees and expenses of counsel for the bidders be and it is hereby released, and that said declaration as amended be and it is hereby permitted to become effective forthwith, subject, however, to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

It is further ordered, That the jurisdiction heretofore specifically reserved over all legal fees and expenses in connection with said declaration, with the exception of the fees and expenses of counsel for the bidders which may be paid, be and it is hereby continued.

TITLE 22—FOREIGN RELATIONS

Chapter I—Department of State

Subchapter B—The Foreign Service

[Foreign Service Reg. S-17]

PART 112—INTERCOURSE WITH FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS

Pursuant to the authority vested in me by R. S. 161 (5 U.S.C. 22); by Executive Order 9452 of June 26, 1944 (3 CFR, 1944 Supp., 66), as amended by Executive Order 9514 of January 18, 1945 (10 F.R. 771); and by Executive Order 9521 of February 13, 1945 (10 F.R. 1991), §§ 112.3 to 112.6, inclusive (10 F.R. 3358), are amended, and § 112.7 is added, as follows:

§ 112.3 Protection of foreign interests; general nature of function. The protection of foreign interests involves essentially the extension of friendly services on the part of one power (generally known as the "protecting power") in behalf of nationals or other interests of a second power (generally known as the "protected power") within territory subject to the sovereignty or control of a third power (which for convenience is referred to in these Regulations as the "local power"). In the application of the practice of the protection of foreign interests distinction is frequently made between the exercise of informal good offices and the assumption of a more formal representation of interests. The protection of foreign interests assumes particular importance in time of war, when a neutral power undertakes in behalf of a belligerent power the care and protection of its interests within the territory of an opposing belligerent power. The protection of the interests of a foreign power at war with the country to which an officer of the Foreign Service is accredited or assigned calls for the exercise of special care in order to maintain his position as an officer of a neutral power whose interests it is his primary duty to conserve. The protection of foreign interests is not necessarily associated with a state of war, however, and may occur as a result of a severance of diplomatic relations or merely because the protected power chooses to withdraw, partially or fully, or not to establish, its own diplomatic or consular representation within the area where the protection of its interests is undertaken by a protecting power.

§ 112.4 Assumption of protection of foreign interests. American diplomatic and consular officers may, upon request, assume temporarily the protection of foreign interests, but, except in extreme emergencies, may do so only with the specific authorization of the Department of State. A power seeking protection of its interests in a specified area by the United States generally addresses to the United States Government through the customary diplomatic channel a formal request to that effect. If the United States Government accedes to the request, the Department of State issues appropriate instructions to the American diplomatic and consular officers concerned. If requested by a diplomatic or consular officer of another power to undertake the protection of its interests within the country to which he is assigned, an American diplomatic or consular officer should suggest in reply that his colleague's government address the request to the United States Government through the customary diplomatic channel. He shall at the same time report the matter fully to the Department of State, which if convinced of its urgency will usually authorize the provisional exercise of such protection pending the receipt of a formal request. The report to the Department shall include information with respect to the following points:

(a) The form of protection requested; i. e. good offices or formal representation;

(b) The specific area in which and the extent to which protection would be exercised; and

(c) The origin of the request (whether made at the direction of the power that would be protected, or upon the initiative of its diplomatic or consular officer making the request). If protection has been undertaken without advance authorization, a detailed report, including the information specified above and a full explanation of the extreme emergency deemed sufficient to justify such action, shall be submitted immediately.

§ 112.5 Restrictions on diplomatic and consular officers in protecting foreign interests. Diplomatic and consular officers of the protecting power are not considered to be officers of the protected power, even in cases of formal representation. They report to and receive instructions from their own government only, which communicates to the protected power reports received, and ascertains its wishes concerning services to be performed, in connection with the protection of its interests. Diplomatic officers of the protecting power are not accredited to the local power in the capacity of diplomatic officers of the protected power, and consular officers of the protecting power do not receive from the local power exequaturs as consular officers of the protected power. American diplomatic and consular officers are expressly prohibited from performing any duty for a foreign government that involves the acceptance of an office. Since they cannot under the Constitution hold commissions as officials of the protected power, they shall not display its coat of arms or its flag, nor employ its seal or the seal of any of its diplomatic or consular offices, in connection with the protection of its interests.

§ 112.6 Performance of services. The United States Government does not authorize its officers engaged in the protection of foreign governments to perform services requiring the application or interpretation on their part of laws and regulations of the protected countries. Such functions shall be performed only upon the basis of information obtained from the protected power indicating the application of laws and regulations appertaining to each individual case or upon the basis of a general statement from the same source of principles applicable alike to all cases.

§ 112.7 Termination of protection of foreign interests. Protection of foreign interests will usually be terminated upon the request of the protected government and upon authorization from the Department of State but may occur at the request of the local power.

Foreign Service Regulation S-2 issued March 27, 1945 (10 F.R. 3358) is hereby revoked and has no further force and effect.

This regulation shall become effective immediately upon registration in the Division of the Federal Register.

For the Secretary of State.

PART 402—LOANS AND PROPERTIES

EXCESS CONSIDERATION RETURNED TO HOME OWNERS

Amending Part 402, Chapter IV, Title 24 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Section 402.11-1 (10 F.R. 8426) is amended by changing the fourth paragraph as follows:

§ 402.11-1 Excess consideration returned to home owner. • • •

[1] This proclamation mentions the Administrator of Export Control. Under Executive Order 9630, of Sept. 27, 1945 (10 F.R. 12245), the Secretary of Commerce now has responsibility for the administration of export control, having assumed this responsibility on Oct. 20, 1945.

[2] Filed with the Division of the Federal Register in the National Archives. Requests for printed copies should be addressed to the Federal Reserve banks or the Department of State.

In cases where the consideration (whether land, interest therein, enhancement of value thereof, or funds) exceeds an amount representing the same ratio of the loan balance that the security to be released bears to the total security for the loan, and the home owner has requested that any such excess consideration which is represented by cash or part thereof be retained by him or turned over to him for his own use, the Regional Manager may grant the request. In addition to any excess, the home owner may request that all or part of the remaining consideration be retained by him or turned over to him; and the Regional Manager may grant the request in an amount not exceeding $200 of the remaining consideration, provided he determines that the remaining security is ample for the protection of the Corporation's interest. Where the circumstances are exceptional and the amount requested by the home owner is in excess of that which the Regional Manager is authorized to grant, and the Regional Manager recommends that the request of the home owner be allowed, he shall forward the file, together with a summary of the case and his recommendation, with the opinion of the Regional Counsel, to the General Manager for direction.

Effective March 14, 1946.

CIGARS, CIGAR CUTTINGS AND CLIPPINGS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneous herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 260 is amended in the following respect:

1. Section 1358.102 (c) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) Adjustments of average retail price ceilings. A manufacturer who is unable to maintain his average retail price ceiling determined under subparagraph (2) above or subparagraph (5) below or established for him under this subparagraph or under paragraph (d) below and earn a net operating profit (before taxes on income) of 4.5 percent of his dollar net sales (dollar net sales, for the purposes of this section must be interpreted as meaning sales of all cigars sold during the period at manufacturers' list price, less discounts allowed and returns and allowances. Such sales shall not include transfers to distribution centers, but shall include sales made from those distribution centers.) may apply to the Price Administrator for an adjustment of his average retail price ceiling. Such application shall be filed in duplicate with the Office of Price Administration, Tobacco Section, Washington, D. C., and shall be signed by the manufacturer or his authorized agent. It shall contain:

(i) Applicant's name and address, and the name and title of the person signing the application.

(ii) Applicant's operating and profit and loss statements (prepared according to his usual system of accounting) for either the first or second half of his fiscal year, whichever half was most recently completed.

(iii) Form 2076 completed for all the applicant's sales of cigars both tax-free and tax-paid during the same period for which profit and loss statements are supplied under (ii) above. Sales of tax-free cigars shall be set forth separately from sales tax-paid.

(iv) Form 2078 completed through Item 6 of Schedule B for each frontmark of each brand sold during the six-month period supplied pursuant to (ii) above.

(v) Applicant's average retail price ceiling and the date on which he established or amended that retail price ceiling pursuant to subparagraph (2) above, or the date of the order issued by the Price Administrator pursuant to this subparagraph or to paragraph (d) below, establishing such average retail price ceiling. If a Cuban tobacco adjustment pursuant to (c) (5) below was claimed during any part of the six-month period covered the amount of the adjustment shall be set forth.

After receiving the application and any further information or evidence considered necessary and requested for purposes of determining the propriety of an adjustment, the Price Administrator will, by order, grant or deny, in whole or in part, the adjustment requested. Any adjustment granted may be limited as to time. An order granting or denying an adjustment may be revoked or modified by the Price Administrator at any time. Adjustments granted under this subparagraph shall be limited to an amount found by the Price Administrator to be the price reflected on the average in the industry for the cigars made by the applicant during the 6-months period offered for consideration in his application. However, no adjustment shall be granted under this subparagraph in an amount which exceeds that found by the Price Administrator to be reasonably necessary to allow the applicant profits, before income and excess profits taxes, on his domestic cigar manufacturing operations, equal to 4.5 percent of his dollar net sales.

This amendment shall become effective March 20, 1946.

SMART SET FROCKS

CONSENT ORDER

Smart Set Frocks, a partnership consisting of Henry Silverman, Mike Ackerman and Abe Giddins, is engaged in the manufacture of women's house dresses, at 1370 Broadway, New York, New York. On February 12, 1946, a temporary suspension order was issued against the partners directing them to immediately cancel outstanding CC rated textile orders for fabrics in excess of the amount authorized, and to place no CC rated orders for any textile fabrics during the first quarter of 1946. The partners are charged by the Civilian Production Administration with having, during the fourth quarter of 1946, placed orders bearing CC ratings for 168,100 yards of cotton fabrics, although they were authorized to place orders carrying these ratings for only 23,682 yards of such cotton fabrics in violation of Priorities Regulation No. 3. The partners received delivery of 139,043 yards of cotton fabrics, being 115,361 yards in excess of their authorization. The partners admit the violation as charged, do not desire to contest the charge, and have consented to the issuance of this order.

Wherefore, upon the agreement and consent of Henry Silverman and Abe Giddins for Smart Set Frocks, the Director of the Compliance Division, and the Assistant General Counsel for the Civilian Production Administration, and upon the approval of the Chief Compliance Commissioner; It is hereby ordered, That:

(b) Henry Silverman, Mike Ackerman and Abe Giddins, partners doing business as Smart Set Frocks, shall reduce the amount of cotton fabrics for which they may be authorized to extend ratings during the first quarter of 1946 under Order M-328-B by the amount of 81,525 yards.

(c) Henry Silverman, Mike Ackerman and Abe Giddins, partners, doing business as Smart Set Frocks, shall reduce the amount of cotton fabrics for which they may be authorized to extend ratings during the second quarter of 1946 under Order M-328-B by 125,000 yards, and shall reduce the amount of rayon fabrics for which they may be authorized to extend ratings during the second quarter of 1946 by the amount of 43,475 yards.

(d) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Henry Silverman, Mike Ackerman and Abe Giddins, partners, d/b/a Smart Set Frocks, from any restriction, provision or prohibition contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(e) The restrictions and provisions contained herein shall apply to Henry Silverman, Mike Ackerman and Abe Giddins, partners, d/b/a Smart Set Frocks, their successors and assigns, or persons acting in their behalf. Prohibitions against the taking of any action include the taking indirectly as well as directly of any such action.

[Rev. SO 119, Order 107]

NEW HAVEN CLOCK CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 14, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. New Haven Clock Company, 133 Hamilton Street, New Haven, Connecticut, may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for pocket watches, wrist watches, auto clocks, spring driven clocks and electrical clocks, which it manufatures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 22.4 percent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price (in effect before the effective date of this order) the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereinafter properly determined or estbalished in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Maximum prices of purchasers for resale. The manufacturer is required to calculate wholesalers' and retailers' ceiling prices for each of the articles which it sells at adjusted prices permitted by this order according to the provisions of this paragraph. Prices so calculated are the maximum prices of all resellers of the articles covered by this order.

(1) Retailers' ceiling prices. The manufacturer shall calculate the retail ceiling prices of articles which he sells at adjusted prices by increasing his October 1941 retail list prices for such articles by the same percentage as has increased his own prices as permitted by this order. If he did not have a retail list price in October 1941 for a particular article, he shall calculate a retail ceiling price for that article by applying to its adjusted ceiling price the same percentage mark-up as exists on the most comparable article for which he had a retail list price in October 1941.

(2) Wholesalers' ceiling prices. The manufacturer shall calculate the wholesale ceiling prices of articles which he sells at adjusted prices by increasing his October 1941 wholesale list prices for such articles by the same percentage as he has increased his own prices as permitted by this order. If he did not have a wholesale list price in October 1941 for a particular article he shall calculate a wholesale ceiling price for that article by applying to its adjusted ceiling price the same percentage mark-up as exists on the most comparable article for which he had a wholesale list price in October 1941.

(3) Pre-ticketing. The manufacturer shall attach a tag or label to every article for which a maximum price for sales to consumers is established by this order. The tag or label shall contain the following statement:

OPA Ceiling Price (exclusive of Federal excise tax)*
Do Not Detach

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts, allowances and other price differentials on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or established under any applicable OPA regulation.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale showing a ceiling price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the manufacturer shall notify each purchaser in writing of adjusted ceiling prices for resales of the articles covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective on March 15, 1946.

Issued this 14th day of March 1946.

Administrator.

GAS APPLIANCE VALVES

MODIFICATION OF MAXIMUM PRICES

An opinion accompanying this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Order 1 under section 22 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 591 is amended in the following respects:

Section 5.4 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 5.4 Modification of maximum prices of gas appliance valves—(a) Scope of this amendment. This section modifies maximum prices for sales by manufacturers of gas appliance valves.

"Gas appliance valve" means any manually-operated valve or device specially designed to control the flow of natural or manufactured gas, oil, or kerosene, or any derivative of the foregoing fuels, at any rate from none to full, attached to an appliance designed for heating or cooking purposes either at the point where such fuel is to be used or inserted in the fuel supply line of such an appliance.

The term "gas appliance valve" does not include the regular type of angle, gate, globe, or check valve, or any variation of these basic types, nor does it include devices commonly known as corporation cocks or service cocks.

(b) Maximum prices for manufacturers. The maximum prices for sales by a manufacturer of gas appliance valves shall be the total of the following factors:

(1) The unit cost as of January 13, 1944 of direct materials used in the manufacture of the gas appliance valve at net invoice prices (all discounts deducted) laid down on the manufacturer's receiving floor or at any other comparable point, but in no event at prices exceeding the maximum prices permitted under any applicable maximum price regulation, schedule, or order issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(2) The unit direct labor cost of producing a valve based upon labor rates in effect on January 13, 1944, but in no event exceeding legally permissible rates. The unit direct labor cost shall be determined as follows:

(i) Multiply the labor rate for each operation by the actual time expended on each operation; and

(ii) Divide the sum of the totals for all operations performed on each valve as computed in (i) by the total number of units produced.

(3) The dollar-and-cents gross markup. The dollar-and-cents gross markup shall be determined as follows:

(i) Subtract from the gross sales of gas appliance valves for the calendar year 1941, the direct actual material and labor cost expended in the production of gas appliance valves during such calendar year:

(ii) Divide the resulting difference by the direct actual material and labor costs expended in the production of gas appliance valves during the calendar year of 1941; and

(iii) Multiply the sum of the costs determined under (1) and (2) by the percentage thus obtained.

(c) Maximum prices for resellers. Every person except a manufacturer of gas appliances purchasing gas appliance valves covered by this section for resale may increase his maximum price to each class of purchaser as established under the General Maximum Price Regulation by an amount not in excess of his dollar-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the increase permitted the manufacturer under paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) Cash discounts, allowances and services. The maximum prices established by this section shall be subject to cash discounts and allowances and to the rendition of services at least as favorable as those which the manufacturer extended or rendered or would have extended or rendered to purchasers of the same class on similar sales during the period October 1–15, 1941.

(e) Records. Every manufacturer selling gas appliance valves subject to this section shall have available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, a record of each sale made under this section showing the date of the sale, the name and address of the purchaser, the plate number, the material and labor costs, the amount of gross mark-up, the maximum price permitted under this section, the transaction price or the discount allowed from the maximum price, and the point of delivery of the shipment.

(f) Reports. The following manufacturers, namely, W. J. Schoenberger Co., Cleveland, Ohio; Roberts Brass Mfg. Co., Detroit, Michigan; Detroit Brass and Malleable Works, Detroit, Michigan; Harper-Wyman Mfg., Chicago, Illinois; Lincoln Brass Works, Inc., Detroit, Michigan; selling gas appliance valves subject to this section shall file with the Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration, Cleveland, Ohio within 30 days after first offering for sale a gas appliance valve priced under this section the following data:

(1) Profit and Loss Statement reflecting entire company operations for the year ended December 31, 1941.

(2) Balance Sheet with an analysis of surplus as of December 31, 1941.

(3) Profit and Loss Statement covering Gas Appliance Valve operations only, for the year ended December 31, 1941. This statement must include a breakdown of cost of goods manufactured and sold, segregated as to materials consumed, direct labor and manufacturing overhead, together with pertinent inventory adjustments, and of Selling, General and Administrative expenses applicable to this phase of operations.

(g) Notification of purchasers. Every manufacturer selling gas appliance valves subject to this section shall send a notice to every purchaser of gas appliance valves covered by this section at the time of the first invoice stating substantially as follows:

The maximum price of this gas appliance valve has been established in accordance with section 5.4 of Order 1 under section 22 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 591. Resellers, except manufacturers, may increase their maximum price to each class of purchaser as established by the General Maximum Price Regulation by an amount not in excess of the dollar-and-cents increase in their cost due to the increase permitted the manufacturer under section 5.4 of Order 1.

This amendment shall become effective March 20, 1946.

SOLIDS FUELS IN SIOUX CITY, IOWA, AREA

An opinion accompanying this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith. Order No. G–16 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 is amended in the following respects:

1. In Appendix No. 2, which covers the Sioux City, Iowa area, paragraph (b), Price schedule, is amended to read as follows:

(b) Immediately below and as a part of this paragraph (b) is a price schedule which sets forth maximum prices for domestic delivered sales of specified sizes, kinds, and quantities of solid fuels in lots of ½ ton and 1 ton or more. Sales in lots of fractions of a ton or tons shall be governed by the price schedule as follows:

(i) On delivered sale of less than 1 ton, the price shall be proportional to the price per ton plus an additional charge of 50¢, but in no event shall the total price be in excess of that for a sale of 1 ton; for example, if the price of 1 ton is $13.45, the price of ½ ton would be $6.70 plus 50¢ or a total of $7.20; the price of ¾ ton would be $10.05 plus 50¢, or a total of $10.55. If the price of 1 ton is $13.45, the price of ½ ton would be $6.73 plus 50¢ or a total of $7.23.

(ii) On delivered sales of more than 1 ton, for each fraction of a ton sold the price shall be proportional to the price per ton; for example, if the price of 1 ton is $13.40, the price of 1½ tons would be $20.10; the price of 1¾ tons would be $23.45. If the price of 1 ton is $13.45, the price of 1½ tons would be $20.18.

2. The price schedule lists maximum prices for the sale of coal on the basis of the type of mine operation by means of which it is produced. On coal produced in District No. 10, the prices apply to coal produced in Deep Machine Mines only. On coal produced in District No. 12, the prices apply as specified to both Strip mines and Deep mines. Prices of coal produced in District No. 14 apply as specified to coal produced in Strip Mines, Underground Mines, Solid Shot and Underground Mines Machine Cut. On coal in District No. 15, as described in paragraphs IV, A and B, prices apply to coal produced in Strip Mines only and, as described in paragraph IV, C, prices apply to coal produced in Deep Shaft Mines only. The prices of coal produced in District No. 19 are similar for the same kind and size of fuel regardless of the type of mine operation. The prices of Briquettes are unaffected by the type of mine operation.

[Region VI Order G–16 Under RMPR 122, Amdt. 109]

SOLID FUELS IN SUPERIOR, WIS., AREA

An opinion accompanying this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith. Order No. G–16 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, as amended, is amended in the following respects: In Appendix No. 8, which covers the Superior, Wisconsin, Area, paragraph (b), Price schedule, is amended to read as follows:

(b) Price schedule. Immediately below and as a part of this section (b) is a price schedule that sets maximum prices for domestic and commercial "delivered," domestic and commercial "at yard," and domestic and commercial "dealer at yard" sales by dealers of specified kinds and sizes of solid fuels in lots of 1 ton or more. Service charges are set forth in section (c). Discounts are set forth in section (d). The provision with reference to the 4 cents transportation tax is set forth in section (e). Definitions are set forth in section (f). Sales in lots of fractions of a ton or tons shall be governed by the price schedule as follows:

(i) On delivered sales of less than 1 ton, the price shall be proportional to the price per ton plus an additional charge of 50 cents, but in no event shall the total price be in excess of that for a sale of 1 ton; for example, if the price of 1 ton is $10.45, the price of ½ ton would be $5.23 plus 50 cents or a total of $5.73; the price of ¾ ton would be $7.84 plus 50 cents or a total of $8.34.

(ii) On delivered sales of more than 1 ton, for each fraction of a ton sold, the price shall be proportional to the price per ton; for example, if the price of 1 ton is $12.85, the price of 1½ tons would be $19.28.

(iii) On yard sales of any fraction of a ton, whether more or less than 1 ton, the price shall be proportional to the price per ton; for example, if the price of 1 ton at the yard is $12.10, the price of ½ ton would be $6.05; of 1½ tons—$18.15.

The prices established by this amended schedule supersede those established by the adjustment permitted by Regional Order Nos. G–24, G–27, and G–29, under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, as to dealers covered by Appendix No. 8 to Order No. G–16.

[Des Moines Order G–15 Under Gen. Order 68]

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION MATERIALS IN BURLINGTON, IOWA, AREA

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and pursuant to the provisions of General Order 68, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. What this order covers. This order covers all retail sales made by any seller of commodities specified in Appendix A below, delivered to the purchaser in the Burlington, Iowa, Area, both on a yard sales and a delivered sales basis. The Burlington, Iowa, Area for the purposes of this order consists of that area within the State of Iowa included within the corporate city limits of the City of Burlington, Iowa, and the area within twelve (12) miles from the corporate city limits of the City of Burlington, Iowa, including, but not limited to the towns of West Burlington, Middletown, Danville, Augusta, and Wever, Iowa.

SEC. 2. Definitions. For the purposes of this order, a retail sale means a sale to an ultimate user, or to any contractor: Provided, That for the purposes of this order, a "retail sale" shall not include any sale to the United States Government or any of its political subdivisions. Any person who sells material or equipment, and in connection therewith, assumes responsibility for its incorporation into a building, structure, or construction project at a fixed site, by charging a single price for the commodity installed, by guaranteeing performance and use, or by other objective evidence, shall be considered a contractor. Purchases by applicators, as herein defined, of asphalt and tarred roofing products and insulation are excluded from the coverage of this order. Applicators are herein defined as contractors engaged exclusively in the business of applying roofing and/or siding and/or insulation to buildings. The word "seller" refers to each separate seller covered by this order. If a seller makes sales at retail through more than one selling unit or establishment, each selling unit or establishment is considered to be a separate seller, subject to all the provisions of this order.

SEC. 3. Relation to other regulations. The maximum prices fixed by this order supersede any maximum prices determined under or pricing methods provided by any maximum price regulation or order which would otherwise be applicable to the sale of the commodities specified in Appendix A. Any other provision of this order which is inconsistent with any maximum price regulation or order which would otherwise be applicable, supersedes such provision of the maximum price regulation or order. All provisions of maximum price regulations or orders which are applicable to the sale of commodities specified in Appendix A, not inconsistent with provisions of this order, shall continue to apply to sales made subject to this order.

SEC. 4. Discounts, allowance and delivery practice. The maximum prices established by this order are maximum prices for cash sales. Where, during March 1942, the seller established a differential between cash sales and sales on credit, such differential or credit charge may be added to the maximum price established by this order. In no event may the credit charge, if any, exceed the highest charge made to the same class of purchaser for the same sale during March 1942. No additional charge may be made for deliveries by the seller to any point located within the Burlington, Iowa, Area. All customary discounts, allowances or differentials established by any maximum price regulation or order applicable to the sale of the commodities specified in Appendix A, shall be maintained.

SEC. 5. Posting of maximum prices. Every seller making sales covered by this order shall post a copy of the list of maximum prices fixed by this order in each of his places of business in the area covered by this order in a manner plainly visible to all purchasers. Two copies of the list of maximum prices are attached to this order, one of which may be removed and posted as required herein. Every seller making sales covered by this order shall retain a copy of the order in each of his places of business in the area covered by this order and shall, if requested by the purchaser, make the same available for inspection by him.

SEC. 6. Sales slips and records. Every seller covered by this order shall give to the purchaser a sales slip, receipt, or other evidence of purchase which shall show the date, name and address of the seller, the description, quantity, and the price of each item sold, said description to be in detail sufficient to determine whether the price charged has been properly computed under this order; provided that for sales of less than a total of $7.50 only the name and address of the seller and the amount of the sale need be shown. The seller shall prepare such sales slips, receipts, or other evidence of purchase in duplicate and he must keep for at least 6 months after delivery such duplicate copy delivered pursuant to this section. For any sale of $50.00 or more each seller, regardless of previous custom, must keep records showing at least the following:

(1) Name and address of buyer.
(2) Date of transaction.
(3) Place of delivery.
(4) Complete description of each item sold and price charged.

SEC. 7. On and after the effective date of this order, any person covered by this order, who sells or offers to sell at a price higher than the ceiling price permitted by this order, or otherwise violates any of the provisions of this order, shall be subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings and suits for treble damages as provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. No person subject to this order may evade any of the provisions of the order by any stratagem, scheme or device. No person subject to this order may, as a condition of selling any particular building material item, require a customer to buy anything else. Any such evasion is punishable as a violation of this order.

SEC. 8. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 9. Appendix. The list of maximum prices fixed by this order is entitled "Appendix A", attached hereto and hereby made a part of this order.

SEC. 10. This order may be modified, amended, or revoked at any time.

This order shall become effective March 4, 1946.

Issued this 25th day of February 1946.

WALTER D. KLINE,
District Director.

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION MATERIALS IN KEOKUK, IOWA, AREA

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and pursuant to the provisions of General Order 68, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. What this order covers. This order covers all retail sales made by any seller of commodities specified in Appendix A below, delivered to the purchaser in the Keokuk, Iowa, Area, both on a yard sales and a delivered sales basis. The Keokuk, Iowa, Area for the purposes of this order consists of that area within the State of Iowa included within the corporate city limits of the City of Keokuk, Iowa, and the area within ten (10) miles of the corporate city limits of the City of Keokuk, Iowa.

SEC. 2. Definitions. For the purposes of this order, a retail sale means a sale to an ultimate user, or to any contractor; provided that for the purposes of this order, a "retail sale" shall not include any sale to the United States Government or any of its political subdivisions. Any person who sells material or equipment, and in connection therewith, assumes responsibility for its incorporation into a building, structure, or construction project at a fixed site, by charging a single price for the commodity installed, by guaranteeing performance and use, or by other objective evidence, shall be considered a contractor. Purchases by applicators, as herein defined, of asphalt and tarred roofing products and insulation are excluded from the coverage of this order. Applicators are herein defined as contractors engaged exclusively in the business of applying roofing and/or siding and/or insulation to buildings. The word "seller" refers to each separate seller covered by this order. If a seller makes sales at retail through more than one selling unit or establishment, each selling unit or establishment is considered to be a separate seller, subject to all the provisions of this order.

SEC. 3. Relation to other regulations. The maximum prices fixed by this order supersede any maximum prices determined under or pricing methods provided by any maximum price regulation or order which would otherwise be applicable to the sale of the commodities specified in Appendix A. Any other provision of this order which is inconsistent with any maximum price regulation or order which would otherwise be applicable, supersedes such provision of the maximum price regulation or order. All provisions of maximum price regulations or orders which are applicable to the sale of commodities specified in Appendix A, not inconsistent with provisions of this order, shall continue to apply to sales made subject to this order.

SEC. 4. Discounts, allowance and delivery practice. The maximum prices established by this order are maximum prices for cash sales. Where, during March 1942, the seller established a differential between cash sales and sales on credit, such differential or credit charge may be added to the maximum price established by this order. In no event may the credit charge, if any, exceed the highest charge made to the same class of purchaser for the same sale during March 1942. No additional charge may be made for deliveries by the seller to any point located within the Keokuk, Iowa, Area. All customary discounts, allowances or differentials established by any maximum price regulation or order applicable to the sale of the commodities specified in Appendix A, shall be maintained.

SEC. 5. Posting of maximum prices. Every seller making sales covered by this order shall post a copy of the list of maximum prices fixed by this order in each of his places of business in the area covered by this order in a manner plainly visible to all purchasers. Two copies of the list of maximum prices are attached to this order, one of which may be removed and posted as required herein. Every seller making sales covered by this order shall retain a copy of the order in each of his places of business in the area covered by this order and shall, if requested by the purchaser, make the same available for inspection by him.

SEC. 6. Sales slips and records. Every seller covered by this order shall give to the purchaser a sales slip, receipt, or other evidence of purchase which shall show the date, name and address of the seller, the description, quantity, and the price of each item sold, said description to be in detail sufficient to determine whether the price charged has been properly computed under this order; provided that for sales of less than a total of $7.50 only the name and address of the seller and the amount of the sale need be shown. The seller shall prepare such sales slips, receipts, or other evidence of purchase in duplicate and he must keep for at least 6 months after delivery such duplicate copy delivered pursuant to this section. For any sale of $50.00 or more each seller, regardless of previous custom, must keep records showing at least the following:

(1) Name and address of buyer
(2) Date of transaction
(3) Place of delivery
(4) Complete description of each item sold and price charged.

SEC. 7. On and after the effective date of this order, any person covered by this order, who sells or offers to sell at a price higher than the ceiling price permitted by this order, or otherwise violates any of the provisions of this order, shall be subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings and suits for treble damages as provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. No person subject to this order may evade any of the provisions of the order by any stratagem, scheme or device. No person subject to this order may, as a condition of selling any particular building material item, require a customer to buy anything else. Any such evasion is punishable as a violation of this order.

SEC. 8. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 9. Appendix. The list of maximum prices fixed by this order is entitled Appendix A, attached hereto and hereby made a part of this order.

SEC. 10. This order may be modified, amended, or revoked at any time.

This order shall become effective March 4, 1946.

Issued this 25th day of February 1946.

WALTER D. KLINE,
District Director.

[Priorities Reg. 33, Direction 1A]

SOFTWOOD PLYWOOD

The fulfilment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of softwood plywood for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

(a) What this direction does. Priorities Regulation 33 and Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33 provide for the assignment to builders and prefabricators of priorities assistance to secure materials listed on Schedule A of PR 33 and List I of Direction 8 to PR 33 which are required for use in the Reconversion Housing Program. Among these items is softwood plywood. This direction provides that the manufacturers of softwood plywood shall produce a percentage of their total production in construction and door panel grades and reserve a percentage of those grades for certified orders from prefabricators, distributors, stock cabinet manufacturers, stock door manufacturers and housing contractors. It provides that the softwood plywood reserved and the product into which it is incorporated, may only be sold on certified orders or HH rated orders.

(b) Definitions for the purpose of this direction. (1) "Softwood plywood" means laminated veneers of any species of softwood united with a bonding agent to produce board.

(2) "Construction plywood" means plywood of one or more softwood panels of the following grades: Interior (moisture resistant) type as follows: ¼" wall board; ⅜" wall board; ¼" sound one side plypanel; ⅜" sound one side plypanel; ⅜" sheathing; ⅝" sheathing; ½" sheathing and ⅝" sheathing and Exterior type: ¼" sound one side plypanel and ⅜" sound one side panel.

(3) "Door plywood" means softwood plywood, Interior (moisture resistant) and Exterior type without external sealer treatment of ¼" sound two sides door plypanel.

(4) "Plywood manufacturer" means a person engaged in the manufacture of softwood plywood.

(5) "Prefabricator" means a person engaged in the manufacture of prefabricated houses, panels or sections who has been granted priorities assistance on Form CPA–4415 to build prefabricated houses, panels or sections.

(6) "Housing contractor" means a builder (applicant) who has been directly assigned an HH rating by CPA, FHA or NHA. It also includes a general contractor who has been directly authorized by such a builder to use the HH rating for the whole job. It does not include a subcontractor authorized to use the HH rating for a part of the job.

(7) "Distributor" means a person who buys and stocks softwood plywood for resale as plywood at wholesale or retail.

(8) "Stock cabinet manufacturer" means a millwork manufacturer who produces windows, sash, doors, window and door screens, cut stock for the foregoing, trim, moulding and kitchen cabinets for built-in installation as part of his regular millwork line.

(9) "Stock door manufacturer" means a person who consumes softwood plywood in the manufacture of standard house doors.

(10) "Square footage" means measurement on a ⅜" rough basis.

(11) "Certified order" means any order for the delivery of softwood plywood bearing the certificate prescribed in paragraph (j).

(12) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust corporation, governmental corporation or agency or any organized group of persons whether incorporated or not.

Plywood Manufacturers

(c) Plywood manufacturers reserve production. The following conditions will govern the amount of construction plywood and door plywood, plywood manufacturers shall produce and reserve for certified orders:

(1) Each softwood plywood manufacturer shall reserve in his total over-all production of softwood plywood in square footage for the month of April, 1946, and for each calendar month thereafter, time and supplies sufficient to produce and deliver within such month; (i) at least 45% of his expected monthly production of softwood plywood in the form of construction plywood of which not more than 20% of the construction plywood may be in exterior type; (ii) at least 5% of his expected monthly production of softwood plywood in the form of door plywood, for delivery on certified orders.

The CPA may from time to time change such percentages by amendments published in the Federal Register prior to the first day of any month.

(2) Every plywood manufacturer must reserve 60% of his total production of construction plywood in square footage beginning with the month of April, 1946, and in each calendar month thereafter, for delivery on certified orders. A plywood manufacturer must hold the 60% reserve production of construction plywood for certified orders from prefabricators, housing contractors, stock cabinet manufacturers and distributors and must accept and ship such certified orders in preference to all other orders (except orders rated AAA) to the extent that such certified orders do not require more than 60% of the total monthly production of construction plywood. Any quantities of construction plywood reserved for certified orders from prefabricators, housing contractors, stock cabinet manufacturers or distributors, which, by the 20th of any month in which production is reserved, are not required to fill certified orders received before that time, may be delivered by the plywood manufacturer as he may desire subject to all applicable orders and regulations of the CPA.

(3) A plywood manufacturer must reserve 40% of his total production of construction plywood in square footage beginning with the month of April, 1946, and for each calendar month thereafter for delivery on uncertified and unrated orders from distributors.

(4) A plywood manufacturer must hold his reserve production of door plywood for certified orders from door manufacturers or distributors and must accept and ship such certified orders in preference to all other orders (except orders rated AAA) to the extent that such certified orders do not require more than the monthly reserve production of door plywood. Any quantities of door plywood manufactured which, by the 20th of any month in which production is reserved, are not required to fill certified orders received before that time, may be delivered by the plywood manufacturer as he may desire subject to all applicable orders and regulations of the CPA.

Prefabricators

(d) The following provisions tell how prefabricators may place with a plywood manufacturer or distributor certified orders for construction plywood:

(1) A prefabricator may place certified orders with a plywood manufacturer or a distributor for construction plywood required to meet a quarterly production schedule for prefabricated houses, panels or sections for which he has received priorities assistance on Form CPA–4415. A prefabricator must not specify delivery dates (at his plant or warehouse) on certified orders more than 30 days before the time the construction plywood is needed for incorporation into the prefabricated houses, panels or sections. Furthermore, a prefabricator must not place certified orders for construction plywood in which is specified a delivery date later than during the third calendar month after the time when the purchase order is placed.

(2) A prefabricator must use construction plywood obtained on certified orders in the production of prefabricated houses, panels or sections to be sold on orders rated HH.

(3) A prefabricator may not apply or extend an HH rating for softwood plywood.

Housing Contractors

(e) Housing contractors. The following provisions tell how a housing contractor may place certified orders or HH rated orders with a plywood manufacturer or distributor for contruction plywood.

(1) A housing contractor may apply the HH rating on orders for construction plywood to a distributor, but not to a plywood manufacturer, or a housing contractor purchasing in not less than carload lots, may place certified orders for mill shipment delivery each month starting with the month of April 1946, with a plywood manufacturer or a distributor, in an amount in square footage not in excess of the total construction plywood required to meet his construction schedule for housing for which he has received priorities assistance on Form CPA–4386. A housing contractor may not place HH rated or certified orders for plywood except for use in kitchen cabinets and bathroom and kitchen flooring. He may not apply the HH rating or use a certificate for an amount in excess of 600 square feet per house or apartment. If kitchen cabinets are purchased as millwork the total permissible amount of plywood must be reduced by the amount of plywood in the cabinets.

(2) A housing contractor must not specify delivery dates (at site or warehouse) on certified orders or HH rated orders, more than 30 days from the time that the construction plywood is needed for incorporation into the housing. Furthermore, the housing contractor must not place certified orders for construction plywood in which is specified a delivery date later than the third calendar month after the time when the purchase order is placed. A housing contractor may place certified orders for construction plywood only to the extent that HH rated orders have not been placed with a distributor.

(3) A housing contractor must use the construction plywood obtained on certified orders or HH rated orders on housing construction for which the HH rating was authorized.

Stock Cabinet Manufacturers

(f) Stock cabinet manufacturers. The following provisions tell how a stock cabinet manufacturer may place with a plywood manufacturer or distributor certified orders for construction plywood for the manufacture of built-in cabinets, and how the cabinets must be sold:

(1) A stock cabinet manufacturer wishing to place certified orders for construction plywood, with the plywood manufacturer, or a distributor, shall apply to the CPA for authority to place such orders. A stock cabinet manufacturer must for the second calendar quarter of 1946 apply to CPA before April 1, 1946 and for subsequent quarters apply at least 20 days before the first day of the calendar quarter for which authorization is asked, by letter stating: (i) average monthly consumption of plywood in kitchen cabinets in your 1940 (required in first application only); (ii) average anticipated monthly production of kitchen cabinets in units to be produced in the next 3 calendar months in which construction plywood is required and (iii) total requirement in ⅜" basis of construction plywood for kitchen cabinets in item (ii) above. Such application will be processed equitably. A stock cabinet manufacturer must not specify delivery dates (at plant or warehouse) on certified orders more than 30 days before the time the construction plywood is needed for incorporation into cabinets. Furthermore, the stock cabinet manufacturer must not place certified orders for construction plywood in which is specified a delivery date later than during the third calendar month after the time the purchase order was placed.

(2) A stock cabinet manufacturer must use the construction plywood received on certified orders in the production of built-in kitchen cabinets suitabe for housing. The cabinets manufactured from the construction plywood must be held for sale as millwork and sold in conformity with paragraph (e) (2) of Direction 1 to PR 33 providing for the sale of millwork.

Door Manufacturers

(g) Door manufacturers. The following provisions tell how door manufacturers may place with plywood manufacturers or distributors certified orders for door plywood for the manufacture of standard house doors and how the doors must be sold.

(1) A door manufacturer may place certified orders for door plywood for delivery in each month beginning with the month of April, 1946, with the plywood manufacturer or a distributor for an amount in square footage not in excess of 10% of the amount in square footage of door plywood consumed by him in the manufacture of standard house doors in the year 1940.

(2) A door manufacturer must use each month, all the door plywood received on certified orders in the manufacture of standard house doors. The doors so manufactured must be held for sale as millwork and sold in conformity with paragraph (e) (2) of Direction 1 to PR 33 providing for the sale of millwork.

Distributors

(h) Distributors. The following provisions tell how distributors may place orders for construction plywood, and how the construction plywood may be sold:

(1) A distributor may place uncertified and unrated orders for delivery each month, starting with the month of April, 1946, for construction plywood, with the plywood manufacturer. A distributor must hold the construction plywood received after April 1, 1946 for sale only on certified orders or orders rated HH or AAA. Any quantities of construction plywood which at the end of a period of 60 days after receipt, are not required to fill all certified orders or HH or AAA rated orders received before that time, may be delivered by the distributor as he may desire, subject to all applicable orders and regulations of the CPA.

(2) A distributor who has received a certified order for construction or door plywood may place the certified order with a plywood manufacturer to get the construction or door plywood which will be delivered direct to consumer subject to the applicable inventory regulations. If a distributor has made delivery of construction or door plywood from his inventory on certified orders from a prefabricator, housing contractor, door manufacturer or stock cabinet manufacturer, he may place certified orders with a plywood manufacturer to replace it in his inventory. The distributor must hold the plywood received on such certified order as provided in paragraph (1) above.

(i) Newcomers. (1) A person who in the year 1940 was not established as a millwork manufacturer or a door manufacturer, and who wants to place monthly certified orders for construction plywood for use in kitchen cabinets or for door plywood for use in standard house doors, may apply to CPA for authorization to place certified orders for a calendar quarter. Authorization will be issued on a quarterly basis and application by letter must be filed at least 10 days before the first day of the calendar quarter for which authorization is asked. The letter should state: (i) location of plant; (ii) amount of equipment and its production capacity to manufacture kitchen cabinets or house doors; (iii) line of millwork to be produced; (iv) anticipated monthly production of house doors or kitchen cabinets in which plywood is required; (v) total requirements on a ⅜" basis of plywood for house doors or kitchen cabinets for the next current quarter. Such application will be processed in an equitable manner.

(2) A person receiving authorization to place a certified order under paragraph (i) (1) above, must hold kitchen cabinets or doors manufactured for sale in conformity with the provisions of paragraph (f) (2) and (g) (2) above, respectively.

Certification

(j) Certification. To certify an order for construction plywood or door plywood under this direction, the following certificate must be endorsed on or attached to the purchase order, or sales ticket. Certification must be signed manually or as explained in PR 7. However, the standard form described in that regulation may not be used in place of the certificate described in this direction. The certificate described in this direction may not be waived by paragraph (f) under PR 7.

Prefabricators, housing contractors, stock cabinet manufacturers, door manufacturers and distributors who place certified orders calling for delivery of construction plywood or door plywood, must use a certificate reading substantially as follows:

The undersigned certifies to the supplier and to the CPA that he is a _____ (prefabricator, housing contractor, stock cabinet manufacturer, door manufacturer, or distributor) and that the quantities of construction plywood or door plywood covered by this order (together with all other certified orders for construction plywood or door plywood for delivery in the months specified in this order) do not exceed the amount he has been allowed under Direction 1A of PR 33 with the provisions of which he is familiar.

Miscellaneous

(k) Miscellaneous. The following provisions generally affecting plywood manufacturers, prefabricators, housing contractors, stock cabinet manufacturers, door manufacturers and distributors should be carefully read:

(1) Validation of orders. Any prefabricator, stock cabinet manufacturer, door manufacturer or housing contractor who has placed an uncertified order with a plywood manufacturer and is later authorized to place a certified order may validate the order by giving the plywood mnufacturer the certificate that he is entitled to use. Any order that is validated subsequent to April 1, 1946, should be treated as though the order was placed on the date that the certificate was received by the plywood manufacturer.

(2) Applicability of regulations. Except as otherwise required by this direction Priorities Regulations 1 and 3 govern the use of ratings and the acceptance, scheduling and filling of orders placed with distributors. All other applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration must be observed.

(3) Extension of HH rating. The HH rating may not be applied or extended to a plywood manufacturer for plywood. However, any person who has received an HH rated order for the delivery of plywood may extend the HH rating to his suppliers (except to a plywood manufacturer) to get plywood which he will deliver on that order subject to applicable inventory regulations. If a person has made delivery of plywood on an HH rated order, he may extend the HH rating to his suppliers (except to a plywood manufacturer) to replace the amount in his inventory subject to the applicable inventory regulations. A millwork manufacturer who has received a HH rated order for millwork or who has delivered millwork on an HH rating, may not extend the HH rating for plywood for incorporation into millwork.

(4) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provisions of this direction, willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(5) Reports. Every person shall file with the Civilian Production Administration, or any other federal agency, through which the Civilian Production Administration may distribute plywood, such reports and questionnaires as the Civilian Production Administration or such other agency may from time to time require subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(6) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this direction shall be made by mailing a letter in triplicate to the Civilian Production Administration, Forest Products Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: Direction 1A to PR 33 stating the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds for the appeal.

(7) Communications. All communications unless otherwise directed must be addressed as follows: Civilian Production Administration, Forest Products Division, Washington 25, D. C.

(8) Effective date. This direction shall become effective April 1, 1946.

PREFABRICATED HOUSING UNDER THE RECONVERSION HOUSING PROGRAM

The following direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 33:

(a) What this direction does. This direction explains how manufacturers of prefabricated houses, sections or panels, called prefabricators in this direction, may get HH ratings for certain materials to be used in the manufacture and erection of prefabricated housing under the Reconversion Housing Program.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this direction:

(1) "Prefabricated house" means a house which is manufactured in a factory, is transported without being taken apart, and will be ready for occupancy when placed on a foundation and connected with required utility services. The term "prefabricated house" does not include house trailers.

(2) "Prefabricated section" means a section of a house which is manufactured in a factory, is transported without being taken apart, and will be ready for use when attached to another section or other sections of a house, or used in combination with prefabricated panels or conventionally constructed elements or both, placed on a foundation and connected with public utility services.

(3) "Prefabricated panel" means any floor, wall, partition, ceiling, roof or truss panel which is manufactured in a factory in such a fashion that it may be erected, in combination with other prefabricated panels or sections of a house, or in combination with conventionally constructed elements to produce housing accommodations. Prefabricated panels may, but need not, incorporate such items as window and door frames, sash, doors, builders' hardware, wiring, piping, etc.

(4) The terms "prefabricated panel" and "prefabricated section" do not include: (i) fabricated structural steel such as columns, beams, or trusses, (ii) millwork as defined in Direction 1 to Priorities Regulation 33, (iii) items of furniture and equipment not to be permanently attached to and made a part of a house or, (iv) building materials cut to size and shape for assembly at the site (however, if such materials are delivered by the prefabricator as part of the package he supplies, these materials for the purpose of this direction are considered as included in the package and are subject to the rules in this direction).

(c) Applications by prefabricators for priorities assistance. A prefabricator may apply to the Civilian Production Administration on Form CPA–4415 for authority to use an HH rating or to place certified orders to get materials on List 1 to this direction to be used in the manufacture of prefabricated houses, sections, and panels, or to be sold with them. Second quarter applications must be filed by April 1, 1946. Authorizations will be given on this form for materials for the Second Quarter (April, May and June) and an advance authorization for a percentage of requirements for the third quarter (July, August, and September). The advance authorization will enable the prefabricator to place purchase orders for the third quarter before the receipt of his third quarter authorization, subject to the provisions of paragraph (d) (5). Priorities assistance will be granted only for such quantities of materials for manufacture into prefabricated houses, sections or panels as are likely to be fully used in housing authorized under the Reconversion Housing Program.

(d) Use of HH ratings and certified orders by prefabricators. (1) A prefabricator must not extend an HH rating which he receives from his customers.

(2) A prefabricator to whom an HH rating is assigned on Form CPA–4415 under this direction may use it only to get the quantities of the materials approved on the application (except that the HH rating may not be used to get materials covered by paragraph (3) below). The HH rating may be applied to a purchase order only by placing on the order the following certificate (the certificates set forth in Priorities Regulations 3 and 7 may not be substituted for this certificate).

Reconversion Housing Program
Prefabricated Housing
Serial #------
Rating: HH

I certify to the Civilian Production Administration that the materials covered by this order will be used only in prefabricated units being manufactured under the Reconversion Housing Program and that I will sell the completed units only on orders rated HH under Priorities Regulation 33.

Manufacturer

(3) A prefabricator who has been granted priorities assistance on Form CPA–4415 may use an HH rating to get his approved quantity of bath tubs, radiation and soil pipe from distributors or jobbers, and for his approved quantity of gypsum board and lath from dealers, under Directions 2, 3, 4 and 5 to Priorities Regulation 33. A prefabricator, however, shall not use an HH rating to get any of these products directly from producers, as it is expected by the Civilian Production Administration that producers who regularly sell these products directly to prefabricators will continue to provide an equitable share of their products to them without use of ratings.

(4) A prefabricator whose application on Form CPA–4415 is approved may place certified orders for the approved quantities of lumber, millwork, hardwood flooring and softwood plywood in accordance with Direction 1 and Direction 1A to Priorities Regulation 33.

(5) The prefabricator must not specify delivery dates (delivery at his plant or warehouse) on HH rated or certified purchase orders for materials more than 30 days before the time they are to be incorporated in the prefabricated house, section or panel. Furthermore, the prefabricator must not place HH rated or certified purchase orders for materials in which delivery is specified later than during the third calendar month after the time when the purchase order is placed.

(e) Extendibility of HH ratings by dealers. A person (other than a prefabricator) who receives an HH rated order for a prefabricated house, section or panel, may extend the HH rating to a prefabricator to get the prefabricated house, section or panel which he will deliver on the HH order.

(f) Sales by prefabricators. A prefabricator must not sell any prefabricated house, section or panel, in which materials obtained with an HH rating or by means of a certified order under Direction 1 or Direction 1A to Priorities Regulation 33 have been incorporated, except on an order rated HH.

(g) Application by builders under Priorities Regulation 33. A veteran of World War II or other builder who wishes to erect a prefabricated house, section or panel (including a prefabricator who erects the building himself) to produce housing accommodations may apply for an HH rating under Priorities Regulation 33 and his application will be processed in the usual fashion. If approved, the builder will be subject to all the requirements of Priorities Regulation 33 including the restrictions on sales price, rents and preference to veterans. When the application is approved, the builder will be assigned an HH rating which he may use to get the prefabricated house, section or panel and other items from the prefabricator. This rating may be applied in accordance with, and subject to the limitations of paragraph (d) of the regulation. The builder may also use the HH rating to get the necessary quantities of any other items on Schedule A of Priorities Regulation 33 from a supplier.

(h) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this direction, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(i) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this direction should be made by mailing a letter in triplicate to the Civilian Production Adminstraton, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33, stating the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds for the appeal.

Issued this 15th day of March 1946.

Charles Fleischman and Dorothy V. Fleischman, a co-partnership, d/b/a M. R. Fleischman Company, with principal place of business at 50 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco, California, engaged in the manufacture of women's wear, have appealed from the provisions of Suspension Order No. S–926. The Chief Compliance Commissioner has reviewed the case and has directed that the order be amended by substituting the following paragraph (b) for the present paragraph (b):

In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered, that: § 1010.926 Suspension Order No. S–926 be amended by substituting the following paragraph (b) for the present paragraph (b):

(b) Charles Fleischman and Dorothy V. Fleischman, partners, d/b/a M. R. Fleischman Company, shall not receive any authorization from Civilian Production Administration to place orders bearing CC ratings for textiles during the first quarter of 1946, and they shall not place any orders bearing CC ratings for textiles during that period except that they may place orders for the second quarter of 1946 on or after March 15, 1946, for 70 percent of the yardage of the fabric that they would have normally been authorized under directions 9 or 10 to receive on M–328B CC rated orders in the first quarter of 1946. This authorization, which was prohibited by the terms of the suspension order, would have amounted to 43,168 yards of rayon body fabric for women's and misses' dresses and 11,358 yards of rayon body fabric for women's and misses' blouses.

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

EXEMPTION AND SUSPENSION FROM PRICE CONTROL OF MACHINES, PARTS, INDUSTRIAL MATERIALS AND SERVICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Supplementary Order 129 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 14 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 14 Motor vehicles and equipment—(a) Automotive parts, certain sales. (1) Automotive parts are suspended from price control:

(i) When sold to automotive vehicle manufacturers for use as automotive vehicle original equipment.

(ii) When sold to parts or subassembly manufacturers for use in the production of parts or subassemblies to be sold to manufacturers of automotive vehicles or other complete assemblies for use as original equipment.

(iii) When sold to manufacturers of complete assemblies other than automotive vehicles for use as original equipment in such assemblies, except that prices for sales under this subdivision (iii) shall not be higher dollarwise in relation to the seller's general level of prices for sales under subdivision (i) than was the case in March, 1942. For example, a parts manufacturer sold a certain automotive part to automotive vehicle manufacturers in March, 1942, for $5.00, and he sold the same part to a farm machinery manufacturer for $6.00, or $1.00 more. If he now raises his price to the automotive vehicle manufacturers to $5.10, he may not charge more than $6.10 to the farm machinery manufacturer, that figure being $1.00 greater than the price to the automotive vehicle manufacturer. If the seller was not in the business of selling automotive parts in March, 1942, he shall be guided by the March, 1942 price differential of his most closely competitive seller of the same class.

(iv) When sold to distributors to be resold to manufacturers of automotive vehicles or other complete assemblies for use as original equipment.

(v) When sold to distributors to be resold to parts or subassembly manufacturers for use in the production of parts of subassemblies to be sold to manufacturers of automotive vehicles or other complete assemblies for use as original equipment.

(2) Notification from purchasers of original equipment requirements. Before delivery, a purchaser of automotive parts to be used as described in (i), (ii), (iii), (iv) or (v) shall notify the seller in writing of the quantity of the part required for use as original equipment in automotive vehicles or other complete assemblies or for use in the production of parts or subassemblies to be used as original equipment in automotive vehicles or other complete assemblies. The seller may rely upon the buyer's notification and treat as suspended from price control the sale and delivery of the number of parts stated by the purchaser.

(3) When price control may be resumed. Although price control of an automotive part is suspended, the vehicle manufacturers are not permitted to reflect in their prices unduly high parts prices. In general, parts prices will be considered unduly high if a seller's prices on the average exceed prices that would have been allowed had price control been maintained and had the prices been adjusted under the Office's reconversion policy. Consequently, parts prices that are inflationary in that they reflect temporary and artificially high elements of cost or profit margins materially greater than were prevailing in a representative peacetime period may not be passed through in the form of higher vehicle prices.

The widespread charging of prices higher than those that would have been allowed under continued price control will cause the Administrator to revoke the suspension of automotive parts. In addition, the Administrator may by order, under this paragraph, revoke the suspension from price control of individual sellers of automotive parts either with regard to all or certain of the parts sold by them. Such action will be taken when it appears that unduly high prices are being charged by certain sellers but that in general the level of parts prices is satisfactory. Such individual orders will state whether the maximum prices applicable upon the revocation of suspension will be those set forth in the particular price regulation which formerly controlled the particular type of sale or

(4) Definitions. As used in this supplementary order

(i) "Automotive vehicle" means a passenger automobile, truck, truck tractor, electric, diesel or gasoline motor driven bus, ambulance, hearse, flower car, airport limousine, mobile fire apparatus or motorcycle.

(ii) "Complete assembly" means an assembly in its final form and which will not later be incorporated in another product. Examples are farm tractors and farm combines.

(iii) "Automotive part" means any specific part, subassembly or accessory, except as excluded below, originally designed for use in an automotive vehicle and fabricated to such an extent that it may be identified as to its ultimate use in an automotive vehicle. "Automotive parts" do not include tires; batteries; radios; or ferrous and nonferrous castings covered by Regulations 41, 125, 214, 235, 241 and 244.

Examples: Glass is not an automotive part unless cut to size to be incorporated in an automotive vehicle. Electrical wire is not a "part" within the meaning of the definition unless sufficiently fabricated so that it may be identified with its ultimate use in automotive vehicles, as in the form of wire harness assemblies. Forgings are not "parts" unless they can be identified as to their ultimate use in automotive vehicles. Among such identifiable forgings are spindle bolts, axle shafts and crankshafts. Examples of stampings that are automotive parts are fenders, bodies, truck cabs, bumpers and brackets. Automotive fabrics in general are not parts, but when the fabric is cut to size and made part of a seat, the seat is a "part". Upholstery tacks are not "parts", since they were not originally designed for use in an automotive vehicle. Jacks of the type customarily included in the tool kit of an automotive vehicle are accessories meeting the requirements of the definition.

Automotive gears
Automotive steering assemblies
Automotive knee action front ends
Automotive conventional type front axles
Automotive suspension and booster springs
Automotive wheels and hub and drum assemblies
Automotive bearings
Automotive connecting rods
Automotive valves
Automotive valve springs
Automotive shock absorbers
Automotive body hardware
Automotive fan belts
Automotive armatures (motor and generator and wiper motors)
Automotive brake systems
Automotive transmissions
Automotive differentials
Automotive oil filters
Automotive coils and electrical parts
Automotive heaters and defrosters
Automotive brake parts
Automotive engine assemblies
Automotive radiators
Automotive horns or warning signaling devices
Automotive drag links
Automotive mouldings
Automotive oil and water pumps
Automotive propeller shafts
Automotive window regulators
Automotive rear axle shafts
Automotive ring and pinion gears
Automotive cylinder sleeves
Automotive speedometers
Automotive truck winches
Automotive truck hoists
Automotive truck bodies
Automotive truck-tractor fifth wheel assemblies

2. Section 18 (b) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) Automotive parts: reports of increased prices. Each seller of automotive parts shall mail to the Automotive Branch,[1] OPA National Office, Washington 25, D. C., not later than five days from the date a firm price for a sale of an automotive part suspended by this Order is agreed to by the seller and the purchaser, the following information regarding such a sale when the firm price is higher than the maximum price prior to suspension:

(i) Description of the part.
(ii) Name and address of buyer.
(iii) Firm selling price.
(iv) Former maximum price (not required where maximum price would have been established under section 8 of Maximum Price Regulation 452).

Once the information has been reported as to a new price, reports need not be made for later sales at or below that price.

This amendment shall become effective March 15, 1946.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 15th day of March 1946.

Administrator.

Third Revised Ration Order 3 is amended in the following respects:

[1] 11 F.R. 177.

1. Section 19.4 (c) (2) (i) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following sentence: "However, for any quarterly period beginning on or after April 1, 1946, the number of one hundred pound units are multiplied by 90 percent of the average number of pounds of sugar which he used per one hundred pounds of that type of dried beans so used in 1941."

2. Section 19.4 (d) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following sentence: "However, an industrial user may use 90 percent of the average amount of sugar he used in 1941 per one hundred pounds of dried beans processed for each one hundred pounds of dried beans he processes in any quarterly period on or after April 1, 1946. He may not use more sugar than this amount."

3. Section 19.5 (c) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) The amount of the provisional allowance of sugar for use in canning or bottling fruit juices shall be computed in the following way separately for each kind of fruit juice:

(i) For each kind of fruit juice the number of gallons of that kind of fruit juice which the applicant expects to make from the date of application to the end of the quarterly period for which application is made (or for use in the period from March 15, 1946, to April 1, 1946) is multiplied by 90 percent of the average number of pounds of sugar which he used per gallon for that kind of fruit juice during 1941;

(ii) The resulting figures for each kind of fruit juice are added together and the result is his provisional allowance for canning and bottling fruit juices. The District Office shall issue to him a check for the amount of his provisional allowance less any unused balance of his last provisional allowance of sugar issued for canning and bottling fruit juices.

4. Section 19.5 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) Restriction on use. If an industrial user receives a provisional allowance under this order for canning and bottling any kind of fruit juice, he may use that provisional allowance only for the purpose of canning and bottling that kind of fruit juice. For any packing season beginning after March 14, 1946, or for any part of a packing season not ended by that date he may not use more sugar in canning or bottling any fruit juice than 90 percent of the average amount of sugar he used per gallon for that kind of fruit juice in 1941. Moreover, he may not use sugar for a packing season in excess of the average rate provided in computing his allowance.

5. Section 19.10 (c) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) The amount of the provisional allowance of sugar for use in canning or bottling fruit, for each kind of fruit, shall be computed in the following way:

(i) The number of cases of 24 No. 2½ cans (or equivalent) of that kind of fruit which the applicant expects to pack from the date of application (or for use in the period from March 15, 1946, to April 1, 1946) to the end of the quarter is multiplied by 90 percent of the average number of pounds of sugar which he used per 24 No. 2½ cans (or equivalent) for that kind of fruit during 1941.

The resulting figures for each kind of fruit are added together and the result is his provisional allowance for canning and bottling fruit. The District Office shall issue to him a check for the amount of his provisional allowance less any unused balance of his last provisional allowance of sugar issued for canning and bottling fruit.

6. Section 19.10 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) Restriction on use. An industrial user who obtains a provisional allowance under this order may use the sugar only during the packing season for which it was obtained and for packing the fruit for which it was granted and not in excess of the average rate provided in computing his allowance.

7. Section 19.10 (e) is amended to read as follows:

(e) Records and reports. An industrial user who, during a calendar month, has sugar for canning or bottling fruit must, before the sixteenth day of the following month, file with the District Office with which he is registered, a report on OPA Form R-359-A giving all the information required by that form. He must keep a copy of this report at his principal business office as long as this order remains effective.

PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

DAIRY PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 289 is amended in the following respects:

1. A new section 15b is added to read as follows:

SEC. 15b. Establishment of maximum prices at all levels of distribution by individual authorization. (a) Whenever maximum prices are established by individual authorization for sales of a cheese item by a named manufacturer, the maximum prices established at the distributive levels shall be applicable to any wholesaler purchasing the item, provided he performs the functions described in the appropriate definition of the Regulation for that class of wholesaler. This section does not apply to sales at retail which are governed by Maximum Price Regulations 422 and 423.

(b) Notification by manufacturers. (1) With the first delivery of a cheese item for which maximum prices have been established by individual authorization at the various levels of distribution, the manufacturer shall notify the purchaser of his maximum selling price by supplying him with the following written statement. A copy of such notification shall be retained by the manufacturer:

(Insert date)

The OPA maximum prices for sales of (describe the cheese item by kind, brand name, container size, type of package or container) have been established at all levels of distribution (except sales at retail) by Order No. under section of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 289. We are authorized to inform you that the maximum prices at the various levels of distribution, delivered at any place in Wisconsin, are as follows: (Insert classes of sellers and maximum prices for sales by each class.) Maximum prices for sales of this item, delivered at any place outside Wisconsin, shall be the prices established for sales in Wisconsin, plus the lowest published railroad carlot freight rate per pound gross weight from (insert basing point, as set forth in the order) to the place of delivery multiplied by 1.15. Since you are a (insert class of seller) your maximum price for this item, delivered at (insert place of delivery) is $ per pound. On and after the first delivery of this item to you from your customary type of supplier containing this notification you must supply all purchasers with written notification of your new maximum price. If you are a retailer your maximum prices shall be computed on the basis of your net delivered cost plus the markup provisions contained in section 39 (a) Table B of Maximum Price Regulation 422 or section 28 (a) Table B of Maximum Price Regulation 423, whichever is applicable. The OPA requires you to keep this notice for examination.

(2) For a period of 60 days after the establishment of a new maximum price for the cheese item, and with the first delivery after the 60-day period to each person who has not made a purchase within that time, each manufacturer shall include in, or securely attach to the outside of, each case, carton, or other receptacle containing the cheese item the written notice set forth in paragraph (b) (1) above. However, for sales directly to any retailer the manufacturer may supply the notice by attaching it to, or stating it on, the invoice covering the shipment instead of providing it with the item.

(c) Notification by wholesalers. Any wholesaler who has received written notice of the establishment of a new maximum price for a cheese item, as provided in the immediately preceding paragraph (b) (1) and (2), after actually receiving the cheese item for the first time with such a notice must, at the time of sale, supply each purchaser of the item from him (either another wholesaler or a retailer) with written notice of the establishment of the new maximum price. This notice, a copy of which shall be retained by the wholesaler, must be attached to, or stated on, the invoice covering the first delivery to such purchaser, after the effective date of the order establishing a new maximum price, and shall read as follows:

Our OPA ceiling price established by Order No. under section 15b of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 289 for sales of (describe the cheese item by kind, brand name, container size, type of package or container) delivered at (insert place of delivery) is $ per pound. The maximum prices established for sales of this item at the various levels of distribution, delivered at any place in Wisconsin, are as follows: (Insert classes of sellers and maximum prices for sales by each class.) The maximum prices for sales of this item delivered at any place outside Wisconsin shall be the prices established for sales in Wisconsin, plus the lowest published railroad carlot freight rate per pound gross weight from (insert basing point) to the place of delivery multiplied by 1.15. You are required to notify all wholesalers and retailers for whom you are a customary type of supplier purchasing the cheese item from you after (insert effective date of order) of any change in your maximum price. This notice must be made in the manner described in section 15b (b) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 289. The OPA requires you to keep this notice for examination.

2. Section 35 (d) (1) is amended by adding the following paragraph at the end thereof:

The provisions of this paragraph shall apply only when maximum prices have not been established by individual authorization or under the formula provisions of paragraph (d) (2).

3. Section 35 (g) (2) (ii) is amended to read as follows:

(ii) Maximum prices for wholesalers. The maximum price for the sale of a cheese item covered by this section, delivered at any place, by a primary wholesaler, secondary wholesaler, or service wholesaler, shall be the maximum price in effect on January 31, 1946, plus or minus (as the case may be) the amount by which the applicable maximum base price, or applicable maximum price for the appropriate type of sale to such wholesaler at that place has been increased or decreased since January 31, 1946.

If for any reason the provisions of this subparagraph (ii) are inapplicable, the Administrator of the Office of Price Administration may on his own motion, or upon application, establish maximum prices at any distributive level.

4. Section 35 (m) is amended by adding at the end thereof, the following six paragraphs:

(7) A "primary wholesaler" is a person who sells to a wholesaler or to a retail distributing warehouse.

(8) A "secondary wholesaler" is a person who purchases processed cheese, cheese foods or cheese spreads, from a primary wholesaler and either sells such items in quantity lots smaller than his purchases to one who customarily operates as a service wholesaler of those items, or sells and delivers such items to the physical premises of a retail distributing warehouse. No person who is a manufacturer or primary wholesaler of such cheese item, or who is in any way affiliated or associated with such manufacturer or primary wholesaler may qualify as a secondary wholesaler.

(9) A "service wholesaler" is a person who sells to and makes delivery to the physical premises of an individual retail store or an individual commercial, industrial, institutional or non-federal governmental user. No person shall be deemed a "service wholesaler" unless he owns or maintains a warehouse in the marketing area in which the physical premises of the above-described purchasers are located.

(10) The "physical premises of a retail distributing warehouse" means any place in such retail distributing warehouse at which cheese items are generally received for redistribution to the various retail stores or restaurants operated and serviced by the warehouse.

(11) The "physical premises of an individual retail store" means the place where cheese items are sold to ultimate household users.

(12) The "physical premises of an individual commercial, industrial, institutional, or non-federal governmental user" means the place where cheese items are consumed by such user. Provided, however, That the physical premises of a municipally-operated central kitchen preparing lunches for non-profit distribution to school children shall be deemed the physical premises of an institutional user.

This amendment shall become effective March 15, 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

ARTICLE I—APPLICATION OF THIS REGULATION

SECTION. 1. Scope of this regulation—(a) Control of prices after importation. This revised regulation controls the prices on all types of sales of all kinds of imported commodities imported into the continental United States after March 31, 1942, except sales of:

(1) Firewood from Canada, lumber and forest products, beverages, animal and poultry feeds;

(2) Any commodity of a kind or category expressly named in and for which a maximum price can be determined under another regulation;

(3) Any commodity not subject to price control. Examples of imported commodities priced under regulations expressly naming the kind or category of commodity are green coffee and imported watches. Most of the imported commodities formerly priced under the General Maximum Price Regulation are now priced under this regulation.

(b) Commodities before importation are not controlled. This regulation establishes maximum prices for sales of commodities after importation and except as specifically provided under orders issued by the Price Administrator does not control the prices on sales of any commodity prior to importation.

(c) Methods of control. This regulation provides:

(1) A general pricing formula which certain sellers of imported commodities may use automatically to determine maximum prices;

(2) A means for establishment of maximum prices for certain other sellers of imported commodities by orders issued under this regulation; and

(3) A method of adjustment, by orders issued under this regulation, of maximum prices of manufactured commodities priced under the General Maximum Price Regulation if imported commodities are used in their manufacture.

SEC. 2. Exceptions from the general pricing formula—(a) Exceptions listed. The maximum prices for all sales of all imported commodities controlled by this regulation shall be computed under the general pricing formula set out in section 3 of this regulation except:

(1) Maximum prices required to be established under Appendix A, section 23;

(2) Maximum prices established by orders of general applicability under section 21 of the original Maximum Import Price Regulation (Example: Order 38 pricing imported foods) or under section 21 of this Revised Maximum Import Price Regulation;

(3) Maximum prices which cannot be established automatically by the seller under section 3 for want of the necessary pricing experience;

(4) Maximum prices established by individual orders which are temporarily continued in effect under section 10 (c) of this Revised Maximum Import Price Regulation.

(b) Revocation of prior orders. Individual price orders and individual letter approvals for maximum prices on imported commodities, issued under the original Maximum Import Price Regulation, are revoked, except as temporarily continued in effect by section 10 (c) of this regulation.

ARTICLE II—MAXIMUM PRICES

SEC. 3. General formula for computing maximum prices of certain imported commodities. Maximum prices on sales of any commodity imported after March 31, 1942, not listed in exceptions under sections 1 and 2 of this regulation, by any seller to any particular class of purchasers shall be determined by the seller as follows:

(a) By taking the total of:

(1) His cost of acquisition (as defined), plus

(2) (i) His dollars-and-cents markup per unit used for the same imported commodity, or, alternately,

(ii) 75% of his percentage markup per unit, used for the same class of imported comodity;

On his last delivery or offer for delivery to the same class of purchasers while acting in the same capacity between January 1, 1939 and March 31, 1942.

SEC. 4. Maximum price computation records. Importers and other sellers establishing maximum prices for imported commodities under section 3 of this regulation shall preserve for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, past business records substantiating the markups which they apply to their current costs of imported commodities in determining their maximum prices. These records must be made available for examination by the Office of Price Administration or any authorized representative thereof.

SEC. 5. Maximum prices by order. (a) If any seller cannot determine his maximum price for any imported commodity under a price regulation specifically naming the kind or category of commodity or under a price order applicable to that commodity or under the general pricing formula in section 3, he shall apply for a maximum price before selling such commodity. The Price Administrator will establish his maximum price or formula for determining his maximum price for such commodity by order:

(1) On the basis of:

(i) Cost of acquisition; and

(ii) The customary dollars-and-cents markup on the same class of commodity, for the same class of sellers and purchasers, during March 1942 or during the nearest comparable selling period prior to that date; or

(2) (In case the commodity is listed in Appendix A and it is found that its sale at maximum prices determined on the basis set out in subparagraph (1) above would seriously disrupt the control of prices of comparable domestic commodities); on the basis of prices which will be in line with maximum prices applicable to comparable domestic commodities, giving due regard to any differentials between the prices on the sales of such commodities when imported and when domestically produced which normally existed.

(b) The Price Administrator, without application, may establish specific dollars-and-cents maximum prices on specific imported commodities or establish specific markups to be applied to the cost of acquisition of specific imported commodities on the basis of the criteria set out in paragraph (a) of this section, by either individual or general orders.

SEC. 6. Application for maximum prices. (a) An application for a maximum price or a formula for determining a maximum price shall be made by registered mail to the Office of Export-Import, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., and shall contain:

(1) Name and address of applicant;

(2) Applicant's class as a seller;

(3) A description, in complete detail, including, where applicable, the foreign manufacturer's style, number and size, of the imported commodity. (Wherever practical, the importer should submit a sample, photograph or sketch of such imported commodity.);

(4) Name and address of applicant's supplier and his class as a seller;

(5) Itemized cost of acquisition (invoice price, duty, freight, insurance, etc.);

(6) Class of customers to whom sales are to be made;

(7) A proposed markup based on 75% of the percentage markup customary in the trade prior to April 1942, if known, and if the commodity is listed in Appendix A, a proposed maximum price in line with maximum prices for sales of the nearest comparable commodity when produced domestically;

(8) Any other information which applicant considers pertinent to the establishment of a maximum price or maximum price formula.

(b) Applications may be made prior to importation. After an application has been filed, pending the issuance of an order, the applicant (other than a retailer) may make deliveries of the commodity being priced, and may collect, subject to adjustment to the amount authorized as the maximum price, an amount not in excess of his landed costs or cost of acquisition. Retail sellers shall not make deliveries until a maximum price is authorized.

(c) The proposed maximum price or proposed markup for use in determining a maximum price shown in a proper application shall be considered automatically authorized 20 days after the application (or additional data when requested) is received by the Office of Export-Import, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., unless within that time the applicant has received from the Office of Price Administration a notice to the contrary. Maximum prices so authorized may be revised by the Price Administrator at any time.

SEC. 7. Maximum prices for sales by wholesalers who buy from other wholesalers. For the purposes of this regulation, the regular sequence of distribution is assumed to consist of not more than three successive levels. These three levels are: (a) sales by importers to industrial users, wholesalers or retailers; (b) sales by wholesalers to industrial users or retailers; (c) sales by retailers to consumers. No markup may be added by a wholesaler who buys commodities from another wholesaler unless authorized by order of the Price Administrator. Such authorization shall be granted upon application to the Office of Export-Import, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., when it can be established that the second wholesaler performs a recognized distributive function in accordance with the usual practice of the trade prior to April 1942. When such permission is granted, the second wholesaler shall establish his maximum prices under section 3 or they may be established under section 5.

SEC. 8. Maximum prices for sales by retailers (other than importing retailers). Retailers (other than importing retailers who determine maximum prices under section 3) will ordinarily be able to determine their maximum prices under Maximum Price Regulation 580 by use of their pricing charts or by following the provisions of Order 83 under the Maximum Import Price Regulation. If the imported commodity can be priced by the non-importing retailer under Maximum Price Regulation 580, the maximum price must be established by use of his pricing chart. Order 83 lists maximum markups which may be applied by the non-importing retailer to his total cost of acquisition of certain classes of imported commodities which are not covered by Maximum Price Regulation 580. The non-importing retailer shall determine his maximum selling price for an imported commodity under section 3 or it may be established under section 5 of this regulation only when the commodity (a) cannot be priced under Maximum Price Regulation 580; (b) is of a class or category not covered by Order 83 under the Maximum Import Price Regulation; or (c) cannot be priced by a specific maximum price regulation or order which establishes maximum prices on retail sales of the commodity whether domestically produced or imported.

SEC. 9. Maximum export prices. The maximum price at which a person may export any imported commodity to which this regulation is applicable shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Maximum Export Price Regulation, as revised, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

ARTICLE III—ADJUSTMENTS AND ADJUSTABLE PRICING

SEC. 10. Maximum price adjustments. (a) If the last delivery or offer for delivery of a commodity between January 1, 1939 and March 31, 1942 was at a price determined by use of a markup deemed to be excessive by the Price Administrator, he may, by order, adjust the maximum price so determined under section 3. If it was at a price determined by use of a markup substantially below a normal markup in the trade the seller may apply for an adjustment of his maximum price under section 6 in the same manner as a seller who did not sell during that period and a maximum price by order on the basis of criteria set out in section 5, may be issued by the Price Administrator.

(b) Any maximum price which has been established for an imported commodity under section 3 of this regulation or under an order issued under this regulation (excepting, however, any commodity listed in Appendix A or priced in an order under the original Maximum Import Price Regulation or in an order providing otherwise) on future acquisitions shall be recomputed to reflect any decrease and may be recomputed to reflect any increase in the cost of acquisition.

(c) Where any seller has properly established his maximum selling price under the original Maximum Import Price Regulation for a lot of any imported commodity prior to the date of issuance of this revised regulation or the date of issuance of any amendment or order reducing his maximum price, he may continue to sell his lot of that imported commodity on hand on that date or that lot for which he made firm contract commitments prior thereto, at such formerly established maximum price or he may recompute his maximum price according to the provisions of this revised regulation: Provided, however, That 90 days after such date of issuance his maximum selling price must be redetermined under the provisions of this regulation.

(d) Any person who desires to sell a lot of a commodity imported after March 31, 1942, at a uniform maximum price instead of at different maximum prices computed or approved under any provisions of this regulation, may compute that maximum price by using the properly weighted average cost of all of the acquisitions in inventory at any given time: Provided, That the total sales value of all of the acquisitions in inventory at that uniform price do not exceed that which would otherwise be the total sales value at maximum prices established for each acquisition under any other provision of this regulation.

(e) If any person had an established practice of maintaining price differentials in a related range or line of imported commodities, prior to April 1, 1942, he may continue to reflect his usual price differentials in that range or line when establishing his maximum price under this section: Provided, That the total sales value of all of the commodities so priced does not exceed that which would otherwise be the total sales value at maximum prices established for each item under any other provision of this section.

(f) The maximum prices established under this regulation may not be increased by any commission paid to any agent of the seller.

(g) When maximum prices are authorized under this regulation for specified ports of arrival or other specified points of delivery, they include all charges for delivery at such points. For sales made at some other point, the actual cost for transportation from the delivery point for which the maximum price is established to such other point may be added, except where the seller provided local delivery without additional charge in March 1942.

(h) The maximum prices established by this regulation shall be reduced by customary allowances, discounts or other price differentials of the seller (prevailing in March 1942) or in the case of a seller not operating in that period those customary in the trade.

SEC. 11. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which may be increased to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery. No person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward after delivery except in accordance with authorization by the Office of Price Administration. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or importation, and it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by order of the Price Administrator, or one duly authorized to act for him.

ARTICLE IV—DEFINITIONS

SEC. 12. Specific definitions. The following definitions shall be applicable wherever the words or terms defined are used in this regulation.

(a) "Acting in the same capacity" means performing the same distributive function in the process of distribution, e. g., importing, wholesaling, retailing.

(b) "Cost of acquisition" means "landed costs" in the case of an importer or the net price paid by any other seller (not exceeding his supplier's maximum price to him) plus any transportation costs actually incurred in acquiring the commodity.

(c) "Foreign invoice price" means the price charged by the seller-shipper located outside the continental United States for the imported commodity minus any charges included in such price for transportation, marine insurance, war risk insurance, export taxes, customs duties, import taxes, or any other expenses incurred in connection with the movement of commodities from the point of shipment abroad to the point of delivery in the continental United States.

(1) If the foreign invoice price is stated in a foreign currency, it shall be converted into United States dollars at the rate or rates of exchange paid or to be paid.

(2) In case a seller located outside the continental United States imports a commodity into the continental United States and sells it after importation either directly or through an agent its current market selling price minus any foreign taxes not paid on exports prevailing at the place of shipment at the time of shipment shall be used as the foreign invoice price.

(3) Where a commodity is finished outside the continental United States for the account of a domestic seller, the costs of the material and processing, plus the expenses actually incurred in delivering the material to the processor outside the continental United States for finishing, shall be substituted for the foreign invoice price in determining the importing seller's total landed costs. The costs of the material and the processing shall not exceed maximum prices determined under price regulations of the Office of Price Administration where applicable.

(d) "Imported" means transported into the continental United States from any place outside thereof. Commodities shipped into the continental United States from outside thereof for transshipment, entered in a foreign trade zone or in a general order or bonded warehouse in the continental United States for transshipment and actually transshipped to a destination outside the continental United States shall not be considered as "imported."

(e) "Importer" means the person by whom a commodity is imported and who first sells it after importation.

(f) "Industrial user" means any person who, either for his own commercial use or for resale, subjects imported commodities to a processing which results in the production of a new and different commodity having a distinctive name, character, or use, or who uses the materials as an ingredient or a component part of such commodity.

(g) "Landed costs" shall be (1) the foreign invoice price plus (2) all costs and expenses, including (i) transportation, (ii) customs duties or import taxes, (iii) other commodity taxes, (iv) customs clearance, (v) dock charges, (vi) insurance, (vii) letter of credit expenses, and (viii) any customary buying commission to a purchasing agent outside the continental United States (or, where the importer maintains, either himself or cooperatively, buying offices abroad, a charge to cover the cost of maintaining such offices determined in the same manner as he customarily employed prior to April 1942) incurred by the importer if customarily incurred in connection with the movement of commodities from the point of shipment abroad to the point of delivery to the importer in the continental United States, except (3) the following: (i) cable charges, (ii) financing costs, (iii) other general overhead costs, (iv) charges incurred in storing the imported commodities in a foreign trade zone, a customs bonded warehouse, or a public warehouse in the continental United States for any period in excess of 60 days and (v) any amounts paid over the foreign invoice price as markups on sales after shipment and before arrival in the continental United States which shall not be included.

The actual costs of minor changes which do not change the imported commodity so as to result in the production of a new and different commodity having a distinctive name, character, style or use, may be included in the landed costs, Provided, however, That if the cost of such minor changes exceeds 10% of the landed costs (exclusive of the costs of such processing) the importer may not price by use of the general formula provided in section 3 but must apply for approval of a maximum price or price formula under the provisions of sections 5 and 6.

Where it is necessary, for the purpose of determining the total landed costs of an item contained in a shipment, transportation, insurance and other costs, except duties or import taxes, may be allocated to the particular item as a percentage average in accordance with customary practice in the trade.

(h) "Markup" is the difference between the cost of acquisition and the selling price. In computing the markup, the cost of acquisition of a commodity on inventory acquired at differing costs shall be the weighted average cost per unit in the total inventory.

(i) "Necessary distributive function." No sale involves the performance of a "necessary distributive function" unless it advances the commodities sold to the next stage of distribution. Consequently, no markup may be charged on sales by a seller who has been supplied by a seller of the same distributive level, e. g., a wholesaler who was supplied by another wholesaler, unless it can be established that this method of distribution is necessary under the particular conditions of the trade involved and that such type of sales was regularly made prior to April 1942.

(j) "Retailer" means any person who buys or receives imported commodities and who sells them to an ultimate consumer.

(k) "Same class of imported commodities" includes imported commodities of the same general character and use to which, according to the seller's customary practice, an approximately equal markup was applied in determining selling prices prior to April 1, 1942.

(l) "Same imported commodities." The word "same" as applied to imported commodities shall not require exact identity. Such commodities are to be regarded as the same notwithstanding minor differences in grade, quality, style or design, which, according to trade practice, would not result in any significant difference in the price charged.

(m) "Ultimate consumer" means any person who buys for his own use.

(n) "Wholesaler" means any person who performs a recognized distributive function, purchasing imported commodities directly from the importer and who sells or delivers them to another wholesaler, industrial user, or a retailer in accordance with established trade practice.

SEC. 13. Definitions incorporated by reference. Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in the General Maximum Price Regulation shall apply to any word or term not specifically defined in this regulation.

ARTICLE V—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 14. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this regulation shall apply to the 48 States of the United States of America and to the District of Columbia.

SEC. 15. Prohibition and evasion. (a) No person shall buy, offer to buy or receive in the course of trade or business, and no person shall sell, offer to sell, transfer or deliver any commodity to which this regulation applies at a price higher than the maximum price established by this regulation. Sales and purchases at prices lower than those established may be made.

(b) No seller shall evade any of the provisions of this Revised Maximum Import Price Regulation by changing his customary allowances, discounts or other price differentials, by tying agreement or by any other means.

SEC. 16. Enforcement. Any person violating any provision of this regulation is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension provisions and suits for treble damages provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. It shall be a violation to submit to the Price Administrator or to the Office of Export-Import information required under any provisions of this regulation which is false in any material respect.

SEC. 17. Records. Every seller who makes sales of imported commodities after the effective date of this regulation shall make and preserve for examination by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, a record of all sales of such commodities, showing the quantity sold, terms of sale, price and name and address of the purchaser, as well as all records of the same kind as he has customarily kept, relating to the prices which he charged for any of such items sold after the effective date of this regulation. Provided, however, That a retailer is not required to keep records of sales to ultimate consumers unless he kept such records during March 1942.

SEC. 18. Failure to file reports. The failure of any person to file any report required by this regulation or by any order issued hereunder shall constitute a violation of this regulation and of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 19. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1, licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 20. Taxes. Any tax upon or incident to the sale, delivery, processing or use of an imported commodity imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof shall be treated in determining the seller's maximum price and in preparing the records of such seller with respect thereto as follows: If the statute or ordinance imposing such tax or increase in tax does not prohibit the seller from stating or collecting the tax or increase separately from the purchase price, and the seller does separately collect and state it, the seller may receive in addition to the otherwise maximum price, the amount of such tax or increase in tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of such tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the seller by the vendor from whom he purchased.

SEC. 21. Modification of provisions of this regulation by order. The provisions of the regulation as applied to certain imported commodities may be modified by the Price Administrator by order issued hereunder.

SEC. 22. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.

APPENDIX A—MAXIMUM PRICES FOR CERTAIN SPECIFIC COMMODITIES

SEC. 23. Maximum price determination "in line" for certain imported commodities. Maximum prices for sales of imported commodities excepted from the provisions of section 3 as listed in this appendix: (1) when sold by the importer thereof, shall be established by order of the Price Administrator who may authorize the use of the general pricing formula in section 3 where the sale would have no serious effect upon the control of prices of comparable domestic commodities and who will establish maximum prices in line with maximum prices of comparable commodities domestically produced where the sale would seriously disrupt the control of prices of such commodities (with due regard for the historical price differentials between such commodities on sales when imported and when domestically produced) on application or motion, as provided in sections 5 and 6 of this regulation, or (2) when sold at subsequent levels of distribution (except where such sales are governed by a specific maximum price regulation or order, such as Maximum Price Regulation 580 or Order 83 under the Maximum Import Price Regulation, shall be determined by the general formula of this regulation as set forth in section 3; provided, a subsequent seller of a commodity priced in line with a comparable domestic commodity, instead of using 75% of his percentage markup as provided by section 3 (a) (2) (ii) shall determine his maximum price by applying to his net unit cost of acquisition the same percentage markup used by him on his last delivery or offer for delivery of the same imported commodity to the same class of purchaser while acting in the same capacity between January 1, 1939 and March 31, 1942. (In case such a subsequent seller made no sale or offer of the same imported commodity between January 1, 1939 and March 31, 1942, before making any sale he shall apply to the Office of Export-Import, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., for a maximum price under section 6 of this regulation).

SEC. 24. List of commodities excepted from section 3. The following commodities are excepted from the pricing provisions of section 3 of this revised regulation. Maximum prices for them shall be determined as provided in section 5 (a) of this regulation:

(a) Textile piece goods made of cotton, artificial fibre or mixtures thereof (finished, mill-finished or in the grey)

(b) Apparel and apparel accessory commodities, not including, however, commodities made of straw or (except for the linings, bindings and trimmings) entirely hand-knitted, hand-crocheted or hand-woven.

APPENDIX B — ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES FOR CERTAIN COMMODITIES MANUFACTURED FROM IMPORTED COMMODITIES

SEC. 25. Adjustment of maximum prices for certain commodities manufactured from imported commodities—(a) When adjustments may be made. The Price Administrator may adjust by individual or general orders the maximum prices for any commodity manufactured from imported industrial materials, the prices of which are controlled under this regulation, or manufactured from commodities made from such imported industrial materials, if the maximum price in effect for such manufactured end commodity is determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation. Such action may be taken on his own motion or upon application in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 when:

(1) The imported industrial materials (or the commodities made from such imported industrial materials) constitute a necessary ingredient of the manufactured end commodity;

(2) The imported industrial materials used in the manufactured product have increased in price to the extent that they cannot continue to be used in the production of the manufactured end commodity;

(3) The granting of the adjustment will not interfere with the production or distribution or endanger the control of prices of comparable commodities made of domestic materials;

(4) In the judgment of the Price Administrator an increase in the maximum price would be in furtherance of the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, the Stabilization Act of 1942, both as amended, and Executive Orders 9250, 9328, 9651, and 9697.

(b) The Administrator may grant adjustments under this section increasing maximum prices of subsequent sellers whose prices are governed by the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(c) Amount of adjustment. The maximum price adjustment of the manufactured end commodity under this section shall not exceed an amount equal to the increased total cost since March 1942 of the component imported industrial materials, the prices of which are controlled under this regulation.

(d) Subsequent adjustments of maximum prices established by orders under this section. Maximum prices of manufactured commodities established by order under this section shall be reduced by the amount of any decreases in the cost of the component imported industrial materials on purchases after the issuance of the order.

(e) Form and place of filing application. Applications for adjustment under this section shall be filed by registered mail with the Office of Export-Import, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., in duplicate, and shall contain:

(1) Name and address of the applicant;

(2) Description of the manufactured end commodity, in complete detail;

(3) Current actual prices or actual weighted average prices paid for the imported industrial materials;

(4) Actual prices or actual weighted average prices for the identical kind of imported industrial materials used in the manufactured end commodity as sold in March 1942;

(5) Class or classes of customers to whom sales are made of the manufactured end commodity;

(6) Current total cost of production per unit of the manufactured end commodity indicating the cost of direct labor and materials, including waste (less the salvage value thereof) and applicable factory overhead;

(7) Annual profit and loss statements for each of the three calendar or fiscal years ending nearest to the date of application in the manner specified in OPA Form A, Annual Financial Report;

(8) Maximum selling price per unit for the manufactured end commodity and the terms of sale to each class of purchaser;

(9) Dollars-and-cents markup over production cost (as defined in subparagraph (6) above) per unit to each class of purchaser for that manufactured end commodity during March 1942, or if he made no sale during March 1942, on his sale nearest to that month;

(10) Proposed maximum selling price based on the increased cost of component imported industrial materials and terms of sale to each class of purchaser;

(11) Statement of the reasons that if the adjustment is not granted he cannot continue to use the imported industrial materials in the manufactured end commodity or continue to produce that commodity;

(12) The proposed maximum price shown in a proper application shall be considered automatically authorized 20 days after the application (or additional data, when requested) is received by the Office of Export-Import, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., unless within that time the applicant has received from the Office of Price Administration a notice to the contrary. BALSA LUMBER

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Second Revised Supplementary Regulation 14 to the General Maximum Price Regulation is amended in the following respect:

A new section 3.11 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 3.11 Balsa lumber. This section covers balsa lumber imported into the United States.

(a) Coverage. This section establishes maximum prices at which importers and intermediate distributors may sell, and maximum prices at which any person may buy from such sellers, imported balsa lumber. The balsa lumber to which this section applies is identified by grades, as indicated in paragraph (b), which are generally recognized and used in the trade.

(b) Maximum prices. On and after March 25, 1946 regardless of any contract, agreement, or other obligation, no importer or intermediate distributor may sell or deliver, and no person may buy or receive from such sellers, imported balsa lumber at prices per thousand feet board measure, exceeding the following:

(1) Sales by importers—(i) Random lengths (36" and longer).

	Kiln dried		Air dried
Atlantic and Gulf ports
Grade:
AA and A	$166.00	$161.00	$158.50	$153.50
B	150.75	145.75	143.25	138.25

C	127.75	122.75	120.25	115.25

(ii) Shorts. Deduct $10.00 per thousand feet board measure from prices established for "random lengths."

These prices are "free-of-ships-tackle" and include excise tax and entry fees. They also include any expenses of protecting the upper and lower surfaces of bundled dressed lumber against damage during shipment, by the use of slabs of native lumber. Costs actually incurred in effecting deliveries of balsa lumber, other than on the basis of "free-of-ships-tackle", may be added. Services rendered in making delivery in accordance with the buyer's specification may be charged in addition to the above, Provided, That such charges may not exceed the maximum permitted by the applicable maximum price regulation.

(2) Sales by intermediate distributors. The maximum price an intermediate distributor may charge may not exceed the sum of the following:

(i) Net cost, which may not be higher than the maximum price of his supplier.

(ii) Transportation expenses incurred to his warehouse or yard.

(iii) Handling charges as follows:

(a) On balsa lumber received from the importer in bundles and reshipped in the same bundles, the maximum handling charge may not exceed $10.00 per thousand feet board measure for all grades and thicknesses.

(b) On balsa lumber received and/or shipped in any other manner than that specified in subparagraph (a) above, the maximum handling charges per thousand feet board measure may not exceed

(2) $25.00 on lumber in sales thicknesses of 1¾" to 2½" inclusive.

(iv) A markup, on the sum of items (i), (ii), and (iii), of 30% on sales of 999 feet or less, 20% on sales of 1,000 feet to 4,999 feet, inclusive, 15% on sales of 5,000 feet to 15,000 feet, inclusive, and 10% on all sales over 15,000 feet.

NOTE: The size of the sale is determined on the basis of the total amount involved in the transaction, regardless of size of particular orders or shipments.

(c) Definitions. (1) "Grades" shall mean the grades of balsa lumber, as set forth in the grading rules of FEA, revised May 1, 1944, in effect under the FEA purchase program of balsa lumber, and which are generally recognized as such in the trade.

(2) "Shorts" means pieces of balsa lumber under 36" in length.

(d) Brokers, or agents, commissions. The maximum prices established by this section include, and may not be increased by, any commission paid to any broker or to any buying or selling agent.

(e) Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this section may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

This amendment shall become effective March 25, 1946.

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[SR 15, Amdt. 47]

CERTAIN CONSUMER TEXTILE COMMODITIES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Section 1499.75 (a) (27) is added to read as follows:

(27) Adjustment for low-priced sellers of certain consumer textile commodities—(i) Purpose. The purpose of this section is to authorize individual adjustments in the maximum prices of certain listed consumer textile products sold and delivered by manufacturers whose ceilings for the products are below the lowest price at which a substantial supply is available.

(ii) To what maximum prices this adjustment provision applies. The maximum prices which may be adjusted pursuant to the provisions of this section are those established for products delivered, or offered for delivery, by the applicant himself during March 1942 (i. e., maximum prices established by paragraph (a) (1) of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation). Adjusted maximum prices shall not be used to establish maximum prices for similar or comparable commodities unless specific authority, which may be set forth in the order of adjustment, is granted for that purpose. In granting an adjustment to a manufacturer, adjusted prices may also be established for distributors of the applicant's products.

(iii) Who may apply. A manufacturer of any product covered by this section may apply for adjustment of his maximum price if his ceiling for the product is less than the lowest price level at which a substantial quantity of the product is currently being made and sold by other manufacturers.

(iv) Amount of adjustment. Subject to the qualification that adjusted maximum prices shall not exceed the lowest price level referred to in (iii) above, adjustments may be granted to the extent of 90% of the amount by which the applicant's direct labor and material costs[1] per unit currently are in excess of the highest of those costs experienced in the "reference period." As used in this section, reference period means the period of time between August 1, 1941 and the date (not earlier than October 1, 1941) when the applicant first delivered or offered to deliver the product at the sales price which under the General Maximum Price Regulation became his maximum price.

(v) What the applicant must show. Applications for adjustment shall be filed with the Textile Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the filing requirements of Article III of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[2] In addition to fulfilling the requirements of that regulation, an applicant shall furnish, with respect to each product for which an adjustment is requested, the following information:

(a) A complete description of the item, its unadjusted maximum price, and the requested ceiling price. A sample shall be submitted with the application.

(b) The names and addresses of the principal manufacturers (not more than four) who are currently making and selling the product and, if known, their maximum prices.

(c) Statements by four major distributors as to the lowest price or lowest price range at which they are able to purchase the product, and in what quantities they have obtained it at such prices in the previous 90 days.

(d) A description of the principal materials used in the manufacture of the product, their current maximum prices, and the highest prices paid by the applicant for them during the reference period.

(e) A detailed breakdown showing the quantity of each principal material used in manufacture of the product, the current unit cost of these materials, and the highest unit cost during the reference period.

(f) A detailed breakdown of the highest direct labor costs which prevailed in the reference period and of those costs currently; the date when, since the reference period, increase wage rates were approved; and a reference to the docket number or other authority wherein the approval was granted.

(g) Dollar volume of sales of the product in the last three months of the years 1941 and 1945.

(vi) List of products covered. The following products are covered by the provisions of this section:

(a) Mattress covers.
(b) Ironing boards pads and covers.
(c) Printed cotton tablecloths and napkins.
(d) Cotton Tufted Bedspreads.

This amendment shall be effective March 18, 1946.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this Amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 18th day of March 1946.

STANDARD NEWSPRINT PAPER

REVOCATION OF DECISION

MARCH 15, 1946.

Section 507, Revenue Act of 1943, still applicable to imported newsprint paper; T. D. 51376 revoked.

The specifications for standard newsprint paper, which is free of duty under paragraph 1772, Tariff Act of 1930, were enlarged by section 507, Revenue Act of 1943, T. D. 51012, the provisions of which were made applicable to paper entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption after the date of the enactment of the latter statute and while United States newspaper publishers are limited by law or governmental order or regulation as to the amount of paper they may use in the publication of their papers. In T. D. 51376, instructions were issued that the provisions of section 507, should not be applied to importations of paper entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption after December 31, 1945, as War Production Board Order L-240, which was a limitation of the kind specified in the statute, was being revoked effective January 1, 1946.

When revoking Order L-240, the Civilian Production Administration also issued Direction 7, Priorities Regulation 32, placing limitations on inventories of newsprint paper, effective January 1, 1946. The administration now advises the Bureau that Direction 7, in fact, limits the amount of paper which newspaper publishers may use in publishing their papers.

In the circumstances, T. D. 51376 is hereby revoked as of its effective date, and the provisions of section 507, Revenue Act of 1943, shall be applied to imported paper entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on and after February 26, 1944, and before the expiration of the period prescribed in the statute, following T. D. 51012. Where duty has been assessed pursuant to T. D. 51376 on paper which is free of duty under paragraph 1772, Tariff Act of 1930, by virtue of section 507 of the revenue act, the entry shall be reliquidated free of duty under paragraph 1772, insofar as the paper concerned is involved, if the reliquidation can be accomplished before expiration of the protest period provided for in section 514, Tariff Act of 1930, or if a timely protest has been filed.

ESTABLISHMENT OF COMMITTEE

1. General statement—(a) Purpose. The purpose of this order is to provide for the establishment of a committee which will be representative of those Federal agencies directly interested in the development of criteria and standards for on-the-job training. It is considered most desirable and necessary, if trainees are to enjoy maximum opportunities for such training as they may receive and are to obtain full value for the time which they invest and the money which the Federal and State Governments may expend, that there be sound principles of approval for such institutions and establishments as may conduct on-the-job training programs. The development of minimum criteria and standards for on-the-job training will provide further assurance that the best interests and rights of the trainee are being protected.

2. Organization of the Committee—Pursuant to Title III, section 302, of the War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944 (Public Law 458, 78th Congress), a committee to be known as The Interagency Committee for the Development of Criteria and Standards for On-the-Job Training is hereby established. This Committee will consist of a Chairman and Secretary designated by the Administrator of the Retraining and Reemployment Administration and of representatives from each of the following agencies of the Federal Government:

Department of Agriculture.
Department of Commerce.
Department of Labor.
Navy Department.
War Department.
Civil Service Commission.
Federal Security Agency.

Representatives of the agencies named will qualify for membership on the committee upon designation as such by the head of the respective agency and approval by the Administrator. One alternate may be named for each member and, upon qualifying in like manner, these members may act in the place of his or her principal. The Administrator, or one designated by him for such purpose, will preside as Chairman of the Committee. The Committee will meet upon call of the Chairman.

3. Functions of the Committee. The Committee will develop minimum criteria and standards for on-the-job training which the Administrator of the Retraining and Reemployment Administration will recommend for use by appropriate Federal and State agencies in their approval of institutions and establishments for on-the-job training. In the performance of its functions, the Committee is directed to consult with representatives of State agencies operating in this field and may consult with such other organizations directly interested in on-the-job training programs as it deems necessary.

4. Participation of the Veterans Administration. The Administrator of Veterans Affairs concurs with the provisions of this order and has consented to designate an appropriate representative to serve as a member of the Committee.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION.

PUBLIC NOTICE CONCERNING PROPOSED TRANSFER OF CONTROL

The Commission hereby gives notice that on February 27, 1946, there was filed with it an application (B2-TC-479) for its consent under section 310 (b) of the Communications Act (47 USCA 310) to the proposed transfer of control of Ohio Valley Broadcasting Corporation (licensee of Standard Broadcast Station WPAR, Parkersburg, West Virginia) from Charleston Broadcasting Company to News Publishing Company (a West Virginia corporation), 1500 Main Street, Wheeling, West Virginia. The proposed transfer of control of the above licensee is based upon a contract entered into January 7, 1946, between Charleston Broadcasting Company and News Publishing Company pursuant to which the former agrees to sell to the latter all of the outstanding common voting stock of Ohio Valley Broadcasting Corporation constituting 89 shares for a total consideration of $307,500. Of this amount $50,000 in United States Government Bonds is to be deposited in escrow with the Parkersburg National Bank which would be forfeited to seller as liquidated damages upon failure of purchaser to carry out the agreement. The sale of said outstanding stock of licensee is to be made upon the basis of assets and liabilities as of the date of execution of the contract; seller represents net quick assets over quick liabilities including federal and other taxes shall be at least equal to said excess as of June 30, 1945. Profits between execution of the contract and consummation of arrangements are to belong to seller, which shall also be liable for any losses sustained during said period. Management is to remain unchanged until transfer is completed. The contract specifically provides that if the Commission shall so require, Parkersburg Sentinel Company, a subsidiary of purchaser, will relinquish a construction permit for a new station at Marietta, Ohio. Further details concerning the contract as well as pertaining to the application may be determined from an examination of the application and associated papers on file at the offices of the Commission.

[1] 47 CFR 1.364.

In the Commission's decision of September 6, 1945, granting the application for transfer of control of the Crosley Corporation (Docket No. 6767), it was announced that public hearings would be held to consider proposed new rules and regulations for the handling of assignment and transfer applications including provision for public notice by the applicant and the Commission of the filing of such applications and pertinent details in cases where a controlling interest is involved. Thereafter, on October 3, 1945, the Commission also gave public notice (10 F.R. 12926) that pending the issuance of such proposed new rules, hearing thereon, and final adoption, consideration of such applications would be deferred unless applicants desired to follow the procedure proposed in the WLW decision, and supplement their applications so as to come within the framework of the announced procedure including the provision for public notice. Subsequently, on December 13, 1945, the Commission adopted tentatively a proposed rule of procedure to govern the handling of assignment and transfer applications including the character of notice required of applicants in such cases. Pursuant thereto the Commission was advised on February 28, 1946, that notice would be inserted in newspapers of general circulation at Parkersburg, West Virginia, concerning the proposed transfer of control of the licensee. According to information supplied (orally) March 13, 1946, such notice first appeared in the local Parkersburg papers on March 3, 1946.

In accordance with the procedure proposed in the Crosley decision and that announced in the Commission's release and the proposed rule no action will be had upon the application for a period of 60 days from March 3, 1946.

§ 3.513 Period of construction. Each construction permit will specify a maximum of eight months from the date of granting thereof as the time within which construction of the station shall be completed and the station ready for operation, unless otherwise determined by the Commission upon proper showing in any particular case.

§ 3.514 Forfeiture of construction permits: extension of time. (a) A construction permit shall be automatically forfeited if the station is not ready for operation within the time specified therein or within such further time as the Commission may have allowed for completion, and a notation of the forfeiture of any construction permit under this provision will be placed in the records of the Commission as of the expiration date.

(b) Any application[2] for extension of time within which to construct a station shall be filed at least thirty days prior to the expiration date of such permit if the facts supporting such application for extension are known to the applicant in time to permit such filing. In other cases such applications will be accepted upon a showing satisfactory to the Commission of sufficient reasons for filing within less than thirty days prior to the expiration date. Such applications will be granted upon a specific and detailed showing that the failure to complete was due to causes not under the control of the grantee, or upon a specific and detailed showing of other matters sufficient to justify the extension.

(b) Whenever the Commission regards an application for a renewal of license as essential to the proper conduct of a hearing or investigation, and specifically directs that it be filed by a date certain, such application shall be filed within the time thus specified. If the licensee fails to file such application within the prescribed time, the hearing or investigation shall proceed as if such renewal application had been received.

§ 3.520 Temporary extension of station licenses. Where there is pending before the Commission any application, investigation, or proceeding which, after hearing, might lead to or make necessary the modification of, revocation of, or the refusal to renew an existing noncommercial educational FM license, the Commission may, in its discretion, grant a temporary extension of such license: Provided, however, That no such temporary extension shall be construed as a finding by the Commission that the operation of any radio station thereunder will serve public interest, convenience, and necessity beyond the express terms of such temporary extension of license: And provided further, That such temporary extension of license will in no wise affect or limit the action of the Commission with respect to any pending application or proceeding.

§ 3.521 Repetitious applications (a) Where an applicant has been afforded an opportunity to be heard with respect to a particular application for a new noncommercial educational FM broadcast station, or for change of existing service or facilities, and the Commission has, after hearing or default, denied the application or dismissed it with prejudice, the Commission will not consider another application for a station of the same class to serve in whole or in part the same area, by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf of or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, until after the lapse of 12 months from the effective date of the Commission's order.

(b) Where an appeal has been taken from the action of the Commission in denying a particular application, another application for the same class of broadcast station and for the same area, in whole or in part, filed by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, will not be considered until after the final disposition of such appeal.

§ 3.522 Assignment or transfer of control. Application for consent to assignment of a noncommercial educational FM construction permit or license or for consent to voluntary transfer of control of a corporation holding a noncommercial educational FM construction permit or license shall be filed with the Commission on Form FCC No. 314 (assignment of license) and Form FCC No. 315 (transfer of control) at least 60 days prior to the contemplated effective date of assignment or transfer of control.

[Docket No. G-704]

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MARCH 15, 1946.

Notice is hereby given that on March 1, 1946, Trans-Continental Gas Pipe Line Co., Inc. (Applicant), a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Texas, with its principal place of business at Longview, Texas, filed with the Federal Power Commission an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, for authority to acquire, construct and operate facilities for the transportation and sale of natural gas in interstate commerce, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission.

Applicant proposes to purchase from the War Assets Corporation the Big Inch, Little Big Inch and Southwest Emergency Pipe Lines, and to construct all necessary facilities including extensions necessary to convert such pipe lines to gas transmission.

In the event Applicant is not successful in purchasing the Big Inch, Little Big Inch and Southwest Emergency Pipe Lines, it proposes to construct a 26-inch pipe line from Corpus Christi, Texas, to the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York with an initial full load capacity of 300 million cubic feet per day. It is also proposed that such line will be looped by a 26-inch line as the market develops and facilities permit in order to insure continuous service.

Applicant states that it has options to purchase 200 million cubic feet per day of natural gas with options on reserves totaling one trillion cubic feet of gas for each one hundred million cubic feet of gas to be transported through such lines, and is negotiating for options for purchases of additional natural gas under like reserve requirements and to insure maximum capacity of such lines for a period of thirty years. Such reserves are located in Harleton, Panola, Jefferson and South & South West Texas Gas fields.

Applicant proposes to operate such lines in the transmission of natural gas for resale to distributing companies in the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York and believes it can deliver such gas at an initial average price of not more than 26 cents per Mcf.

The estimated overall cost of the proposed purchase and conversion of the Big Inch, Little Big Inch and Southwest Emergency Pipe Lines is $80,000,000.00. The estimated overall cost of constructing the new 26-inch line together with compressor stations and other necessary equipment is $80,000,000.00, and a like amount for looping the new line with another 26-inch line.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Part 67 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act, and if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should, on or before the 3rd day of April, 1946, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

Secretary.

The Commission orders that:

(A) The record in the above-docketed proceeding be and it hereby is reopened and the filings by Transportation Company on February 7, 1946, referred to in the above paragraphs (a) and (b), are consolidated therewith and further hearings, if required, respecting the matters involved and the issues presented thereby concerning the lawfulness of the proposed conditions of service, be held at a time and place to be hereafter fixed by the Commission.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Supplements No. 1 to Supplements No. 3 to the Transportation Company's Rate Schedules FPC Nos. 1 and 3, referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b) above, in so far as such supplemental schedules provide for the sale of natural gas other than for resale for industrial use only, be and they hereby are suspended until August 10, 1946, or until such time thereafter as such supplemental rate schedules shall be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) All interveners in the above-docketed matter may participate in the reopened proceeding in accordance with leave heretofore granted by the Commission.

(D) Interested State Commissions may participate in said hearing as provided in § 67.4 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.
